

LOCAL NEWS BREVITIES

Scio lodge of Masons will hold stated communication Saturday eve.

It is said the clover seed with two weeks sunshine will yet be saved.

Miss Helen Karnos left for Portland Tuesday.

G. W. Platt was in Albany Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Shelton were shopping in Albany Monday.

The big thing of the fall is but a little more than one week away.

Mrs. Florence Everett is assisting with the work at the postoffice.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Shelton expect to start on their Southern Oregon trip Saturday or Sunday.

Quite a number of Albany and Lebanon politicians are expected to be in town Saturday.

Mrs. T. H. Boynton this week sold her 20-acre farm to C. C. Bilyeu, the purchase price being $3500.

Mrs. J. F. Parker returned from a week's visit with her sons at Gates Monday morning.

Jess Rodgers shipped a crate of little sheep dogs to Portland last week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Rodgers and Mrs. W. C. Westenhous motored to Albany Monday.

Jerome Smith, who now lives at Seapoose, was in town Monday looking after business interests.

O. W. Miller of Shaniko, Ore., arrived Saturday for a short visit. His wife has been visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pruitt, for a short time.

Mrs. Emma Kinzer, who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. J. W. Compton, who is quite ill, returned to her home at Crabtree Monday.

Mrs. A. L. Powell of Milwaukie, and Mrs. McGhee of Washington, arrived Wednesday for a visit with their brother, J. S. Hannah.

The Ewing hunting party returned home Sunday. They got the law's limit of deer, but oh, my, the weather.

The exceedingly muddy condition of our streets, with no crosswalks, makes it very unpleasant for pedestrians. Our city dads should provide something better.

R. C. Pettit moved last week to the house above Jordan, vacated by Hal Shelton, who in turn moved to Mehama where he has an interest in the store with George Balsiger.

The Tribune is indebted to Secretary of State Kozer for a list of candidates throughout the state and the measures to be voted for in ticket form.

Mrs. Oscar Lindley of Silverton is making her parents an extended visit. Oscar is employed in the paper mill at Camas, Wash., the Silverton mill having closed down for a period of time.

Mrs. Annie E. Shannon, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. J. L. Rodgers and family, was called to Kelso last week where a son is seriously ill.

The funeral services for the late Thomas H. Boynton were held in the Federated church last Friday afternoon. After a short talk by the pastor, Rev. H. B. Iler, a beautiful service was held by Dierdorff lodge of Odd Fellows, assisted by Leone lodge of Rebekahs. The remains were shipped to Live Oak, Calif., for interment.

Mrs. Lou Ousterhoudt of Long Beach, Cal., arrived in Scio Saturday afternoon. Mrs. O. declares she came to Oregon to escape the crowds of tourists now beginning to flood Southern California. She says she has become tired of perpetual crowds, who hardly give you time to think.

A theater party consisting of Mrs. John Sticha, Mrs. Ethel Arnold, and the Misses Vella Brenner and Dorris Weddle motored to Albany Tuesday evening to see "Humoresque."

A delegation of young men from Albany Y. M. C. A. rendered the evening program at the Federated church. They were: E. Sox, Ted Russell, C. Saiz and W. Irving.

Next Saturday ought to be a busy day in Scio. With Senator Chamberlain speaking in the morning and the city special election during the entire day, our streets should present a busy appearance.

At the recent session of the grand lodge Pythian Sisters, Mrs. Julia C. Bilyeu was selected as grand chief of the order. This is the first time The Tribune believes, that the chief officer of any grand order has come from Scio.

Many copies of the league of nations are now being sent to voters. Read what the covenant says and then use your own horse sense as to what it means. It does not say what the average republican spell-binder would have you believe. They are simply lying to get their party in power.

Owing to dilatoriness of abutting property owners and the inclement weather, Mill street is in the nastiest condition in its recent history. We do not know who is to blame, but the street is a disgrace to any town and to the property owners whose duty it is to maintain at least a decent roadway.

The voter who contemplates voting against the bond issue is not unlike he who contemplates voting against the league of nations. If the bond issue is defeated the taxpayers will have to pay a debt of $40,000 or more without deriving any benefit therefrom; if the league of nations is defeated we will have to keep ourselves in a state of preparedness for war with its attendant loss of life and treasure. The only plan is to move forward. Reaction means disaster to our town.

County Commissioner T. J. Butler was in Scio Tuesday. He has a bunch of men working on the Richardson Gap bridge. He stated that nearly all the graveling between Green bridge and Munkers had been completed. After which the crusher and engine will be moved to Scio. Nothing but the bunkers will be left at the Green bridge. It is the intention to work the plant during the coming winter in graveling from Scio to Munkers, after which this road will be ready for paving.

