

EVANGELISTIC SERVICES DRAWING BIG CROWDS

Interest Increasing Nightly and Many Conversions Resulting—Program Announced for Coming Week

The evangelistic services now being conducted in the big tent by Rev. Milo G. Bentley are drawing bigger crowds nightly, many coming from Lebanon and Albany, as well as every one on the routes who can get through with their work in time to attend. The tent is filled every night.

Last Sunday was an extremely busy day for the evangelist, speaking at both services in the morning, and at the Providence school house in the afternoon, then again at the tent in the evening. This was taxing his voice beyond endurance and he was forced to forego directing the choir during the song service. At this time, W. M. Abbott, who lives on route three and who was formerly choir leader of the Christian church before the federation, came to Mr. Bentley's rescue and directed the choir during the evening.

The meetings are successful from a spiritual standpoint, 25 having professed to the saving grace of the lowly Nazarene up to Monday night, and the uplift movement is only just commenced. The finance part of the meetings have been placed in the hands of W. A. Ewing and E. D. Myers.

Other committees have been appointed as follows:

Music—Mrs. Iva Abbott, Mrs. H. B. Her, Riley Shelton.

Entertainment—Mesdames E. D. Myers, Riley Shelton, William Arnold.

Location and Arrangement—Al Plummer, Mrs. John Simms, John Couey.

Lunch for All Day Meeting Sunday—Mrs. W. A. Ewing, Mrs. J. L. Arnold, Mrs. John Simms, Mrs. Lester Arnold, Mrs. Clarence Pepper, John Couey and Al Plummer.

The coming Sunday will be the biggest day of the whole evangelistic services, says Mr. Bentley, as he tells of the all-day services that will be held at the tent and the basket dinner at noon in the church. Sunday school and church at the usual morning hours, and at two in the afternoon and at 7:30 in the evening. Everybody invited to come early and stay all day.

Subjects for the coming week have been announced as follows:

Tonight: "Saved by Faith."

Friday: "Why Men are Unsaved"

Saturday: "Christ or Barrabas."

Sunday evening: "Hell and Its Location."

Monday: "The Dance of Death."

Tuesday: "The Unpardonable Sin."

POINTED SAYINGS

"My father was a real good christian man, who believed heart and soul in the church and Sunday school, but he has always said 'I do not believe in sending the children to Sunday school. No I don't. But I do believe the parents should take the children.'"

"There is only one ladder that extends from heaven to earth. That ladder is let down by God and He stands at the top. That ladder is Christ."

"The ladders of moral reform, good work, self-righteousness, and many others that men are trusting today, however good they may be themselves, are too short. They do not reach heaven."

"Begin by dishonoring God's day, and you will soon begin to dishonor God's house, dishonor His house and you will soon cease to honor His book, cease to honor His book and soon you will be giving Him no honor at all."

"Religion to me is the most sane, natural thing in the world. If you cannot think for yourself, I cannot help you. God said, 'Let us reason,' and I appeal to your reason."

Will Exhibit at State Fair

Donald Shelton is going to represent Scio at the state fair this year if his plans don't get knocked into a quiet slumber by some unforeseen accident, and he is carefully guarding against any chance of an accident.

Recently Donald purchased two lambs from W. W. Miller, and they are being carefully groomed by him and Mr. Miller for exhibition at the state fair. The lambs are said to be competent to go into any quadruped society, and Donald should bring home the blue ribbon—and will if Mr. Miller and Orville Gilkey, the local club leader, can be of any assistance.

Some Watermelon

The other day "Hickory" Craft, who lives in the Larwood district, hitched up his team (this is unusual in this automobile age) and drove to Scio. Nothing thus far but what any lawful, truthful citizen has a right to do. But he was bent on finding our fellow townsman, Wm. Brenner, and find him he did. No he wasn't looking for trouble—Bill raised Hickory, and of course Hickory wanted to see his benefactor and tell him about the "big" watermelons he is raising this year.

Now, these "melon" are so big, he says that he was afraid his strength would not lift it. To be sure of their bigness and of a "truthful" witness he got Charley Koekwell, who is not so big, to weigh just one, and they both say it weighed 59 pounds. Bill says that's some watermelon. Hick says "uh huh." Bill says he don't believe it. Hick says, look who raised me, so I guess I can raise big watermelons. Then the argument ended and Hick drove home.

GOLDEN WEDDING WAS HANDSOMELY OBSERVED

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Crawford, of Albany Reach the 50th Milestone of Their Wedded Life

(BY T. L. DUGGER.)

Fifty years ago the writer of this news story was employed as principal teacher of Santiam academy of Lebanon. One of the leading social events of the first week was the marriage of Mr. J. G. Crawford to Miss Clara D. McDonald, both of the then pioneer village of Lebanon. Their union was regarded by their relatives and friends as being most satisfactory, as well as by themselves.

Mr. Crawford immediately established a residence and photographic studio at Harrisburg, where they resided for many years, and where their family of children were born, from whence they removed to Albany, where they now reside.

