

COMMUNITY CLUB MEETS MONDAY

Crabtree Community Hall is the Place and 8 O'clock is the Hour—Come

The regular meeting of the Forks of the Santiam Community Club is the first Monday night in each month, but owing to last Monday being Labor Day, the meeting for September was postponed until the 11th, next Monday night, and it will be held at the Crabtree community hall at 8 o'clock. It is expected President Leonard Gilkey will return from Spokane, where he is exhibiting, in time to preside.

The club is now working on a program and display for Saturday, the 16th, in Scio, this display to form the nucleus for a Forks of the Santiam exhibit at the State Fair on the 25th, and then taken to the Linn County Fair at Albany. It is hoped the farmers in the community will lend every aid in making the local display a success, thus making it sure that the exhibit will win the prizes. The committee is planning to make it an all day affair with a basket dinner at noon, and speeches, sports and music and possibly a football game and a picture show and a one-act comedy. But further details will be arranged next Monday night and the program published next week.

Speaking of the exhibit at the State and County Fairs, it must be borne in mind that besides the vegetables and fruit display it requires about $100 cash, and Mr. Gilkey promises to bring home the premiums. And as he knows how and has proven it, we believe him. Let's raise for him the amount, and the Tribune will start it with $2.00. Who will be next?

But go to Crabtree next Monday night, the community is hospitable and progressive, and it will do us good. And come to Scio on Saturday, the 16th.

Winner Produce Changes

Tuesday marked a new era in the business activity of Scio, when the Winner Produce Co., conducted by F. B. Studnicka, became the property of Bohemian Shiller, of Portland. Mr. Shiller is not a stranger among our people, he has been coming here for some time when he began the organization of the Sokol gymnastic club and has made weekly visits here ever since. He has liked the town since he first saw it and decided that at his first opportunity he would become identified with its business interests. He is a young man full of pep and a splendid athlete and will continue to instruct the Sokols. He is a welcome addition to business and social activities of Scio.

Mr. Studnicka is selling his business because of inability to rent the Kula farm, which he recently came into possession of, and it was too expensive to lie idle. He still retains the Jefferson house. Mr. Studnicka has made a success of his business venture in Scio, and expects to make a success of farming.

The best line of vegetables in Scio will be found at the Meadow Shade Dairy.

BUILDS LATEST IMPROVED BARN

John Shelton Looking to Future in Construction of Barn—Modern Throughout

John Shelton, who lives about two miles west of town, has been engaged in erecting what is considered the most up-to-date dairy barn in the valley, being 68 feet wide and 94 feet long, and is thoroughly modern and sanitary in every particular.

About two or three years ago a new barn was built on the site the present new one is located, but during a heavy wind storm it was blown down. This necessitated the using of the old barn until a couple of months ago, when it burned down from an unknown origin. This latter made it necessary to begin the construction of a barn adequate to house his present head of stock.

Mr. Shelton believes in doing his best by his stock, and his best is reflected in well contented, healthy cows and horses. He has so constructed the lower part of the barn so that he can have stall room for 110 head, and at present is installing 55 stalls. These stalls are of iron, the feed troughs are of concrete, as is also the foundation and floor. The floor is so laid that a perfect drain is had at all times. He has a perfect water system and is connecting it with the barn. The troughs will be flushed after each feed, thus making them sanitary in every particular. Each animal will have its own individual drinking fountain. The floor will also be flushed each day and thus kept sanitary.

The mow will hold 150 tons of hay, in itself a monstrous roomy loft. The Star equipment, the best on the market, is being used in this modern up-to-date barn. Mr. Shelton, his good wife and the boys are doing all the work on the ranch.

At present Mr. Shelton is milking about 30 head, and is selling all his product to the Scio condensery, and feels that he is ahead by doing so. The barn, with its equipment, will cost in the neighborhood of $6000.

CLUB PICNIC WAS A BIG SUCCESS

About 150 Friends Attend Exercises at Preever's Farm Thursday—Ball Game

Last Thursday at the Henry Preever farm, near the Riverside school, the first club picnic for this section was held, and about 150 boys and girls and their parents and friends were there. And they all had a good time.

A group picture of the assemblage was taken by Mr. Clifford, of Albany, and of course the smiling faces of the members, and the parents and friends, will be preserved for future generations. Following the picture a bounteous basket dinner was spread and the hungry was made to feel contented with all the world, and their community in particular.

Fred N. Williamson, county club leader, acted as chairman of the day, made the announcements and arranged an informal program. He called upon many for speeches, and all responded. A. C. Heyman was the first speaker, he having another engagement at Vilas Arnold, where a poultry culling demonstration was to be made, and his talk was brief.

The next speaker was Mr. Seymour, state president of county club leaders, and his talk was illuminating and full of information. He showed by figures obtainable from his office that returns from investment in assisting the boys and girls clubs in Oregon had been over 100% profit, and urged greater stimulus in the work. He said that the boys and girls became better equipped to meet the trials of life through the clubs because they became keener in judgment, no matter what avocation they might choose, and urged the retention of the county club leader.

