

LOCAL NEWS BREVITIES

Scio lodge of Masons meets 28th. The Scio flouring mills made a car load shipment Monday.

The flu seems so general that but few people come to town.

No school this week owing to the prevalence of the flu.

Unless it rains soon the roads will be dusty.

Fred Bilyeu went to Portland Monday and drove home a new up to date Ford. Fred says the roads are quite dusty in places.

Newt Weddle did not get to make his Portland trip as contemplated. Just on the eve of starting Mr. Flu grabbed him and confined Newt to bed and room for two weeks.

Our milk trucks bring to town full loads of milk for the condensery from the farmers and return with part or full loads of feed for the farmers.

D. C. Thoms failed to show up at the mill Friday of last week. Inquiry later showed that Mrs. Thoms thought he needed extra petting so she kept him at home and put him to bed. Thoms had the flu or a close imitation.

R. E. Mantor, who owns a farm in Richardson Gap, left for a short visit to his wife at Glendale, Cal., Monday evening. Mrs. Mantor was called down there some weeks ago on account of the sickness of her mother, and she, in turn, became sick.

For Sale—A 1919 Chevrolet 1-ton truck, just been overhauled and in good running order. Also a 2-ton trailer, never been used. George Balsiger, Lyons, Ore.

O. V. Roberts of the internal revenue department of Oregon, came to Scio Monday and remained until Wednesday, looking after income tax matters.

A long communication from W. A. Ewing, agent the proposed water bond issue, is unavoidably omitted in this issue. When presented one-half of the paper had been printed. Only by leaving out paid matter could his article have been printed.

The Scio State Bank had to send out the S. O. S. call last week. Miss Christine Shindler had been several days at home with the flu, and Ed Myers failed to show up Friday, his family being sick with this popular (?) disease. Al Ewing managed to run the bank by his lonesome on Friday, but couldn't stand this one-man business, so he sent to the First National Bank at Albany for help. Ralph McKetchnie answered the call and came over Saturday morning.

How would this plan work out with reference to practically empty or unused churches: Let the church building which is practically standing in idleness be placed on the tax rolls the same as other privately owned property. Then such church be used or finally be sold for delinquent taxes, when it would be converted to some useful purpose. In these days of high taxation no property should be allowed to escape the tax gatherer.

Business Property Change.

Last week Tom Large purchased the P. H. MacDonald property lately occupied by the C. A. Everett drug store and the barber shop. As soon as the property is renovated, painted, etc., Mr. Large will remove his poolroom, cigars and tobacco thereto and add a full line of confectionery and sodas.

Rebekah Official Here.

Miss Ethel M. Fletcher of Salem, and vice president of the Rebekah Assembly, made an official visit to the Scio lodge last Thursday evening. While here Miss Fletcher was entertained by Dr. and Mrs. S. C. Browne. She next visited Mill City and Lyons. At the latter place a joint convention of the three Rebekah lodges was held.

Married

Some days ago Newt Crabtree, one of our most respected citizens, went over to Aberdeen, Wash., not on account of the big I. W. W. trial now going on at Montesano, near there, but to visit a lady friend over there whom he persuaded to return to Scio with him. In order to make the trip more joyful he and Mrs. Emma Bonn, the aforesaid lady friend, interviewed Judge Lewis B. Begnold and when the interview closed Mrs. Bonn had become Mrs. Newt Crabtree of Scio. Newt says he had become tired of batching anyway, and Mrs. Crabtree, who is a splendid housekeeper, wanted to come to Oregon. The marriage solved the problem for both. The Tribune extends congratulations and suggests that the example is a good one for our numerous bachelors, widowers, old maids and widows to follow. The happy couple are now at home on Mr. Crabtree's farm.

Would Waive Honor.

C. C. Jackson of Halsey writes The Tribune that nothing would give him more pleasure than to be sent as one of the convention delegates to San Francisco and to vote for Herbert C. Hoover as the democratic standard bearer. But as Mr. Jackson was one of Oregon's delegates to the national democratic convention four years ago he thinks the honor should go elsewhere.
