SCIO TO HAVE PAVED ROAD TO JEFFERSON

County Will Use Own Plant and Pave the Roadway East From Green Bridge

Scio will have a paved road to connect Scio with the Pacific highway this year. At least such is the dictum of our county court.

It is the purpose of the court to set up the paving plant at Green bridge and lay the paving to Munkers; then move the plant to Scio from whence the paving will be laid to Scio.

The Marion county court has notified the Linn county court that paving from Green bridge to Jefferson will be laid this year, probably using material from the Linn crusher.

It is expected the paving plant will remain in Scio next winter so that work can be prosecuted late in the season and possibly some streets in Scio may be paved. So with the building of our new power system and road paving, Scio is likely to be quite a busy place.

Let us conclude that a paved road to Albany is a pressing invitation to visit the county fair and all go.

Song of Spring.

Now quacks again the genial duck,
The friendly pig is squealing,
Soon the cackling hen will cluck—
Her call is spring revealing.

The earth its products multiplies,
And men the scheme sees thru it;
Dame nature he would capitalize
But nature beats him to it.

He finds himself caught in the surge
That captures cows and chickens;
And tho he drifts on ruin's verge,
He's happy as the dickens.

Has Corn Trimmed

John Leffler has bothered greatly with a very disagreeable corn on the third toe of his left foot, so that he could wear a shoe on the same only with great discomfort. He resolved to resort to heroic treatment for a cure. So he went to Dr. Hobson to have the corn treated, who admonished him to make a permanent cure and so the toe was amputated just behind where the corn was located, or behind the second joint. It is safe to say that John will not have to trim either the corn, or nail of that toe in the future. The operation did not deter John from carrying the mail, as he was on duty the following day.

Parent Teachers.

The Parent-Teacher meeting for May will take place Thursday evening, May 6, at 8 o'clock. Election of officers.

Farm Bureau Elects.

W. W. Poland of Shedd was re-elected president of the Linn county farm bureau Saturday.

F. L. Bayne of Peoria was named vice president; L. E. Arnold of Lebanon, secretary; A. C. Schmitt, treasurer. Directors are: J. B. Cornett, Shedd; Homer Brown, Lebanon; Perry Parker, Plainview; Joh Steen, Lebanon; A. R. McCall, Albany; Vern Taylor, Lebanon; C. W. Boetticher, Albany.

To head some department assignments were made, viz, Poland, crop improvement; Arnold, poultry; Brown, co-operative shipping; Parker, field demonstration; Steen, wool and mohair organization; Taylor, rodent control; Cornett, livestock; Boetticher, boys' and girls' clubs; McCall, drainage.

For Secretary of State.

Fred Lockley, a feature writer for the Oregon Journal, has announced himself a candidate for the nomination for secretary of state. Fred is one of the newspaper boys and wonderful to relate is well qualified to fill the office for which he is standing. He is unusually well acquainted in every county of the state and would be "hail fellow well met" as secretary. The mystery about the matter is how Fred, a republican, and asking to be nominated by republicans, happens to be a writer for the Journal. But as he does not write political stuff we guess it's all right.

Let's Pull Together.

Scio business men are too much imbued with the idea of getting all they can while the getting is good. They do not look to the future welfare of our town. There should be more harmony and unity of purpose if we want our town to prosper and we all do; we must pull together. The present outlook for business is good; let's all help to make it better.

Walter M. Parker, Albany business man who was crushed under a woodlift in his store, will recover.

The millage taxes may be and doubtless are meritorious, yet they add to an already too heavy tax burden.

The Farmer Feeds Them All.

The politician talks and talks,
The actor plays his part;
The soldier glitters on parade,
The goldsmith plies his art.
The scientist pursues his germ
O'er the terrestrial ball,
The sailor navigates his ship;
But the farmer feeds them all.

The preacher pounds the pulpit desk,
The broker reads the tape;
The tailor cuts and sews his cloth
To fit the human shape.
The dame of fashion dressed in silk,
Goes forth to dine or call,
Or drive, or dance, or promenade;
But the farmer feeds them all.

The workman wields his shining tools,
The merchant shows his wares;
The aeronaut above the clouds
A dizzy journey dares.
But art and science soon would fade,
And commerce dead would fall
If the farmer ceased to reap and sow,
For the farmer feeds them all.

DR. W. D. WOOD

The above is a fair portrait of Dr. W. D. Wood of Hillsboro, who was in Scio Wednesday of last week. Dr. Wood has been a member of the state senate for the past 12 years which has made him intimate with public affairs of all parts of Oregon. He is a business man of ability and a practicing physician in his home town. He is well fitted to exercise the duties of the office he seeks and thinks he has a good chance to bring home the bacon.

