GOOD SEED, BAD WEEDS TO BE CONSIDERED

Problems of Better Production and Less Loss in for Attention at Farmers Week.

Weed control, seed protective laws, and how to grow 500 bushels of potatoes on an acre, are some of the important phases of crops work to be discussed Farmers Week at O. A. C. June 13-18.

Seed regulation, need of vegetable seed protective law, seed production problems of the Northwest, seed grades and seed regulation in Idaho, the dealer and seed legislation, report of O. A. C. seed laboratory results and recommendations, and seed law conferences, are for Monday—seed day.

Tuesday is potato day. How to prepare land for big crop of potatoes, potato diseases, pure-bred-register of merit potatoes and how to grow them, seed potatoes—little, big, whole or cut, how to grow 500 bushels of potatoes an acre, insect enemies of the potato and their control, storage, grading and marketing of potatoes, are the topics to be discussed.

Wednesday and Thursday are wheat conference days. Wednesday's program will include a discussion of the new weed law and weed control on the wheat ranch, federation wheat and smut resistant wheat varieties, tillage to get bushels of wheat, what kind of grain Western Oregon should grow, inoculation of legumes, wheat insects, feeding and care of horses on wheat ranch, and wheat diseases.

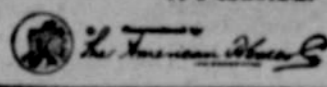

Thursday's program starts with a lecture on Canada thistle control. Cost of producing wheat, farm management for dry farms, rotations for dry land wheat farms of Eastern Oregon, factors affecting wheat quality, and a discussion of Oregon's new discount law and how to use it, follow. Forage crops day will be Friday.

Nothing brings prosperity more quickly than operating home industries. A record of payrolls and employment is the best advertisement any community can send out. Keep the payrolls going.

PIE EATER.

Don't Be Jealous.

If an actor plays a part,
Shows emotions of the heart,
That will make the tear-drops start,
Don't be jealous.

If someone a picture paints,
Don't begin to make complaints,
Pointing out its "don'ts" and "aints,"
Don't be jealous.

If a singer takes a note,
Stills the sound in song-bird's throat,
Then again to you I quote,
Don't be jealous.

If a writer writes a song,
In the hope to right a wrong,
Cheer it on with voice full strong,
Don't be jealous.

If in your heart an envying
Prompts you to do most anything,
To hurt someone with a sharp sting,
You are jealous.

If the public you'd alarm,
About the one you seek to harm,
Careful how you swing your arm
When you're jealous.

When you start on your attack,
Don't make your blows from the back,
For 'twill prove you honor lack,
When you're jealous.

If you, thru the U. S. mail,
Try to make your victim quail,
You are apt to land in jail,
When you're jealous.

You'll be called to take the blame,
For your attempt to defame,
Fie for shame, sign your name,
When you're jealous.

Jealousy led you astray,
Uncle Sam can find the way
To bare your name, make you pay,
So they tell us.

In this great world so big and round,
There's room for every talent found,
Then let good fellowship abound,
Don't be jealous.

Flea beetles on potato and tomato vines may be controlled by spraying with bordeaux 3-3-50. On small gardens the O. A. C. experiment station finds that dusting with a mixture of wood ashes or air-slaked lime or sulfur, 9 parts with 1 part of lead arsenate powder, will keep the beetle in check. The materials are mixed very thoroughly and applied by putting the mixture into a coarse cloth or cheese cloth bag and shaking lightly over the plants.

Enoch Shelton has built a dandy, brand new woodshed at the rear of his dwelling.

ARMAMENT "FEELERS" ALREADY SENT OUT

Washington Would Have Some Definite Information Before Opening Negotiations.

Washington, May 31.—"Informal feelers," with respect to an international agreement for a reduction of armaments already have been put out by the American government. The purpose it is understood, was to develop the attitude of foreign governments on the question before any formal negotiations are undertaken.

The approaches already made are understood to have been conveyed through American representatives sitting informally in allied councils. The process is expected here to be a slow one and generally the belief is held that the "informal feelers" will be the only direct action taken by President Harding in response to the Borah amendment to the naval bill, requesting that the chief executive begin negotiations for a disarmament agreement.

Industry and Banking.

Banking problems are largely industrial problems. If the community prospers the banker prospers. To have community prosperity industrial activity is necessary to keep up a constant circulation of money.

To help stabilize business conditions some prominent bankers are urging merchants and others engaged in business to adopt a plan of cash reserve or surplus to tide them over emergency situations and furnish protection against temporary trade dullness.

Large business firms have long followed this practice.

A reserve of this kind would increase bank credit and be a valuable asset for industrial stability in any community.
