Talks Against Bill

Last Thursday night, at the Z. C. B. J. hall, Father Rubis, of Lebanon, addressed a fair sized audience on the Compulsory educational bill as it is now before the people, and he gave some very interesting facts about the measure as he viewed them. He is a very fluent speaker but does not articulate plainly when speaking fast.

He took up the measure from the point of view as it has been advocated by those in favor of the measure, and showed to the satisfaction of his hearers that he is opposed to having religion enter so fundamental a subject as the public schools, and he is right. There can be nothing wrong with supporting the public schools, but there is something wrong with the sponsors for or against it when religion does enter into the campaign.

While he did not enter the merits of the bill from the standpoint of the speaker from the same platform a few weeks ago in Scio, and did not attribute the attack upon the Catholic church as coming from any one or more organizations, but said it was a menace to the perpetuity of the public schools and especially the private and parochial schools because of centering the fight upon the Catholics alone, and declared it religious intolerance. The bill does not mention any private or parochial school, but the speakers for it do mention but one private school.

He read from a small history which he said he used in his early days in school, and said it was the only history he had ever used, and explained that the O'Hara that wrote the history from which Mr. Straub read at his meeting was from the pen of Prof. O'Hara, formerly instructor in history at the University of Oregon, and not from the Priest at Eugene, who happens to be the possessor of the same name, but not the same initials. This history, he said is highly commended by the faculty of the U. of O., and by them said to be the best now used in schools. Of this we do not know, but the priest at Eugene writes his denial to the Tribune, which bears out the speakers remarks.

He showed that the history of the American government proves that Catholics have been as loyal to all American government provisions and institutions as any other sect, and when the time comes, if it ever did, they would prove just as loyal. He showed that the compulsory school law on the books at the present time answered all requirements made in the new bill, but that the invisible hand had been shown and religion as practiced by them was the target. He belittled no religious sect, but rather commended them, for the work they were doing, and was proud of them for helping to show up the invisible hand. While a splendid talk, it is doubtful if he made his position clear enough to convince some of hearers of the dangers of the bill.

L. M. Curl, Republican Nominée For State Senator

Gave Albany twelve years of efficient service. During seven years as Mayor gave Albany its cleanest administration of law enforcement without bluster, at all times considerate of the rights of all concerned. In the face of strong opposition by large cooperate interests saved many thousands of dollars for the people in the paving and construction work. Fought graft and vice in every form. Endeavored to prevent the pitfalls that allure and snare boys and girls. Severed relations to the city government voluntarily in the face of strong appeals for him to remain in office. Is progressive, but economic. Paid ad.

Elsie Savage-Tucker Dies

Report received from Twin Falls Idaho, that the funeral services for Elsie M. Tucker, age 34, who died Tuesday evening, Oct. 24, following an operation for peritonitis, were held at 3 o'clock Oct. 26.

Mrs. Tucker was survived by her husband J. A. Tucker, two children, Archie, age 16, and Elsie Virginia age 2, also her father, W. E. Savage of Twin Falls, and three brothers, Fred of Enterprise, Ore., Frank and Danion of Twin Falls Idaho.

Mrs. Tucker, was formerly Miss Elsie Savage and resided in Scio for a number of years.

Rodeo Pleases

About 500 people attended the Rodeo Sunday, all were well pleased with the show. $25.00 was offered for anyone that could ride "Rocking Chair." A young man from Stayton tried his luck, but was unseated on the fifth jump.

Mr. Studnicka and wife, who staged the Rodeo, says that they will stage a two days Rodeo next year, with a barbecue as an added attraction.

Community Club News

Don't forget the Community Club meeting next Monday night November 6. A considerable number of candidates for office will be present, and will be asked to talk. Everybody invited and a musical program has been arranged.

Chrysanthemum Show

Our readers are invited to attend the Chrysanthemum show by the Albany Floral Co. next Sunday at their greenhouse. The Tribune acknowledges a beautiful bunch of these flowers. The display is fine and all who can should go.

August Bender was in town Sunday to visit his wife and new baby at the Scio hospital.

Voters, Do You

Understand?

That the so-called compulsory education bill, on the November ballot, would close every private school of grammar grade in Oregon?

That it would deprive parents of the right to send children to any religious school or non-sectarian school privately operated in Oregon?

That it would confiscate millions of dollars worth of property without cause, now devoted to private school work?

That it would add more than $1,000,000 annually in taxes to the taxpayers by throwing several thousand pupils into public schools, for whom buildings would be necessary?

That it violates the sacred rights of parents to train their children as they deem best, by robbing them of their constitutional right to attend privately-operated schools where religious thought is featured or to a non-sectarian school, such as Hill Military academy?

E. B. Lukenbach Passes

E. B. Lukenbach was born in Tusseyville, Pennsylvania, November 14th, 1846, died at his home in Scio, Linn County, Oregon, October 29th, 1922, at the age of 75 years, 11 months and 15 days; moved to Nebraska in 1878; from Nebraska to Scio, Oregon, in 1890, where he has continuously resided, up to his death.

