INAUGURAL TALK PUT ON SPOOL OF WIRE

Ten Miles of Steel Wire to Reproduce Address; Films Record Event When Desired.

Washington, March 6.—Ten miles of thin steel wire, wound on a spool will carry President Harding's inaugural speech to posterity. In the office of Representative Fordney, 250 feet away from the platform on which the president stood, were the machines, combinations of telegraph telephone, and dictaphone, that recorded the sounds of the event.

Using three machines, two complete records of his speech, the applause and music were obtained. Each of these spools contain five miles of wire, and one will be presented to the national museum and the other to Mrs. Harding.

By running these wires through the reproducing machine 50 or 100 years from now, Harding's speech will be heard by those now not even born, and in conjunction with the motion pictures of the event a complete and authentic story of the event will be had.

The dictaphones, plugged into the telegraphones, picked up the speech that had been increased in volume by loud speaking telephones installed on the stands. The miles of wire were magnetized in such a way that when the machine was reversed the sounds that went into it were reproduced accurately and distinctly.

The telegraphone which did the recording was invented by Valdemar Poulsen, a Dane, some years ago. It does not employ needles or wax discs but obtains the record by magnetizing the steel wire. The dictaphone that received the sounds is similar to that commonly used in detective and other work.

To Keep Tab on Wild Ducks.

When a wild duck decides to move from his summer home in the Canadian wilds he neglects to leave a forwarding address to indicate where his winter quarters are to be established. The bureau of biological survey, U. S. department of agriculture, is working on a method to offset the duck's carelessness. This consists in trapping the birds and marking them with aluminum leg bands that carry a number and the legend "Biol. Surv., Wash., D. C." When a banded duck is killed, the hunter removes the band and returns it to the Biological Survey with information showing when and where the bird was recovered.

During the past autumn a Canadian collaborator of the Survey operated a duck trap at Lake Scugog, Ontario, where he captured and banded over 200 black ducks and mallards, with a few ring-necked ducks and blue-winged teal. Some of these were killed near the place where they were banded, but others were from such localities as to indicate approximately the routes taken by these birds in their journey to the southland.

In all about 25 of these ducks have been killed and the bands returned from points in Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, Arkansas, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas. One of the blue-winged teals was killed near Port of Spain, Trinidad, British West Indies, more than 2500 miles from Lake Scugog, where the band was attached.

The systematic banding of birds as undertaken by the biological survey will furnish conservationists with much valuable information.

Boy Kills Wildcat.

On Sunday morning, Jaromir Walter, the 10-year old son of Joe Walter, killed a wildcat on Mount Prospect.

Free Show.

An impromptu free entertainment was furnished a couple dozen spectators Friday evening.

Two young men, who have long been at loggerheads over some unexplained matter, invited each other to a fight to the finish. The invitation was accepted. Accompanied by the gallery the boys adjourned to the lot back of Dr. Prill's office and went at it. Went at it is right, for what the boys don't know about boxing would make several books.

They toed an imaginary scratch and commenced slugging from the call of time. After twenty minutes or so, when he had lost several good teeth, one was willing to quit if the other would, and then the curtain was rung down.

At The Peoples Theatre.

For this week, Saturday and Sunday evenings, at the Peoples Theatre will be presented "The Fighting Chance."

On Wednesday and Thursday, March 16-17, "Outside the Law," will be given.

A committee was appointed to look up shooting grounds and other matters and to report at next meeting, March 21.

Farm and Home Reminders.

From the O. A. C.

Rhubarb of delicious quality and color can be produced in a cellar or outhouse, under a mild heat. Harvested at this time of year it brings 12 to 14 cents a pound and finds a ready market.

Spring planting of vetch should be made as early as possible either on fall or early spring plowed lands. Sown alone the rate is 90 pounds to the acre. With oats, use 60 pounds vetch and 48 oats to acre. Combination crop is best, because if vetch should fail there is still a likelihood that the oats will make a crop.

Some don'ts in little tot's diet—Pie, doughnuts, fried potatoes, fried cabbage, fried ham, fried eggs, hot bread, pancake, biscuit, coffee or tea, rich cakes, rich puddings, rich stews or soups, candy, except at end of meal. Use plenty of milk cereals, fresh vegetables and soups.

Normal chick growth calls for some such muscle forming foods as milk, egg or meat scrap with grain and ground feeds. A small amount of bone meal added to the mash is advisable.

There should be a large planting of clover because of the short clover acreage and cheapness of seed. Whenever possible Oregon seed should be sown.

The best variety of oats for western Oregon conditions for spring planting are three-grain, victory, swedish select and banner. The best varieties of wheat are huston for heavier lands and defiance for mellow soils. Because of unfavorable planting weather last fall there is an unusually large acreage of land for spring planting.

A covered box or basket should be used in transferring chicks from the incubator to the brooder, as chilling at this time frequently causes bowel trouble later.

The Oregon beekeepers association will meet in Portland March 16-17. Beemen are asked to bring samples of honey, wax, and special equipment.

SCHOOL NOTES.

The seniors presented a play at Mill City Friday evening to an exceptionally appreciative audience. Nearly $60 was taken in at the door. Although the truck ride was cold and the roads rough an enjoyable time was had by nearly all the party. Mill City and Mr. Winters, the school principal, were very courteous to the visiting Scioites.

The Parent-Teacher association is providing an entertainment for the next meeting, Thursday evening, March 17, that is so old that it is new. Pupils from neighboring districts have been invited to participate in a grade school spelling contest. Any district overlooked please consider this a cordial invitation. A free for all contest (not a fight) will probably follow.

SHIPPING BOARD LIST SETS CAPITAL AGOG

Senators Threaten to Carry War to White House if Harding Backs Up Rumor.

Washington, March 8.—A muffled storm broke loose in the capital today as the result of publication in a Washington morning paper of what was said to be the shipping board slate picked by President Harding. The outburst was due to the inclusion in the list of the name of Colonel Charles A. Forbes of Spokane, and came from the California delegation.

George E. Chamberlain's name also was included, but this brought no protest. California's outcry was not aimed personally at Col. Forbes, but as worded was a protest against denying representatives to the 900 miles of California coast with the ports of San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego.
