Get your mineral oils at Kelly's drug store. We have all kinds.

T. K. Sanderson, in former days our dentist, was in town, Friday.

Druggist C. A. Everett was on the sick list the first or the week.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Gill and Miss Grace left Saturday for a camping trip.

Those formerly getting magazines at the confectionery, can now find them at Kelly's.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Arnold and niece spent a few days at Sodaville, returning Monday.

Mrs. E. Ada Barr, nurse from Corvallis, was visiting Mrs. Kester at the hospital this week.

The contractors for building the Albany-Jefferson road commenced hard-surfacing this week.

A tiny baby shoe was left at this office, Monday. The owner can have same by calling at The Tribune.

Chas. Vaetecka, Mike Bilyeu, Sam Zyssett and J. F. Kukaeka each purchased a tractor plow this week.

Miss Marie Bauman left for an extended visit with friends at Yakima, Wash., Wednesday morning.

Misses Lovina Bauman and Mary Graham of Salem spent Sunday at the home of the former's parents.

This week is the big week for receiving grain at the Scio mills. If The Tribune had to pay the bills, it would be busted.

Barber Weddle took a run to Portland the first of the week. During his absence Barber Rol Morris had charge of the shop.

Our fish pond will still hold water, which was demonstrated last Sunday, when Manager Parish was flushing out the fire hydrants.

With every dwelling and business room in Scio occupied and the demand not yet satisfied, is rather indicative that Scio is growing.

Mrs. J. A. Bilyeu of Albany, her eldest daughter, Mrs. Maud Connoway, of Hood River, and grandson, Gail Jones as chauffeur, of Albany, came over Monday.

Game Warden Hawker and a deputy fish warden were in town Sunday. Their business was to instruct the mill company to build a fishway at the dam, just above town.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Reynolds and daughter and Miss Dolly Daly came up Saturday for a few days' visit at the Daly home. Mr. Reynolds returned on the following day.

W. H. Hogan, an Albany capitalist, was a Scio visitor, Friday. He reports the road from Albany via Sanderson bridge to Scio, in fine condition, while that via Jefferson is a "fright."

Our soldier boys have about all returned. Only two, so far as we know, have failed to answer the home roll call. Best of all, they have all returned, save three, who were called by death.

The Albany Democrat has contracted for the newly invented telephotograph service to commence about Sept. 1. This invention makes it possible to send photographic pictures over the wire just the same as a message.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. West of Medford were Scio visitors, Sunday. Mrs. West is a sister of Ed. Myers.

Mrs. Archie Lindley and baby left Friday for a month's visit with her sister, Mrs. Ray Smith, of Montana.

Hop-pickers are scarce this year, due to the fact that evergreen blackberry picking is far more remunerative.

Among the marriage licenses in Wednesday's paper appeared Miss Ella Ransford's of this city and Fred Curran of Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. John Neal, Mrs. Geo. Westenhouse and Kenneth left Monday morning by car for a week's stay on the coast at Tillamook.

Manager Thoms of the Scio mills thinks he will have to build additional warehouse, facilities if wheat continues to come as it has this year.

Mrs. Fred Bilyeu and daughter, Virginia, and Miss Jeanette Walters returned from their trip to Crater Lake, Monday. An enjoyable time was reported.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Borovicka returned from their honeymoon trip to Newport, Saturday evening, and left the following morning for their future home in Portland.

The families of R. C. Pepperling, W. O. Fillpot and Frank Pruitt drove by way of auto to the coast Saturday morning, returning Monday evening. They report having a good time, although the weather was quite cool.

Must have taken at least $3,000 to pay for the wheat received at the Scio mills, Monday. This would have busted The Tribune man and, we believe, Tip Humphrey of the Jefferson Review, could not have stood the strain.

Manager Parrish of the light and water plant flushed the fire hydrants last Sunday, so that the water mains, hydrants, etc., are ready for a fire which, we hope, does not visit us. Anyway, people should be very careful about fire dangers this dry weather.

Mrs. Bertha Bowen and husband arrived Saturday evening from New York. Mr. Bowen has just been released from the army and was met by his wife who recently left to join him on a trip to her mother, Mrs. W. G. Smith.

A billiard and pool room may be established in the building just north of the bank, at least an Albany party was here Monday looking the matter up and stated he had secured the building. The high license demanded by the city seemed the only drawback.

Three men and a wood-saw cut a cord of wood in front of The Tribune office, Wednesday. It took about one hour to cut the cord. Of course, no money was made on this job. It ought to have been done in 20 minutes; but if a saw is not in order and men do not put wood to it as they should, the cost of sawing comes high to somebody.

E. L. McKern, Geo. Crawford and W. W. Crawford came over Monday from Albany to demonstrate the Fordson tractor. The truck failed to demonstrate over, so they had to get another truck before they could make the trip. McKern, with the tractor, arrived here about 2 p. m., and the first demonstration was given about one-half mile south of town.

Our hotel has a number of street chickens, that is to say, chickens not kept in a corral. Monday morning one of the young white leghorn cockerels stepped into the front door of The Tribune office and gave forth a lusty crow. Whether this aforesaid crow was a challenge, a weather prediction or a political prognostication, we will not attempt to say. But we did say to the youngster: "Get out of here, you insulting devil!"

It is said fighting the forest fires is costing $35,000 a day.

Tractor plows will soon become a part of almost every farm outfit.

Mrs. Mary Hodges of Camas, Wash., is visiting her mother, Mrs. Art Shelton.

Manager Thoms is seriously thinking of adding auxiliary power to the flouring mill.

Our garage mechanics are all working over-time, these days. Three shops are all busy.

Hagey, the jeweler, has just received another nice lot of fine Maher & Grosh pocket knives.

Another week of good weather will be sufficient to house every crop, save potatoes. The weather has certainly been ideal for harvest.

Of course farmers can buy tractor plows this fall. It takes but three or four loads of wheat to pay for one and many farmers have a dozen or more loads.

The Fordson tractor demonstration drew quite a number of interested people to town the first half of the week. A number of sales were made, as may be seen elsewhere.

The few cases of smallpox which affected our town people seems to be about stamped out. The infection was brought here from Crabtree, where some Albany people attended a dance.

Card of Thanks.

We desire to express our sincere thanks to our friends and neighbors for their sympathy and aid in the death and burial of our son; also for the many beautiful floral decorations.

MR. AND MRS. PAUL BARTINK AND FAMILY.

A statement issued by the state banking department on the basis of the call of March 4, shows total deposits in all banks and trust companies of Oregon amounting to $228,911,432.43. This is an increase over March 4, 1918, of $39,320,323.75.

Stewart & Engstrom, of Salem, and M. W. Lorenz, of Portland, are the successful bidders on two buildings to be constructed at the state institution for the feeble-minded. The Salem firm will build the boys' dormitory at the contract price of $25,411 and the Portland firm will construct the combined hospital and dormitory at a cost to the state of $25,372.
