

CITY COUNCIL HELD BUSINESS SESSION

Filling Vacancies in Office and Steps to Organize a Com- munity Club is Made

Last Thursday night was the regular monthly meeting of the city council, and although an invitation was extended to everyone interested in city affairs to attend, it seems that no one except the members of the city council were interested, for they were the only ones there.

Only routine matters were taken care of, such as allowing of bills, etc., until in the proceedings where it called for filling of vacancies. Here is where the council has been stumped ever since J. S. Sticha resigned as recorder to become post-master. However, after a full month of seeking the man or woman who would accept the place, Milo Bartu was finally persuaded to accept the office, and his appointment was confirmed and Mr. Bartu was immediately sworn in. Mr. Bartu no doubt will make a worthy successor to his predecessor, and the city is indeed fortunate in his acceptance.

There were also two vacancies on the council to be filled. To fill the unexpired term of Roy V. Shelton who resigned and moved to Salem, Frank Bartu was the unanimous choice of the council. To fill the seat made vacant by the death of Bert Hollis, the council selected E. C. Shelton. Both these gentlemen are too well known to need an introduction, but to say that they are competent men is strictly correct.

The council urges that all residents on Main street, whose walks now need repair or replacing, first consult the city recorder and the ordinances. Main street walks must be cement.

One of the most important steps ever undertaken by the council—by the way, it doesn't cost the taxpayer a cent in taxes—was the steps taken to organize a community club, this to include every phase of the entire community. After a thorough discussion of the benefits to be derived from such an organization, a motion prevailed which instructed the city recorder to write the State Chamber of Commerce for a speaker and organizer to come to Scio for the purpose of addressing the people of the community on the good such an organization can do where there is everlasting team work.

There has been considerable talk by the farmers, city people and others on what could be done by team work ever since the high school student body put over their gymnasium bond drive, and this action by the council is in accordance with the agitation thus put forth.

As soon as word is received from the State Chamber of Commerce as to who will come to Scio, and the date he or they can come, suitable announcement will be made and an appropriate program worked out for the event. There is much such an organization can do, such as promoting good feeling among all, seeing that all projects now in course of construction are quickly completed, fostering industries already here, locating new industries and bringing in settlers. These things are now undone because there is nobody to do them.

Watch! Wait! Come! Let us make this the best community in Oregon. It can and must be done.

COUEY PURCHASES BOYANOVSKY STORE

Change of Ownership Comes as Surprise—Couey takes Charge at Once

One of the most important business transactions of recent date in Scio is the transfer of the Joe Boyanovsky store to John Couey. Mr. Boyanovsky has been in business at his present location for the past nine years, and has built up a thriving trade. Mr. Couey is well known here, and has driven the West Scio store for some time.

The Peoples Store was closed Wednesday and Thursday while an inventory is being taken, and will be opened again Friday morning.

The building and fixtures are also being turned over, and some alterations will be made in the near future. Mr. Boyanovsky will take the Couey farm and stock, and will probably make his home there.

The entire transaction is still more of a possibility than a reality, although the trade will probably be made early next week.

Criticism is Just

Meadow Shade Butter is being criticised by its friends—it does not go far enough. We like this sort of criticism because it shows our standard for good butter is being kept up and that what one likes he always eats plenty of. Uniformly good and will be kept so.

INTEREST IN DAIRY EDITION GROWING

Farmers and Dairymen Realize the Value of Telling the World What We Have

As time grows closer for the appearance of the big dairy edition, interest by the farmer and the dairyman becomes greater.

Never before, nor since, the time when the agitation for the present condensery plant was established has the farmer and dairyman been given the once over, nor has the necessity of more herds and more milk been given the prominence the industry demands.

There is room for great improvement in herds already established in the matter of milk production, in proper method of feeding, and in the most improved and most economical method of handling and selling of the product. We hope to cover all these points thoroughly and intelligently, in both reading matter and in the advertisements.

The breeder of high grade pedigree cattle, known for their long record of productivity, has a most excellent opportunity to make his herd known far and near. He is sure to meet a hearty response.

The man who now has grade stock and wants to dispose of them and restock with a pure bred herd—this is the ideal and opportune time and the Tribune's dairy edition the medium through which to make the change. Somebody will want what you have, just as you want what some one else has.

You may be a breeder of sheep, of hogs, of goats, of horses—this issue of the Tribune will carry your message to some one who will learn for the first time where he can get just what he wants. Your advertisement should be in that edition.

