SANTIAM FARM NEWS

May 22

G. L. Sutherland and dear wife made the Santiam Farm a pleasant visit Sunday, having a fine time. Late in the afternoon Ardell Brock and Miss Bonnie Sutherland drove in to escort their parents to their home.

Clarence Lovejoy and wife of Dallas pulled in Saturday afternoon to spend Sunday with the old folks.

Mrs. Martha Smith of Lebanon came in Friday for a few days' visit with her sister, Mrs. S. W. Gaines. She had been visiting in Scio with her sister, Mrs. Rebecca Morris, and sister-in-law, Mrs. Eliza Crabtree.

George Griffin called in Sunday to enjoy our camping, eating a few bites of roughness.

Elmer Griffin called in at a late hour Sunday. As dinner was over, he had to make out with eating the scraps.

Santiam Farm is billed for a full house next Sunday, the 27th. John Swan and wife of Portland, Delbert Yergan and wife of Butteville are on the list; Clarence Lovejoy and wife of Dallas are enrolled, and Geo. Griffin is expected as a guest. Dinner will be served with boiled potatoes and a few rhubarb tops, pepper sauce and "binky" milk.

The Scio hotel was well represented Sunday at the Santiam Farm, as Landlord Chandler, Mrs. Fuller and daughter, her nephew and niece, called in for a supply of vegetables and a square meal of strawberries, as it was the first of the season. We all enjoyed ourselves similar to a drunken negro at a dance.

M. C. Gaines and his clerk of Crabtree called Saturday to see if his father was still alive as he had not seen him the past month.

The old man is having a time with the woolly aphid; had to whitewash all my peas Monday with airslacked lime. Quite a job, as he has out a fine lot just beginning to bloom.

Uncle George Bilyeu and wife of Scio called in Monday afternoon for an old-fashioned time and recruit up on a supply of onion seed.

Our milk hauler had quite a time near Elmer Griffin's Monday, as he ran off the grade on his return trip, miring up to the hub. Two hours to prize out, as he looked back to see if he was losing some of his cans.

Elmer Griffin is preparing his garden. He makes regular trips to Scio. I fear he has a few strings of wool in his teeth, I am not able to tell without my specks. He is on the lookout for some widow who wants a good home.

Military Tournament

Three Army airplanes from Vancouver, Wash., will carry news of the military tournament at O. A. C. May 26 over the Willamette valley, sowing handbills in every town Friday and Saturday, May 25 and 26. Requests for 12 large battle planes to take part in the night sham battle on the outskirts of Corvallis have been sent to the headquarters of the 9th Corps area in San Francisco. If dispatched, the planes will leave Crissey field, San Francisco, in time to arrange landing places near Corvallis, so night landing will be possible.

Outgrowing the armory, the military tournament will be put on from 7 to 10 o'clock in Bell field, with flood lighting from the tops of the great grandstand on the west, and the bleachers on the east. The huge smooth football gridiron will furnish an excellent footing for the horses in the mounted events, and the seating accommodations will take care of the thousands of visitors pouring in from over Oregon and southern Washington.

All combatant branches of the army will take part, and pyrotechnics will light the heavens like day for the spectacular charges and counter attacks, is the word coming from the college city.

High School Notes

May 23

A very interesting program was furnished by the Shelburn school for the benefit of the parent-teachers' meeting at the school house last Thursday evening. The officers for the parent-teachers' Association for the coming year were elected as follows: Mrs. John Sims, president; Miss Elsie Limbeck, secretary; Rebecca Morris, chaplain; and Mrs. J. W. Miller, treasurer.

A number of High School students attended a party given at the home of Harold Reiley last Thursday evening.

The Eng. III class are all working hard on their book reports in order to get them in before the close of school.

A test was given in economics Monday morning.

Several High School students attended the play, "The Gypsy Rover", at Crabtree, Friday evening.

Play practice on the three short plays is progressing nicely. They will be given May 29th.

The physical training classes cleaned the school ground Monday.

A test was given in English III Wednesday.

Rev. Parker gave an interesting talk on birds to the students of the school Monday morning. He had with him some specimens of birds, among which were the mocking bird, grosbeak, oriole, and the american dipper.

He also gave an illustration of natural and intelligent selection, showing that intelligent selection is superior to natural selection.

The Cantata, presented by the pupils of the grades under the direction of their teachers, Misses Wirth, Eckert and Skei, was given before a small audience Friday night. Twenty dollars was realized and turned over to the gym fund. This was greatly appreciated by the Student Body.

A big Carnival dance will be given in the gym Saturday night, June 2nd with many special features.

Don't forget the dates, May 29 and June 2nd.

Mrs. E. H. Hobson and Misses Vella Brenner and Dorris Weddie attended the show in Salem Friday night. They say they arrived in time to see the first show, but the crowd was so large they could not gain admittance until the second show. We imagine such a sight in Scio might give John Wesely a stroke of apoplexy.

On Tuesday evening at the St. Francis hotel in Albany the boy scout councils from Brownsville and Albany and a representative from Halsey met to perfect the council organization for the county.

Mrs. June M. Page, a former resident of Albany, was fatally injured in an automobile accident in Eugene Saturday evening. She died two hours later without regaining consciousness.

W. E. Evans of the Tennessee district suffered a badly wrenched and dislocated right arm last Monday while cranking his tractor.

Mrs. E. V. Hudkins, aged 72, died at her home in Albany Monday morning following an illness of several years.

Walter Barton, aged 55, died of heart trouble at his home near Shedd Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Polly Scott of Waterloo celebrated her 74th birthday May 13th.

Wire Fencing

Colorado Special

A few simple truths that tell the superiority of Colorado Wire Fencing:

First: Made from a springy wire, sufficiently hard and yet pliable enough to be easily spliced by the fence builder.
 Second: The life of the wire fencing is in the galvanizing. Every wire in Colorado Fencing is smoothly and evenly coated with the best quality of spelter zinc that money can buy.

Third: The lock joint, the ingenious construction of the knot that joins the bars together; no chance for slipping or sliding.

Fourth: The tension curve, which is placed in the line wires at regular intervals, has a perfect triple curve and not simply a crimp.
