PRESIDENT WOODROW WILSON

Next week President Woodrow Wilson, the most distinguished citizen of the state of Oregon. He brings a message to the people which is the most important that has ever emanated from the minds of men who are governing the destinies of the nations of the world. It is a message of hope that never again will our young men be summoned to the battle front to become food for cannon. It is a message that the nations of the world will endeavor to do away with grim visaged war, to live as neighbors and to settle disputes or misunderstandings by appeal to a friendly court of arbitration.

President Wilson will be received by the people of Oregon as our most respected citizen, the president of the United States should be received, not with military pomp, but with love and respect for the high office he occupies and for the great message he brings.

President Wilson is in no sense on a partisan political tour, but is taking the people into his confidence knowing that when the proposed league of nations is fairly represented, the people will give their endorsement. He is giving a statement of what occurred at Paris and Versailles at first hand. It is not hearsay. He will tell the people what the proposed league is expected to accomplish and there is no man in the world more capable of doing so. He will endeavor to make clear to the people what the Lodge-Borah-Johnson pack of yelping coyotes have been trying to befog and wilfully misconstrue.

It is unfortunate that all the people cannot hear the president; for the manner in which a message is delivered carries with it the honesty of the purpose of the speaker. And especially is this true of President Wilson. He has no purpose to deceive. He is not a political trickster nor a candidate for office. But he is trying to bring about an era of "peace on earth and good will towards men." To such a messenger Oregon cannot pay a too high honor.

STILL AFTER THE FAIR

Albany seems determined to get the Linn County Fair away from Scio and an association was formed at the St. Francis hotel last Saturday, with the election of officers.

There is but one way to get the Linn County Fair franchise, gentlemen, and that is to buy it. There is no disposition on the part of our present fair association to surrender the charter; and if the Albany people wish to retain the good will of all the people, both at Scio and elsewhere, the purchase is the plan, and with the purchase will go the annual appropriation of something over $1600.

It will be impossible for the fair association just organized to get state aid, for under the law there can be but one fair in a county aided, and as long as the Linn County Fair holds her charter she will get the aid.

Any fair to be successful must have the harmonious support of all the people, and for Albany to pay the $3000 or more for the Scio franchise and property is very cheap to get the good will and support of the Scio people.

WILL NOT TRUST THE PEOPLE

Partisan republican newspapers and politicians are trying in every possible way to belittle President Wilson. They appeal to the prejudices of the people because of the great cost of the presidential train. As a matter of fact it is the man, Woodrow Wilson, they are after more than the cause he is contending for.

But why are these men fighting the proposed league if the covenant is so bad as they would have the people believe? Are they afraid to trust the judgment of the people? Why not give the league a trial?

If the covenant is as bad as Senators Lodge, Borah, Johnson and others say it is a two-years trial will demonstrate the badness, when we can withdraw if deemed best.

The league is an experiment, as was the league of the states of our own nation. Several of the states ratified our federal constitution with reluctance, but the necessary number ratified and the covenant then entered into has stood the test of time and is probably stronger today than at any time in our history. The proposed league may prove as beneficent to mankind as has our league of states. Anyway the world seems anxious to give it a trial.

Now that the treaty and covenant is before the entire senate it will soon develop whether the United States will ratify.

As the matter now stands the friends of the league have power enough to prevent the adoption of amendments, while the Lodge crowd seems to have enough strength to prevent the ratification.

President Wilson thinks little can be done towards stabilizing the cost of living until the matter is disposed of. If so, the dilatory acts of the senate is costing the people of the United States not less than $50,000,000 per day in paying for food and other living expenses in excess of what they should pay. So our republican friends who are crying out against the expense of the presidential train are simply making themselves ridiculous.

If the Lodge crowd succeeds in their purpose it will create the greatest political confusion this country has seen for many moons. It will mean the destruction of the republican party as it now stands and will retire numerous politicians to private life.

Chairman Fordney of the house ways and means committee suggests as a means of economy the discharge of clerks in the government departments in Washington. By way of amendment it might be proposed to discharge the numerous republican "investigators" and their retinues who are traveling thousands of miles at the public expense to hold post mortems on dead issues.

LEAGUE CERTAIN WILSON DECLARES

PRESIDENT IN THE OPENING
"SPEECHES" OF HIS TOUR
VOICES HIGH HOPE.

WORLD WAITS FOR US

Future Free From War if America
Carries Out Her Pledges,
Says Executive.

(By Mt. Clemens News Bureau.)

ABOARD PRESIDENT'S SPECIAL TRAIN, St. Louis. — Displaying a high confidence that his fellow citizens in the great majority agree with him in his desire to end war forever, and that they will see to it that the peace treaty with its league of nations inclusion is ratified by the senate, President Wilson is making a successful way across the country on the long journey he has undertaken for the purpose of laying before the plain people a report of his work in Paris and explaining to them just what the league means. Thus far in his travels, he has everywhere met with warm greetings.

People Want No More War.

