

LOCAL NEWS BREVITIES

Scio lodge No. 39, A. F. & A. M., will meet Saturday evening, May 1. There will be work and refreshments.

Many are called, but most people turn over and go to sleep again.

John D. Densmore went to Portland last Friday.

Laff every time you feel tickled, and laff once in a while ennyhow.—Josh Billings.

An elderly lady wants a job at housekeeping or cooking. Inquire at The Tribune office.

Fred Bilyeu went to Portland the first of the week and drove back a Ford truck.

Mrs. M. J. Peery of Albany is visiting her son E. C. Peery, manager of the milk condensery in this city.

The Rebekahs have nine candidates for initiation at next meeting, April 21, when a high old time will be had.

Mrs. J. W. Compton visited over Sunday with her daughter, Mrs. Kinzer, at Crabtree.

The songfest at the home of J. R. Platt Sunday evening, was much enjoyed.

Mrs. Joseph Liska returned Monday from a two months' visit with her daughters at Seattle.

Robert Sidener visited friends in Scio the first of the week. He is on his way from California to Canada, where he will locate.

Robert Clarke, who has been assisting C. W. Bragg, railroad agent at West Scio, left for Portland yesterday morning.

A crew of 12 men is now clearing the right of way for the water ditch for the electric power station at Jordan.

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Myers, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Peery and Frank T. Thayer, of Scio, were Albany visitors last Friday.

J. N. Weddle returned from Portland Friday, where he has been trying to bake the rheumatism out of his system.

Before the discovery of mechanical flying few believed it possible. The trouble is that now everybody believes everything possible.

It is asserted that a Scio man slipped on the sidewalk, hit on his hip pocket, and that the doctor had to take three stitches where the glass cut him.

Report sayeth that meals furnished at the Scio hotel are equal to or better than those that are supplied at many of the higher priced hostelrys in our neighboring cities and towns.

Last Sunday was a beautiful sunshiny spring day, as fine as could be desired, but Monday morning old man Jupe got onto the job again with the April shower business.

Mr. and Mrs. Groulik of Portland drove up in their car Saturday afternoon for a short visit with Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Wesely, returning home Sunday afternoon.

Kenneth Kopeck, who was helping to make a shingle bolt drive down the South Santiam river, was drowned when his canoe overturned a short distance above Lebanon on Wednesday of last week.

Because there was so much feeling among Harrisburg people against George A. Barley, who a month ago was placed under $3000 bonds for contributing to the delinquency of a minor, his bondsmen surrendered him and he was returned to jail in Albany by Sheriff Kendall on Thursday of last week.

E. E. Taylor of Lebanon has sold his 26 acre ranch to a man from Nebraska for $11,000. The ranch is some two miles south of Lebanon and price per acre is more than $423.

The general foreman of construction on our new electric power and light station came up from Portland Saturday prepared to commence work on the project Monday.

Our carp pond continues to function.

The Linn county fair board has set aside $3775 for race purses at the fair next fall.

It is expected that by May 1, if not sooner, there will be near 50 men working on the light and power project at Jordan.

Cheer up, brother, there's a silver lining just behind the clouds which will appear one of these days, when all will be happy and busy.

If our correspondents will send in their news letters so that they will reach this office on Tuesday our printer will be greatly obliged and remain in a perpetual good humor.

One of these days Scio will have to build a new city hall. The old one is not "going west" but leans sharply to the north, so that props are necessary to keep it standing—the same as this editor.

A big auction sale of Jersey cows is to be held at the Holt farm near Thomas April 15: 32 head of the Holt stock and 11 from Aumsville, owned by Clifford Reid, will be offered for sale.

The reason many people in Scio and vicinity oppose the proposed millage taxes is the increase of the already too high tax rolls. They are not opposed to higher education as a rule, but are opposed to the great cost of our state colleges. It is too great a burden for our meager population to carry.

W. H. Jenkins, connected with the passenger department of the S. P. railroad, was in Scio yesterday. Mr. Jenkins has not been in Scio since the government took over the railroads, until this trip.

The date of the Richardson Gap dance had to be changed because the law requiring license goes into effect the 17th, and 10 days' notice being required, there was not time enough to give said notice. The change to the 16th became necessary.