The main feature of this 50th anniversary was the elegant composite dinner. I use the term "composite" advisedly, for the dainties were brought by the children and relatives from Salem, Ranier, Portland and Lebanon, the bridal cake being provided by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Crawford, of Salem, and which was sliced by the bride of 50 years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Crawford have led a busy and moderately prosperous life, he having been the leading photographer of Albany for many years. Their living children seated at the festal board last Sunday are: Mrs. Lillie Rader, of Ranier, Ore.; Bert Crawford, of Albany; Harry Crawford, of Salem, and Gerald Crawford, of Portland.

Only immediate relatives participated in the dinner, but a number of their close friends called during the afternoon, among them being Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Train and Dr. and Mrs. Davis, friends dating back to the residence of the Crawfords in Harrisburg.

A large number of golden presents covered a large library table, of which no doubt those of Uncle Sam's "golden eagle" were the most acceptable. Late in the evening the relatives and friends returned to their several homes, wishing their parents and friends a happy and prosperous old age.

"Fatty" Arbuckle Arrested

There is much just condemnation of the "party" that "Fatty" Arbuckle gave at the St. Francis hotel in San Francisco the other night, at which there were several women and very few men present. It is said that John Barleycorn, or some of his nephews, was present in full uniform and that one of the women died early the next morning as a result of John's visit to the party.

Arbuckle has been arrested and charged with the murder of the woman, Virginia Rappe. What the outcome will be, no one knows, but there no doubt will be less demand for his pictures, and there should be. Prominence and money should have no weight.

Wanted.

Lady clerk at J. F. Wesely's grocery. Experience not necessary. One speaking Bohemian language preferred. Apply at once.

Church Dedicated Sunday

Last Sunday the scene at Jordan during the dedication of the new Catholic church was one of the prettiest and most impressive ceremonies ever held in late years in the North Forks of the Santiam. The beautiful new church received its benediction from the Most Reverend Alexander Christie, of Portland, who delivered the dedicatory sermon, in the presence of an assemblage of more than 500 people. The church was packed and many were unable to gain admittance.

The church had its ups and downs during construction, but it is finished now and ready to do its good turn in keeping the spirit of its inception to the front. The interior of the church is said to be the most handsome of any in Oregon outside of Mt. Angel, and the work of the decorator, Mr. Staley, of Portland, was loudly praised by every one.

An excellent dinner was served at noon, and a supper just as good in the evening. Half a beef and about 100 chickens were used to feed the crowd, besides a mountain of bread and some of the best pastry ever made by Linn county women.

A large delegation from Portland, Salem, Albany and Mt. Angel, which brought its band, were present, the band supplying the music for the choir and the dance in the hall beside the church.

Honored a Hero

The Oregon Statesman pays the following tribute to Gus Zoeliner, who was buried at Lyons, Sunday, September 4th:

"And on Sunday afternoon, at Lyons, Oregon, Gus Zoeliner was given a soldier's funeral, with pall bearers and bugler and firing squad from the American Legion post of Salem; and it was combined with a Masonic funeral, to show the brotherly love in which the patriot who sailed away to fight for a free country and a free world was held by his fraternal fellows—

"And it was a neighborhood funeral, in which all the people of that section joined—

"And Gus Zoeliner Post, American Legion, Kellogg, Idaho, named for him, sent a delegate to represent that body of his former comrades in arms, and the Odd Fellows also were represented, as he was a member of that fraternal order.

SEVEN TAKE EXAM. FOR POSTMASTER

Results of Examination Held Last Saturday Will Not be Known for Some Time—Prize Worth Winning

The delegation that went to Albany last Saturday was not summoned for jury duty, neither were they witnesses in some case now before the Linn county circuit court. No sir. That delegation was seeking a job whereby it might, individually and politically, serve the people of Scio and vicinity for the next four years, unless sooner recalled by the powers that be.

Yessir, it was examination day, and the position and title postmaster of and for Scio was then and there to be made. And the prize, oh shaw! that was secondary, don't amount to much, only $1700; but the title, oh joy! Any way, seven scioans want to be postmaster or postmistress, as the case may be, as follows: Miss Daisy Buckner, present incumbent and whose term has expired; John S. Sticha, city recorder; Ethel G. Arnold, Duane C. Thoms, Donald M. McKnight and Charles F. Thayer, and Will Simms, who took the examination at Silverton.

There are two applicants for the Jefferson postoffice, Mrs. Edna R. Shumaker and Levane Pense, who also took the examination at Albany Saturday.

It will probably be three or more months before it is known who is the successful applicant.

Not in Linn County

My friend, have you heard of the town of Yawn

On the banks of the River Slow, Where blooms the Wait-A-while flower fair,

And the soft Go-Easies grow? It lies in the valley of What's-the-Use,

In the province of Let-Her-Slide, That old Tired Feeling is native there;

It's the home of the listless I-Don't-Care,

Where the Put-It-Offs abide.
