Oregon Made Home Knitting Yarns
A great surprise for the home knitters of Oregon, but still a fact. Further more, this yarn is absolutely virgin wool yarn; the wool was grown in Linn county, sold by Mr. Senders to the Oregon Worsted Company (mills located at Sellwood), made into worsted yarn by Roy T. Bishop, son of C. P. Bishop, proprietor of the Woolen Mill Store of Salem. Oregon knitters try this yarn out. All colors, 45c per ball of 2 ozs. Samples sent on application. Address C. P. Bishop, Box 75, Salem, Oregon.

INTERESTING FARM ITEMS

Information From O. A. C. of Much Worth to Farmer,
Stockman, Gardener

Much of the trouble with young chicks that is bringing inquiries to the veterinary department is caused by improper brooder temperatures. Brooders kept too cold cause bowl trouble, while if allowed to get too warm weak legged chicks is usually the result.

Mangels should be seeded only on rich land and in rows 24 to 36 inches apart, depending on whether hand or horse cultivators are used. Mid April to early May planting is best, and about one inch is the proper depth. Screening the seed into large, medium and small sizes makes it easy to get an even stand with a seeder.

Mid April is one of the best times to sow Grimm alfalfa on the sandy bottoms of the Willamette valley. Fifteen pounds to the acre on a fine, firm seed-bed planted not more than an inch deep is best. Landplaster, 50 pounds to the acre, will usually give it a better start. Alfalfa is the best forage crop for the well drained river bottoms. At the experiment station it has yielded four to five tons of hay an acre through eight years.

Our most injurious garden cutworms pass the winter as partially grown caterpillars in garden soil. Destroy the cutworm crop before the garden plants are available for them. This can be by broadcasting poison bran mash over the garden plot as soon as the soil is thoroughly prepared for planting. The standard cutworm formula is bran 15 pounds, calcium arsenate or lead arsenate four ounces, salt four ounces, molasses or syrup two quarts, and water to make a coarse crumbly mash.

Early radishes entirely free from maggot injury is easily possible and practical by use of cheap screen frames over the beds. Roof shaped from 10 feet long, 24 feet wide and 1 foot high made of light material and covered with coarse cheese cloth or wire screen give excellent protection from the little flies that deposit the eggs. These are light enough to move with reasonable ease and with any care will last several seasons. The slight shade afforded by the screen assists in the growth of radishes and keeps them tender for a longer period. With three such frames placed over successive plantings 100 per cent maggot free radishes may be had all season.

The best wool on the sheep is found over the shoulders and along the back and every fleece should be graded on the basis of this wool because it constitutes the major portion of the fleece, says H. A. Lindgren, extension specialist in animal husbandry at the Oregon Agricultural college. Tying the fleece so that the good wool is on the outside is, therefore, not only an honest practice but is the way the buyers want it for inspection and grading. To tie a fleece properly it should be intact when removed from the sheep. Then spread it out on a clean floor with the shorn side down. Gather up the loose locks, belly, and britch wool, and place it in the center of the fleece. Then turn over a third of the fleece from each side to the center and make one fold at the neck. Next start to roll the fleece from the rear, making a tight bundle, and tie it with paper twine. This method of tying makes an attractive bundle and puts the back and shoulder wool on the outside.

They Trade Farms

The Maple Lawn place, southeast of the Albany Lumber company's mill, near Albany, has been exchanged by E. H. McDonald for a place near Scio belonging to Harry R. Shanks.

Mr. Shanks will move on the place and expects to go into the purebred Jersey business. He will take possession about Oct. 1. Mr. McDonald will move on the place of Mr. Shanks, which lies between Scio and Kingston.

Back to the Soil and Bossie

We lived in town some four long years,
We had a deuce of a time, sir;
I worked at this and I worked at that,
But couldn't lay up a dime, sir.

We paid house rent and lived in a flat,
And out of a paper poke, sir,
We bought canned milk and 'margerine
I tell you 'twas no joke, sir.

My wife got blue and stewed around,
She wore a constant frown, sir,
And begged to move where was found,
To a better business town, sir.

But time wore on as time will do,
And I am glad of the day, sir,
We packed our duds and shambled out—
But we went a different way, sir.

To a homestead down on a strip of land
We pitched a lodge, that's right, sir,
Where we soon found out we had acted wise

Without a bit of spite, sir.

By a twist of the wrist we're back to the soil—

We will stop and make you our bows
sir,

Then hasten away down to the lot
To open the gate for the cows, sir.

—Mrs. J. H. W., Jordan, Ore.

May Start This Week

The Cameron mill near Larwood, three miles east of Lacombe, on Crab tree creek, has not started operations as yet, but expect to begin some time this week. It was expected to begin April ten, but the work of getting everything into readiness has taken longer than was expected.

A dam must be built yet and several booms made, as well as cleaning out the mill pond. The high waters last winter did much damage and repair work could not be started until it was certain that it would not be destroyed by another flood.
