Oregon Made Home Knitting Yarns

A great surprise for the home knitters of Oregon, but still a fact. Furthermore, this yarn is absolutely virgin wool yarn; the wool was grown in Linn county, sold by Mr. Senders to the Oregon Worsted Company (mills located at Sellwood), made into worsted yarn by Roy T. Bishop, son of C. P. Bishop, proprietor of the Woolen Mill Store of Salem. Oregon knitters try this yarn out. All colors. 45¢ per ball of 2 ozs. Sample sent on application. Address C. P. Bishop, Box 75, Salem, Oregon.

THURSDAY, Feb. 1, 1923

"Every day in every way" it seems we are getting worse and worse. If we don't get shot for this we might write another verse.

Honest, now, don't you think the proper time to work the roads in this section is when it is rainy? Wouldn't holes in the road remain filled better and not grow bigger and bigger?

A new department is being established in the Tribune, to be known as the "O. W. L."—On With Lafts. It will appear regularly, and we hope it will appeal in a pleasing way with our readers.

Report has been current on the streets since the school election that Riley Shelton, for director, and E. D. Myers, for clerk, has positively declined to serve, but we are glad to announce that they have accepted and qualified.

The legislature has now gotten down to business, Monday being the last day for introduction of bills. Linn county's representatives are showing up splendidly with others from over the state, and we are proud of them.

The Harrisburg Bulletin is having a hard time in building a bridge across the river at its town. Some day, Bro. Morgan, your untiring efforts will be rewarded with that bridge. You have wonderful sticking abilities for a worth-while object.

Down in Salem politics is running wild, and some near-statesmen are being left out in the cold. Gov. Pierce is certainly showing the office-seeker that he has ideas of his own as to who should be placed in responsible positions. He is making good, we think.

Commissioner Thoms is getting started on road work now and we may hope to get better service hereabouts in the future than in the past. He has caused the road to West Scio to be scraped once, and it is to be gone over again soon, thus eliminating a few of the thousands of chuck holes along the route.

The Halsey Enterprise is having an awful time in convicting those union men back in Illinois for what it knows was pure and unadulterated murder. The Enterprise ought to know more about the conditions there than did the court and the jury which tried those self-same union men, and which freed the union men of the charges against them. But probably it takes a paper a long ways from home to dare and do—print the unvarnished truth about an unknown thing. The men whom he wants convicted were charged with the Herrin massacre last summer, but the jury and the court which tried them found them not guilty. Why it should away out here in Oregon carry on to such lengths, we don't know. The court ought to know, and having settled the matter, it should be ended.

Much interest is being aroused over the commission bill as introduced by Senator Hall and just amended by him. This bill gives the governor full control in the appointment of his commissioners, and if he should be of the kind that believes in building up for himself a stronghold on the office, it will be the straw to break the camel's back. But if he be the kind that wants to give the people an honest administration, rather than entrench himself, it will be much better form of government than we now have. If this bill is to pass the senate and house, and to save the embarrassment that will follow, make the term of the governor six years, and but one term to be served. This will most surely eliminate a stronghold by an unscrupulous governor. We have no fear that Gov. Pierce would do this thing, but some there are who would.

Howdy friends. A woman is going to marry the man that shot her. Revenge is sweet.

A local character says some people are absolutely punctual in being late.

The man who can't get his wife's attention any other way will find that he is most successful if he talks in his sleep.

"I wish you'd send a large mouse trap to my house."

"Yes sir, and who is it for?"

"Don't be silly, young man; it's for the mice, of course."

Ira Bilyeu says sunshine ought to begin where the honeymoon leaves off.

A burglar entered the residence of a country editor in Iowa. The burglar managed to save his underclothes to escape in.

The other day two women, one of whom was very deaf, were walking by the railway. Suddenly an express train rushed by, and as it passed the engine gave a double shriek that seemed to rend the sky. The deaf one turned to her friend and remarked with a happy smile: "That's the first cuckoo I've heard this year".

County Assessor Giddings has compiled figures showing the extent of millage for roads in Linn county, and anyone interested in the matter can secure a copy by asking for it. The county court has provided for a road program totalling $336,422.40 for the year 1923.

Saturday produced enough weather to satisfy every inhabitant in the Willamette Valley. First it rained, then it hailed, sleeted, snowed and late in the afternoon the sun came from its hiding for a few moments. Some day!

Several of the local merchants report Saturday as one of the best business days they have enjoyed in a long time. Those who regularly advertise are the ones who notice the great increases in the day's receipts.

B. Yscamer and T. J. Koebler, of Portland, and Geo. Cramer, of Brownsville, were here Friday looking over the Scio Mill & Elevator Co.'s plant, with a view of making some extensive improvements therein.

Frank Barto, jr., spent Saturday afternoon and Sunday in the woods east of town hunting for the festive "coon," the kind that is good to eat. We did not learn whether he secured many of them or not.

The health officers of Albany reports two cases of small pox one case of whooping cough in that city.