It is said Scio is obligated to pay some $12,000 the first of next month. Where is the money to come from without the people authorize an additional loan next Saturday? It is intimated that the city council is personally responsible for all debts over $40,000. The Tribune does not think such will be the case. While the estimate was placed at $40,000 or less to complete the work, the city did not limit the council to that sum. As agents for the city, the city will be held liable for any debts the council may contract. The city would have recourse only in case of dishonesty on the part of the council.

Apples for sale—Fine Baldwins. Call at once before they're shipped. Bring containers. C. R. Apple, Gilkey

N. I. Morrison has decided to put on weekly specials which will be announced each week preceding the sale. During the week beginning October 25, I will make a special discount on all ranges and heaters, both wood and oil, subject to stock on hand. While my prices are from $2 to $5 cheaper on heaters than elsewhere, I will still give the 10% discount. There has been no advance on Portland made stoves, while on Eastern stoves there has been an advance on account of freights. No better stove made than the Portland Stove Works line. Come early and get your choice.

N. I. MORRISON.

Attend District Convention.

J. L. Calavan, F. G. Cary, I. C. Arnold, G. W. Morrow, C. C. Bilyeu, B. A. Holtean, A. Shanks, Thomas Small, Ed Weaver, J. M. Miller, E. E. West, Malcolm Miller, G. A. Griffin and F. W. Sommer, all members of the Scio "chaingang," attended the Linn-Benton district convention of the I. O. O. F. at Corvallis last Saturday and all report a most enjoyable time. In the afternoon some of them attended the football game, others looked over the college buildings and livestock. A banquet was served in the early evening by the Rebekahs at which everybody who could open his mouth was supposed to say something, including the toastmaster, J. K. Weatherford, who could and did talk some himself.

Card of Thanks

We take this means of sincerely thanking the kind friends who assisted us in so many ways during the sickness and death of our husband and brother, and to Mr. Morrison who, at my request, acted for me in all necessary arrangements; to all who sent flowers and messages to my husband while yet here; to the doctors, matron of hospital and nurse; to the Rebekah and I. O. O. F. lodges; to the minister, and for all the beautiful floral offerings.

Mrs. T. H. Boynton, Scio, Ore.
E. A. Boynton, Live Oak, Calif.

If Commissioner Butler is authority, we may get Mill street improved this winter after all. But this can be done at once and that is to provide a means for the water to get away soon after it falls. This would help the street amazingly.

FOR SALE.

Angora Goats—I have 20 head of Angora goats for sale, more than half of them nannies. A. I. Arnold.

NOW KNOWN TO BE CLOUDS

Up to Year 1900 the Projections on Mars Had Been Thought to Be Mountains.

The first observers of projections on Mars had attributed them to the same cause that produces projections on the moon—that is, mountains. Such they were said to be in France and at Lick. This view, however, was in 1892 disputed by W. H. Pickering, who considered them to be not mountains, but clouds. This view was supported by A. E. Douglass, who observed them in 1892 at Flagstaff, Ariz. The mountain theory of their generation was shown to be untenable and their ascription to clouds proved to be the correct theory in December, 1900. Only a single projection was visible in 1900, 1903 and 1905. As a mountain does not change its place, and as nothing was seen where something had been visible, the phenomenon was proved to not be a mountain peak. Now the only other thing capable of catching the light before it reached the surface would be something suspended in the air—that is, a cloud. Deductions, therefore, from the rarity of the phenomenon alone showed that the projections must be clouds. Furthermore, the projection was smaller after the lapse of 24 hours. The something that caused it was not only not attached to the soil, but was moving and dissipating as it moved along. Clouds are the only bodies known to us which account for these metamorphoses. Clouds, then, and not mountains, are the explanation of the projections of Mars—"Mars and Its Canals," by Percival Lowell.

Owls Lodge in Oxford.

Owls, as is proper in the case of birds of such renowned solemnity and secluded habit, have always exhibited a particular liking for Oxford, where more than one college, but particularly Worcester, has its colony.

Recently they have established a new colony in the ivy-covered walls of the Bodleian library and the Tower of the Five Orders, in the Old Schools quadrangle.

Members of the Podley staff now occasionally find relaxation from their duties by rescuing the young birds which find their way down on to the pavement of the quadrangle, and are unable to fly up to their nests.—Westminster Gazette.
