

NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNERS

If you have land, farms, houses, lots, stores, laundries, hotels, manufacturing plants, machinery, automobiles, or any kind of business or property, any where that you want to sell for cash at the highest possible price or exchange in the shortest time, you should read the following carefully:

The old way of selling is slow, unsatisfactory and expensive. If there had been a buyer in your neighborhood you probably would have sold before this time. The fact that you have not sold is evidence that there is no buyer, and if you want to sell you will have to look elsewhere for the purchaser. The man who will pay the highest price may be a long distance away. You don't know him; he don't know you nor what you have for sale. We have the means of putting you in communication. Our plan is to place a complete description of your property on the walls of our advertising room where it can and will be read by every prospective buyer who comes to Salem. Also a complete description of your property is listed on our monthly bulletin and thousands of copies are mailed to the homeseekers through the east and middle west.

We have information from the emigration departments of the trans-continental railway lines that hundreds of families from the middle west alone will come to the Pacific Northwest this year. Our plan is to let them know what Salem and the Willamette Valley has to offer. If your property is for sale come in at once and arrange for a description of it to go into our Monthly Bulletin.

Call or write for circular.

No Lead in Lead Pencil.

The word pencil originally meant a small, fine brush, such as artists still use under the same name, but it now chiefly denotes the black-lead wood-cased pencil and its varieties. Lead pencil is a misnomer, because there is no lead about it. The case is wood or paper, and the substance that makes the mark is graphite, also called plumbago, from the latin word plumbum, lead. This is the only connection the substance had with lead, because it is a form of carbon, and it's one of the softest minerals known.

Weighing Without Scales.

The resourcefulness of the Irish is shown in their method of weighing without scales. "To weigh a pig," said an Irishman the other day, "all ye have to do is to lay a plank across a sawhorse, place a big stone on one end of the plank and the pig on the other, then shift the plank until the two things balance. Then ye guess the weight of the stone and ye have the weight of the pig."—Boston Transcript.

A Belated Moral.

The moral in the story about the prodigal son and fatted calf is that the calf didn't get a square deal. The calf had been very decent, but was killed in honor of the son whose life was a riot.—Atchison Globe.

Help From the Neighbors.

There are few things more tantalizing to a man than to go home with something on his mind he wants to scold about and find company visiting there and be obliged to act agreeable.—Havensville (Kan.) Review.

Keep Them All Busy.

Half the world is busy devising remedies for this and that, while the other half is busy inventing antidotes for the remedies.—Nashville Tennessean.

Dog Owners, Attention

It is good news to learn that commissioner D. C. Thoms has informed the residents on the north side of Thomas creek that the bridge washed out during the flood will be replaced by another this summer. Now, if the people on the south side will get together with those on the north side, the road on their side will also be attended to this summer. It takes team work, and all the time, to get what is really needed.

A splendid program and lecture was given at the Arnold school house, district No. 65, last Saturday evening. The large crowd in attendance was very appreciative. A lecture by Rev. W. H. Lee, of Albany college, was full of good thought and was well received. Mrs. Rogers is a No. 1 teacher and district No. 65 is very fortunate in being able to secure her services.

One in the newspaper business cannot help but congratulate the Public Service Commission for its decision in the rate case of the Western Telegraph Co., when it sought to materially raise the rate on news matter sent over its wires. The Commission denied the request and so ordered.

The Same Light and Measure.

Reason, like the sun, is common to all; and it is for want of examining it by the same light and measure, that we are not all of the same mind; for all have it to that end, though all do not use it so.—William Penn.