He was married to Sarah M. Hopkins in Edwardsburgh, Michigan, December 24th, 1876. To this union four children were born, 3 daughters and one son. Edith Bilyeu the oldest daughter, passed away about 15 years ago. Surviving is his widow, Sarah M. Lukenbach, his two daughters, Lizzie McKnight, Jennie Jones, and one son Lloyd Luckenbach, all of Scio, two grandsons, Lorice and Frankie Bilyeu. One sister, three half sisters, and three half brothers also survive. Mr. Luckenbach had a large circle of friends in and around Scio, was an honest, industrious, conscientious, law-abiding citizen, a true husband, kind father, and respected by all. One more of our good men has passed to his resting place.

Funeral services were conducted at the Christian Church Tuesday October 31st, at 10, a. m. by Rev. W. T. Ford, Pastor of the Baptist Church at Lebanon officiating. Interment in the Franklin Butte Masonic Cemetery. Paul bearers were: O. B. Cyrus, Riley Shelton, P. H. MacDonald, E. C. Shelton, A. W. Hagey and R. M. Cain.

Red Cross Imperative

It depends absolutely on the response to the November Red Cross Roll Call whether Linn County will have a Chapter throughout the coming year. This was brought out at the last regular meeting of the Red Cross Board.

The Chapters are instructed to hold out for local work all but 50 cents of each membership. This means that from an annual $1 membership 50 cents goes to help local homes and persons; that $4.50 of the $5 contributing membership, or $9.50 of the $10 sustaining membership can be used here.

It is being asked that more persons take out the larger membership cards, so as to allow for the greatest possible service from the County Chapter during the year.

Last year only four persons contributed more than a dollar and two of these were Red Cross workers in the local office.

ANSWER THE RED CROSS ROLL CALL NOVEMBER 11 to 30.

Appreciation

The T. J. Sokol Club of Scio, wishes thru the columns of the Scio Tribune, to express their appreciation of the help that the following persons have so freely given to make the celebration of the fourth anniversary of the Czecho-Slovak Independence a success:

The members of the Sokol Club Orchestra of Portland; the Arnold Orchestra of Scio, Miss Eckert for her services as a pianist, Mr. Chas. J. Trazen and Mr. Frank Hrubee, speakers. And Mr. B. T. Hnizde to whom we are especially indebted for the beautiful gift of a picture of the two men, ex-President Wilson and President Masarik.

Business Men Elect

The Scio Business Men's Association met Monday night and completed the organization which was formed at the meeting held on Oct. 16, at the Scio Hotel. Most of the men who were at the meeting two weeks ago were there, and they took an active part in organizing.

The by law committee reported and they were adopted as read. It provides for a meeting twice a month, on the second and fourth Monday nights during the months from October to April, and once a month from April to October.

The members elected N. I. Morrison as president, J. F. Wesely as vice president and H. L. Ballin as secretary-treasurer. They will hold office until the January meeting when officers will be named for the year. A committee composed of Dr. A. G. Prill, J. D. Densmore, Riley Shelton, I. V. McAdoo, Fred Bilyeu and O. E. Eichinger were appointed to interview the state highway commissioners regarding the paving of the road from Green's bridge to Scio, and to have it declared a market road.

The matter of fire protection, and the lessening of the insurance rate, was discussed at some length, and steps will shortly be taken to eliminate all hazards.

Leonard Gilkey, president of the Community club, was present and he gave a splendid talk upon cooperation, and the business men signified their willingness to get behind the community movement.

J. S. Sticha, E. D. Myers and J. D. Densmore were appointed a committee to provide the program for the next meeting and also to arrange for the eats.

To better the school, and to assist in reducing taxes to an appreciable degree, was also a subject discussed, and on motion the president named Dr. Prill, R. M. Cain and H. E. Tobie to look up the matter of school consolidation.

The next meeting of the club will be November 13, at the Scio hotel. The business men will attend the community club meeting next Monday night, all having joined hands with it.

Templeton's Statement

The statement signed by the supporters of W. J. Dunlap as a efficient officer of the law, that he has proven himself a worthy successor of the late Sheriff C. M. Kendall, cannot be confirmed by the testimony of those who are in a position to know the facts. There are names on the circular who say their names were secured by misrepresentation. If my supporters will not be stampeded by the 11th hour methods, which strains the corrupt practice act almost to the breaking point, I confidently expect to win.

Cletas Holt Dies

Cletas Holt, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Holt, who was gassed and wounded in the late World War, and has been suffering from the effects for a long time, died in Portland, Tuesday Oct. 31, at 7 p. m. where he has been for the last few weeks under special medical care.

Funeral services were held at the family home this afternoon. Interment was held at the Miller Cemetery near Shelburn.
