STRIKE ON BRITISH RAILROADS IS ENDED

Premier Satisfies Unions and Work on Lines Is Resumed at Once.

London.—The strike of railroad men, which has been in progress on the British railroads since midnight, September 26, was settled Sunday.

With dramatic suddenness in the quiet of the London Sunday afternoon it was announced to a knot of people waiting in Downing street that the great strike, which appeared to have brought the country almost to the brink of revolution, was settled and that the strikers would resume work as quickly as possible.

The terms of the settlement are in the nature of a compromise. The National Union of Railway Men agrees to call off the strike and the government consents to a renewal of the negotiations, the continuance of the existing wage scale for another year, instead of six months, as previously offered, and the establishment of a minimum wage of 51 shillings while the cost of living is 110 per cent above the pre-war level.

The settlement was the result of a long conference between a trade union delegation, including representatives of the railway men's union, and Premier Lloyd George and Andrew Bonar Law.

Birthday Dinner.

Assisted by two sons, their wives and children, E. C. Shelton observed his fifty-second birthday Sunday. A bounteous dinner, such as Mrs. Shelton so well knows how to prepare, received marked attention by those present, consisting of: Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Shelton, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Shelton and two children, Gladys and Fern; Mr. and Mrs. Rolla Shelton and daughter Ardith, and Mrs. Clara Griffin.

Arnold will have to increase his jazzers. They've got two dances to play for Saturday night at two different places. How are they going to do it?

SANTIAM FARM TOPICS

Byron Bilyeu with his new second hand car took Brother Dan for a joy ride, heading for Crabtree. On a nice stretch he "stepped on her" at 60 miles to show his expertness. The road wasn't wide enough and he ran into the R. R. fence, knocked off three posts, riddled the wires for four rods, landed 30 feet ahead and waited for the car to catch up. Dan didn't enjoy the ride much.

Ed Kalina, Tom Small, Burgett, Joe Kalina and David Horsburgh have bought an ensilage cutter and can fill their silos at less expense than formerly.

The Old Man and good wife pulled in to Crabtree Sunday on business and to visit his son M. C. Found the boy prosperous and a difference of eight cents in the price of eggs.

Leonard Gilkey was over Thursday picking 30 ears of the Old Man's Golden Beauty corn to put in the big corn exhibit at Portland.

Sunday Ed and Joe Kalina, Mr. Dimmick and the Old Man went into Ed's corn patch and soon had down five acres ready for the cutter.

Newt and Mrs. Morrison were out Sunday; Newt setting up the ensilage cutter while Mrs. Morrison and Mrs. Morris entertained Mrs. Gaines and feasted on grapes.

Dan Bilyeu has rented a farm near Corvallis and soon leaves here.

The Old Man is about laid up with a cold contracted Sunday while cutting corn.

Lyman Small has moved to Crabtree where he has a job on the R.R. PIE EATER.

Tom Prospal at Eugene.

Thomas P. Prospal, Scio's talented young violinist, who is now at the State University, Eugene, writes an interesting letter to Printer Brant. Believing Tom's friends would like to hear from him, a few extracts of general interest are printed:

"This is a fine town, not very large; I think I have been all over it already. At the end of the main street, on a steep hill is a large 'O' of cement which stands for 'Oregon' to which every freshman must go at a certified time. (They all have gone up already.) From there one can see all over the town; it is a beautiful sight.

"Talk about airplanes! They fly around here seven days a week; sometimes they are a nuisance. I am taking commerce instead of engineering, as I thought I would. I think the course is a good one. Besides that I have to take military drill and gymnasium. I am up for band and may try out for orchestra."

O. A. C. Has Good Team.

The Oregon Agricultural College has one of the best football teams in its history. Their coach is H. W. Hargis; they are led by Brewer Billie and captained by "Butts" Reardon and are out to win. The schedule: Oct. 4, Alumni, Corvallis; October 25, Stanford University, Corvallis; Nov. 2, California, Berkeley; Nov. 8, Multnomah Club, Corvallis; Nov. 15, Oregon at Eugene; Nov. 22, W. S. C., Portland.

Prehistoric Race Record

That a more complete record of the prehistoric races of the Pacific Northwest may be accessible to the public, Professor J. B. Horner, head of the department of history in the Oregon Agricultural College, desires all newly discovered data touching the anthropology, archaeology and folk lore of the prehistoric races of Oregon. For this purpose the department will at present proceed to collect a museum of antiquities with such information concerning the same as may be secured, and will later prepare an archaeological chart of the state. To this end the cooperation of all who have data regarding the prehistoric races of Oregon is earnestly requested.

The following topics may be helpful to those furnishing information regarding the ancient burial mounds: Location; when and by whom discovered; dimensions; whether built of earth, or stone; state of preservation; appearance; color; whether covered with trees or other vegetation; was excavation systematically made? antiquities and state of preservation; human skull contrasted with modern skulls; mummies, idols, mortars, stone knives, arrow and spear heads; photographs or drawings of the mounds, antiquities, or other discoveries; stone inscriptions in caves near by; walls of stone or adobe; your impressions of mounds and contents; literature on subject; names and addresses of others who have explored Oregon mounds.

Earl Parker is up to something. The Tribune suspicions, owing to the fact that he just bought from N. I. Morrison a complete housekeeping outfit for two and had it shipped to Mill City. We haven't learned the name of the girl in the case.

At The Peoples Theatre

On Saturday and Sunday evenings Mrs. John Wesely will present Wallace Reid in "The House of Silence." The comedy will be one of Mack Sennett's.

LIEUT. H. W. WEBB FALLS TO HIS DEATH

Lack of Gas Prevents Machine from Reaching Place Where Landing Could Be Made.

Lieutenant H. W. Webb of Los Angeles, pilot of a De Haviland forest patrol plane, was killed and Sergeant John C. McGinn of Salt Lake was seriously injured Tuesday when their machine plunged to earth near Gold Ray, supposedly because of an empty gas tank which prevented the aviators from reaching territory where they could make a landing.

Lieutenant Webb flew his De Haviland over and about the fair grounds on the second day of the fair but did not land. He dropped a note of greeting and returned to Eugene after giving a fine exhibition of the art of flying.

Oil Development Assured.

That development of the Lacombe oil prospects is assured is the statement of H. C. Pyle who is enthusiastic over the encouragement he is receiving.

Mr. Pyle owns the machinery of the old company organized several years ago, which will be utilized by the new company.

A general canvas of the business men of the county for the purpose of selling stock will soon be made, and it is hoped to drive several hundred feet of pipe this winter.

The Scio Masonic lodge room has been rejuvenated with new paper on walls and ceiling and the ante-room enlarged, all tending to make it a pleasure to members meeting there. Now if the ladies could get together and organize an Eastern Star lodge it would be a big help to the fraternity.