County Superintendent of Schools Edna Geer was the next speaker. She emphasized her belief in the various clubs and said she was very proud of their achievements. Like other speakers she wanted it understood that her whole ambition was to assist the boys and girls to better citizenship and competent men and women, whether on the farm, in the office or in the business world.

Johnny Scott and Orville Berry told of their trip to the O. A. C. summer school. They said they enjoyed the trip and learned much there that could not be had otherwise. They urged other boys to go to work in their clubs and earn just such a trip. Mabel Zysset told of her pleasures as leader in the girls sewing club work; Leonard Gilkey said it was easy to win the prizes and ribbons when the heart was in the work, and that he was proud of the record the local clubs had made; Mr. Trofiter, of Tigard, urged the formation of county organization of local club leaders, in this way helping themselves to better help their clubs; H. E. Brown, I. V. McAdoo and others whose names we did not learn also spoke, expressing their interest in the work of the clubs and the need of keeping a county club leader in the field.

A feature of the program was the presentation of buttons to the local club leaders, Mabel Zysset, Fred Sommer and George J. Bennett. These buttons cannot be purchased, they must be earned—and these leaders earned them.

A ball game was played at the close of the program, the fathers playing the sons, and of course the fathers "liked" the sons—they've been doing this for years. But in this case the boys allowed the men to nearly run themselves to death, the score at the end of the fifth inning stood 9 to 6 in favor of "dad."

RUNAWAY BOYS ARE RETURNED TO HOME

One Boy Is Blind, but Brother Cares for Him—Worked for Leonard Gilkey

Gilkey, Sept. 4—Two boys, Alvin and Donald Smith, ages 16 and 14, each carrying a pack, a gun, and a dog following, appeared at the Leonard Gilkey home Tuesday evening of last week and asked for work. They were given work picking evergreens. Later it was learned from the Oregon Journal that the boys had run away from home about two weeks before and were the children of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smith, of Portland.

The family had once lived on a farm and the boys wanted to come back to "mother earth." The younger boy was blind, having lost his eyesight when nine years of age when a dynamite cap with which he was playing exploded. He also suffered the loss of his thumb and first two fingers from his left hand. He has attended the Blind School in Salem four years, and can discern darkness from light.

The older boy showed much "pep" in trying to support himself and blind brother. At the request of the parents, Mr. Gilkey returned the boys to their home in Portland Saturday as he was on his way to Spokane.

The following enjoyed a picnic at Green's badge Sunday: O. L. Holt and family, of Portland; Mrs. Alice Goddard, Miss Nora Holt and Elmer Whetstone and family, of Albany; T. M. Holt and wife, S. B. Holt and family and Fred Sommer and family.

There were three birthday offerings at Sunday school, including Lucile and Carol Crenshaw and Melvin Holt.

J. S. Funks have raised some of the largest tomatoes we have seen this year.

Grant Holt and daughters, Beryl, Grace and Virginia, of Salem, visited at T. M. and J. G. Holts Sunday. Miss Juanita Mespelt is home from the summer normal.

Cletus and Percy Chapele returned to their home in Woodburn Saturday.

The following have gone to the hop field's: Margaret and Helen Serfling, Floyd Crenshaw, Herman Zellar and Mrs. Frank DeWall.

COMMUNITY CLUB WINS FINE DIPLOMA

Leonard Gilkey Brings Home Evidence of What They Think of Us in Canada

In the south window of Kelly's drug store can be seen a most beautiful diploma issued to the Forks of the Santiam Community Club for a small display of vegetables at Vancouver, B. C., industrial fair, and is something every citizen of the community should be proud of.

Mr. Gilkey, it will be remembered, did not get any assistance from a living soul in the entire community for the display he took to Vancouver—the display was from his own garden, hurriedly arranged and taken to the fair as an evidence of what can be grown in the Forks of the Santiam.

It won immediate favor with the people of the province, who sought information of the environments of this community. Many copies of the folder describing this community were handed out and elicited considerable interest. One elderly lady who had stopped at his booth was handed one, she took it home, had her husband read it and came back next day for more information, and receiving all Mr. Gilkey could give her, told him it was not idle talk with them, as they were interested in what the folder said and the information he had given.

This diploma should have a moral effect upon the people of this community. It should stimulate every man and woman to get behind the club and help it boost the community. People from everywhere are seeking new places and new environments, and all they need is some responsible source to lead them to our door, and that source is the Community Club.

But see the diploma, the first ever issued to an exhibitor from the States in this class, take the scales from your eyes, see the community you live in as strangers see it, and soon we will have twice the population we now have. It can be done, if we have team work.

Coverall Party

Mrs. Jess Rodgers entertained for her daughter, Geraldine, with a coverall party on Thursday of last week. Abundance of refreshments were served and the children amused themselves with the playhouse and games. Nineteen kiddies were present and spent a jolly afternoon.