The chicken fancier—and there are numbers of them—this is also your opportunity.

In the course of time things accumulate on the farm that have lost their value to you, yet if they were advertised some one will be found who is in need of some such articles and two people are thus made happy. Try it in this edition; the cost is small.

Like the bubbling brook, we could go on and on, but these suggestions should warrant a trial. The date is April 20th, next Thursday, and rush your copy in. We'll not rob you on the advertising rate—we expect to stay in business.

Scio Defeats West Stayton

Scio opened the baseball season Sunday by defeating West Stayton by a score of 12 to 6 in a very exciting game. The Scio team has not organized or practiced any this season because of the bad weather, but expect to have a meeting Friday evening at the K. of P. hall and elect a captain and manager and make arrangements for new suits. All who are interested in the baseball team are urged to attend.

By the showing of the team Sunday against a team which has already played two or three games, Scio has the prospects of a very strong team with a lot of material to pick from. All that is needed is good weather so they can practice and the support of the town to make a team which will defeat many of the larger town teams.

Herbert Ballin, ex-Arieta ball player of Portland, is showing the boys some inside dope about baseball and with his clever playing at shortstop and batting, the team will win a lot of games. Everybody boost and Scio will have a team even better than before the war.

On to Mexico

Roseville, Cal., April 4, 1922.
To the Editor:

Sidetracked for 24 hours on account of non-connection of the fast and through train, the Sunset. We are slowly and patiently winding our way down the mountainside into the beautiful valley below. Nature's artistic landscape is most beautiful with its green fields and orchards in full bloom of various intermingled colors white and pink like Jacobs coat of many colors.

Our stock are doing fine—the horses seem to be enjoying the trip and the cattle are holding their own. Our presence in the car seems to give them confidence and content. The feed is holding out good and we have plenty of water. The sun is shining brightly and the weather is very pleasant.

We met some very nice people at a watering stopover, who made inquiries as to our journey and bid us a speedy and safe trip to our destination.

I and my two companions, Swegle and Griggs, are making the best of our trip, and riding in a box car is not to be envied, but we are making the best of it.

Respectfully yours,
Dr. S. C. Browne.

School Meeting April 22

Don't forget the school meeting scheduled for April 22d. Two directors to elect, and care should be used in the selection so that the schools will go ahead and not be retarded. And whoever is elected will have a hard row to hoe because of the fact that they will have to increase the school taxes to meet the deficit occasioned by the boundary board acting upon the signatures of Scio citizens taking off taxable property in this district to the value of over $30,000 and putting it into another district. This means adding another 6 to 8 mills on the dollar to taxable property in District 95. But why should the school board worry, the taxpayers will do so by signing the other fellow's petition, and Mr. Taxpayer will have to pay the bill. But attend the meeting, Saturday, April 22d., at 2 p. m.

GYM COMMITTEE IS KILLING TIME

Nearly Two Months has Passed and Nothing Yet Done —Why not Get Busy

Walt Bilyeu left yesterday for Kalama, Wash., where he expects to find work, and if satisfactory will move to that thriving little burg on the banks of the Columbia. Mr. Bilyeu has been announced as the man who would have charge of the details on the construction of the new gymnasium, but so far the committee in charge, or who have taken charge, has done nothing but procrastinate, and Mr. Bilyeu says he can not lay around and live on air—his system requires something more substantial, although air is a very component part of one's existence. The student body, who is responsible for the return of this borrowed money, should call the committee into consultation, which has not often been done. If the committee is to be responsible for the return of the money you borrowed, then it is up to them to place their name on the bonds and the student body bonds be entirely dispensed with. As we understand it, this committee was selected to act as advisors to and not sponsors for the student body. Now, students, do your duty, and call in the committee, build what you want, and the present and rising generation will rise up and call you blessed. Otherwise, deponent sayeth not.

With the death of Bert Hollis, the committee was left with but two members, and this of course made it possible for progress to be rather lax in going ahead with the work on hand, but now the gap has been filled with Rolla Shelton, and now the students and the committee should be able to get action and get it quick. Of course, the securing of bids has caused some delay, more than necessary, but other work should have been done.

It is not the purpose of this paper to tell anyone what it shall or shall not do, but there always comes a time when something must be done and done quickly. All the two members of the committee have done, from what we have observed, has been to meet, talk over the sit-