He feels, and does not hesitate to say so when chatting with his traveling companions, that the American people want no more of war and want to become part of the league so that there may be no more war. He struck his keynote when he said in his first address, in Columbus, Ohio:

"This treaty was not intended merely to end this single war. It is meant as a notice to every government who in the future will attempt this thing (what Germany attempted), that mankind will unite to inflict the same punishment. There is no national triumph to be recorded in this treaty, there is no glory sought for any particular nation. The thought of the statesmen collected around that table was of their people, of the sufferings they had gone through, of the losses they had incurred, of that great throbbing heart which was so depressed, so forlorn, so sad in every memory it had of the five tragical years that have gone by. Let us never forget those years, my fellow countrymen; let us never forget the purpose, high and disinterested, with which America lent its strength, not for its own glory but for the defense of mankind.

Treaty Intended to Prevent War.

"As I said, this treaty was not intended merely to end this war. It was intended to prevent any similar war. I wonder if some of the opponents of the league of nations have forgotten the promises we made our people before we went to that peace table. We had taken by processes of law, the flower of our youth from every countryside, from every household, and we told those mothers and fathers and sisters and wives and sweethearts that we were taking those men to fight a war which would end business of that sort, and if we do not end it, if we do not do the best that human concert of action can do to end it, we are of all men the most unfaithful—the most unfaithful to those households bowed in grief and yet lifted with the feeling that the lad laid down his life for a great thing, and, among other things, in order that other lads might never have to do the same thing.

"That is what the league of nations is for—to end this war justly and then not merely to serve notice on governments which would contemplate the same things Germany contemplated that they will do so at their peril, but also concerning the combination of power which will prove to them that they will do it at their peril.

Only Way to Prevent Recurrence.

"The league of nations is the only thing that can prevent the recurrence of this dreadful catastrophe and redeem our promises."

A league of nations would have prevented the late conflict, the president asserted, explaining:

"I did not meet a single public man who did not admit these things: That Germany would not have gone into this war if she thought Great Britain was going into it, and that she most certainly would never have gone into it had she dreamed America was going into it. And they all admit that a notice beforehand that the greatest powers of the world would combine to prevent this sort of thing would prevent it absolutely."

Redemption for Weak Nations.

He pointed out other important features of the peace treaty, how it was the redemption of weak nations, giving them freedom which otherwise they never could have won; how it says, "Those people have a right to live their own lives under governments which they themselves choose," and how "That is the American principle and I was glad to fight for it." That was the very heart of the treaty, he said.

Honor Roll Holsteins

—AT—AUCTION
Harrisburg, Oregon
Saturday, September 20

Sixty head of high grade Holsteins, including 40 cows and bred heifers and 20 young females. Many of the cows have very creditable records, made under supervision of the cow testing association. Some have records as high as 87.91 pounds fat in one month.

These cattle are all large, well developed, of excellent conformation and with but two exceptions have the true Holstein color, and from the standpoint of individuality could not be discerned from pure-bred cattle. Many will be fresh at the time of sale, others in all stages of lactation and bred to an excellent grandson of Hengerveld De Kol.

They will be sold on the Edenbrook Farm, about 4½ miles southeast from Harrisburg.

Come early and look the cattle over before they enter the ring. Visitors welcome at the farm at any time. SALE STARTS AT 11.

SUMMONS.

In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon, for the County of Linn.

Jennie McKee, Plaintiff, vs. Maude E. Small and Harry Sloper, Defendants.

To Maude E. Small and Harry Sloper, the above named defendants:

In the name of the State of Oregon, You are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint of the above named plaintiff in the above entitled court now on file with the clerk of said court on or before the 18th day of October, 1919, being the date prescribed in the order made by the court for the publication of this summons upon you, and you are hereby notified that if you fail to appear and answer said complaint as herein required the plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief demanded in her complaint on file in said cause, to-wit: For a decree correcting the deed made on the 4th day of January, 1902, by Thomas C. Sloper and Lucinda Sloper, his wife, to John A. McKee, to the following described real estate, to-wit: Beginning at the southwest corner of Section 21 Tp. 9, S. R. 2, east of the Willamette meridian, Linn county, Oregon; thence west 8 chains; thence south 14 chains; thence east 14 chains; thence north 16 chains and 85 links; thence east 3 chains; thence north 17 chains and 78 links; thence west 9 chains; thence south to the place of beginning, containing 48 acres, more or less; so as to read as follows:

Beginning at the southwest corner of the southeast quarter of section 21, township 9 S. R. 2 East of the Willamette meridian, Oregon; running thence west 8 chains; thence south 14 chains; thence east 14 chains; thence north 16 degrees 45 minutes east 16.85 chains; thence east 3 chains; thence north 17.78 chains to the south line of the northwest quarter of the southeast quarter of said section 21; thence east 13.46 chains to the west line of the southeast quarter of said section 21; thence south to the place of beginning, containing 48 acres, more or less, and declaring the plaintiff to be the owner in fee simple of said lands last described, and for such other and further order as to the court may seem just and equitable.

This summons is published by order of the Honorable W. R. Bilyeu, judge of the county court of Linn county, State of Oregon, duly made in open court and entered of record on the 29th day of August, 1919.

Date of first publication: September 4, 1919.

Date of last publication: October 16, 1919.