At The Peoples Theatre

For this week, Saturday and Sunday evenings at the Peoples Theatre Louise Glaum will appear in "Sahara."

This is "tonsil day" at hospital.

Where to Begin.

Evidence of the revolutionary purpose of the present railroad strike is so conclusive as to leave no room for debate on the question. It struck at an industry on the continued operation of which all other industry depends. It struck that industry at a point where the withdrawal of the smallest number of men can most effectually cripple it, namely the terminals in the cities, great and small, also where great bodies of employes in other industries would be thrown into idleness. These cities and these masses of idle men offer the greatest opportunity to arouse the mob spirit and thus to start revolutionary outbreaks. By inciting mutiny among railroad men against their unions, a deadly blow may be struck at unionism, which the several revolutionary organizations aim first to destroy in order that their members may be won over to the army of the proletariat which is to carry on civil war for domination by the communists.

The manner in which the strike began betrays its I. W. W. or communist origin. No preliminary demands were made, as in the case of labor disputes. No leaders could be identified, as is usual in such cases. A large number of men in one occupation simultaneously quit work without giving any reason. They may have been incited to do so in order to extort certain concessions, but the purpose of the instigators was not simply to obtain those concessions, otherwise they would have formulated their demands at the time of striking at the latest. The methods and effect of the strike mark it as the work of the I. W. W. or the communists or both. Evidence of I. W. W. origin obtained by the department of labor corroborates this circumstantial evidence, and the further evidence that the communist international at Moscow has put the I. W. W. in motion gives further corroboration.

This adds weight to the reasons for taking away from Acting Secretary of Labor Post the power to decide whether an alien revolutionist shall be deported or not. Inquiry would probably show that many of the moving spirits of the strike were among the thousand aliens arrested by the department of justice whom Mr. Post has refused to deport, or among the hundreds who have been liberated on merely nominal bail.

Others among the strike leaders are likely to be Haywood and some of the I. W. W. leaders who were convicted with him and who are free on bail awaiting action on their appeal. We need not go far to find the source of the money with which the strike is financed, for the communist party of America and the I. W. W. are in close communion with the third international at Moscow, which has all the rich plunder of Russia at its disposal through the soviet government.

No matter how drastic may be the measures adopted at the first cabinet meeting at which President Wilson has presided in more than 6 months, they will in large measure be thwarted so long as the power to rid the country of revolutionists remains in the hands of a man who seizes any excuse to set them free.

POWER STATION ITEMS AT THE JORDAN WORKS

Superintendent Cunningham on the Job—A Large Force Will Soon Be Needed.

Work on clearing the right of way for the ditch and flume, which was begun last week, in which rain materially interfered, is making good progress this week. About 12 men are employed on this job.

Engineer Cunningham came up last week and is now making the permanent survey. When excavation begins 40 or 50 men will be required in digging, flume building, and in putting up the station buildings.

It is the purpose of the management to crowd the work as rapidly as possible so that power may be had in Scio during at least a part of the short water season. September 1 is the date when power from Jordan is expected to reach Scio.

Hospital Notes

The following had their tonsils and adenoids removed at the Scio General Hospital Thursday of last week: Laura Fink, Bertha Thayer, Maysel Hassler, George Daniel Gibbons, Bernadine Jungwirth, Harry Everett, Henry Thomas.

Dr. Steves of Salem, eye, ear, nose and throat specialist, assisted Dr. Friil in the surgery last week and will be here today for the same purpose.

Joseph Harman entered hospital Thursday with a third degree burn on shoulder and arm which he got while working at the condensery.

Miss Winfred Ferris returned on Tuesday from Turner, where she had been nursing Mrs. C. M. Miller.

Scio high school players will give "Sally Lunn" at Jefferson May 5.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Thoms and Jim Blyeu motored to Albany yesterday afternoon.

Some difficulty in obtaining right of way for proposed road changes in order to straighten out kinks on the Scio-Green bridge road is reported. It is thought matters will be adjusted without great difficulty, however.

The Scio high school pupils gave a creditable performance of "Sally Lunn" last evening to an appreciative audience at the Peoples theatre.

progress—the first stage of revolution according to the Lenine program—cannot be stopped until the source of infection is removed by imprisonment or deportation of the reds, no effort being spared meanwhile to remove just causes of unrest. That will be impossible until the man who works against the purpose of the government is removed from authority.—Oregonian.