Captain R. E. Mantor, who advertised a lost log chain taken from his farm, was pleased to find it near his gate. He wishes to thank the borrower for the return and is well satisfied that it pays to advertise.

Prof. L. L. Gooding of Harrisburg, it is said will be a candidate before the primary election for school superintendent on the democratic ticket. Prof. Gooding was principal of the Scio Schools a few years ago.

Quite a bunch of the Scio chain gang went to Brownsville Saturday evening to attend the dual meet of Linn and Benton I. O. O. F. at that place. They report Brownsville people as excellent entertainers.

Mill street gets rid of a small quantity of its mud when Main street is scraped and the mud hauled away. Vehicles carry the mud from Mill to Main. The trouble is Mill street does not seem to decrease in its mud supply one iota.

Dr. Prill made a professional trip to Turner Sunday evening and did not return until early Monday morning. One can imagine what the call was for.

The freighting business has so increased in Scio, so we are told, that the S. P. R. R. company is considering the relaying of the track into Scio. This is but a rumor, but there may be something in it.

Saturday afternoon the Bartu Motor Co. hooked their Cletrac tractor to a road scraper and scraped the mud from north Main street in short order. The Cletrac is a farm tractor manufactured for agricultural purposes. It is a small machine but a mighty puller.

EASY TO WIN CO-OPERATION

Main Thing to Remember is That One Must Earn What One Expects to Receive.

Getting on with others is a matter of co-operation.

If you expect co-operation you must give co-operation—judiciously, systematically and with good will.

You can win co-operation from a person when you help him to do what he wants to do.

Everybody has desires which are worthy and deserving of promotion. Study the desires of the person whose co-operation you wish to win and then idealize the ways by which you can aid him to realize those desires.

If all comes back to a matter of service—to what Emerson called the law of compensation and what one teacher of New Thought calls the law of giving and receiving. In the language of salesmanship the way to sell yourself to anyone is through the principle of service. "What will you have?" quoth God; "pay for it and take it—Nothing venture nothing have—Thou shalt be paid for what thou hast done; no more, no less."

In more homely language you must earn what you get in the way of friendship, favors and co-operation of any kind just as you must earn anything else worth while. And by the way, to habitually take what you do not earn, what you do not give a fair equivalent for in one way or another, is to sap the vitality of your own character and unfit yourself for a place among men and women who are not parasites.

If you are a salaried worker and want to earn more money there is only one legitimate way in which you can do it (assuming that no other employer will give you the increased pay), and that is by giving more efficient, cooperative service. This service may take the form of carrying out instructions from others or of acting on your own responsibility; in either case the object is to efficiently help your employer to realize his ideals for the business.

You cannot throw into the business machinery the monkey wrench of indifference, or positive objection to the ideals of your employer and his ways of realizing them, and expect to get your pay raised therefor. Neither can you, by such a course, render relations more pleasant and agreeable and win the co-operation which you desire in the way of increased appreciation as evidenced by a fatter pay envelope.—William E. Towne in Nautlius.

As a Liniment.

"I got some alleged liquor, but I'm afraid to drink it."

"Going to throw it away?"

"Naw; I'm gonna take a chance on using it to rub with."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Tough Willie.

"So you've been fighting again, Willie?"

"Sure. You don't suppose I could get an eye like this attendin' Sunday school, do you?"

Like String.

Wilson—You can say what you like about Goodfellow, but he's as straight as a piece of string.

Walters—Yes, and just as easily broke.

If--

An Oregon family of four had $100 a month to get along on in 1913, but had grown into a family of ten with only $45 a month income in 1920, how in the world would it live?

That is the case with

The State University, the Agricultural College and the Oregon Normal. In 1913 they had 2250 students; now they have 5400. And $1 in 1913 is only as good as 45 cents today, in purchasing power.

If You Yourself Were Responsible

Could you carry on the work of the College, University and Normal on the same state support as in 1913?

You Could Not

Neither can the State University, the Agricultural College and the Normal School do it. Will you not help these three institutions to continue their useful and productive work for Oregon by voting on May 21 for the Higher Educational relief measure?
