Oregon Made Home Knitting Yarns

A great surprise for the home knitters of Oregon, but still a fact. Furthermore, this yarn is absolutely virgin wool yarn; the wool was grown in Linn county, sold by Mr. Sanders to the Oregon Worsted Company (mills located at Sellwood), made into worsted yarn by Roy T. Bishop, son of C. P. Bishop, proprietor of the Woolen Mill Store of Salem. Oregon knitters try this yarn out. All colors. 45c per ball of 2 ozs. Samples sent on application. Address C. P. Bishop, Box 75, Salem, Oregon.

Community Fair

was held, and in which it was urged that an exhibit for the Forks of the Santiam be placed at the State Fair and then taken to the county fair. It was explained that about $100 was needed for the exhibit, but this amount could not be raised, and the idea of such an exhibit was therefore dropped. Since that time, it has been communicated to the club that if this community will raise $25 and Lebanon a like amount, Albany business men will raise the balance and have President Leonard Gilkey put on a county exhibit in which the Forks of the Santiam will be strongly featured. This paper believes this latter suggestion is worth taking up, and urges its friends to being forth the amount, no matter how small the contribution will be. Let's let the state know what we have, and then we will have the state coming to us, and this is a good way to let the people know. (Since writing the above, President Gilkey has received the information that "nothing was doing" about it.) Eight new members were added to the list.

Hibler & Gill,

Scio, Oregon

A number of interesting changes have been made—the changes of importance are in the wind shield, top and carburetor.

The top is of the "one man" type, a distinct departure from former Ford tops. It adds greatly to the appearance of the car as well as being more utilitarian.

On the new models, the windshield slants from the base to the rear. By doing so it is now possible to make a practically weather proof cowl connection and to do away with the necessity of having an apron to protect the ignition coils.

The new carburetors are smaller than the former and give an added mileage from seven to nine miles more per gallon of gas. As yet the top and windshield changes have only been made on the touring car models.
