Oregon Made Home Knitting Yarns

A great surprise for the home knitters of Oregon, but still a fact. Furthermore, this yarn is absolutely virgin wool yarn; the wool was grown in Linn county, sold by Mr. Sanders to the Oregon Worsted Company (mills located at Sellwood), made into worsted yarn by Roy T. Bishop, son of C. P. Bishop, proprietor of the Woolen Mill Store of Salem. Oregon knitters try this yarn out. All colors. 45c per ball of 2 ozs. Samples sent on application. Address C. P. Bishop, Box 75, Salem, Oregon.

It is all right to hit a fly when he is down.

Some neighbors will take anything except a hint.

The peak of prices means the part you stuck with.

The picnic season has started. Buy an umbrella.

Many an amateur gardener grows nothing but disgust.

It's dark and dreary weather. With lots and lots of rain. If conditions don't get better, We'll all have financial pain.

Everybody is good at whooping it up for improvements of a nature that don't require any effort on their part; but if it does, they are absent—nobody home, either for work or a little help financially.

The editors of the state have been especially invited to meet President Harding in Portland on Wednesday, July 4. Some honor, we'll say, and one most editors will accept. Portland ought to have the biggest influx of people in its history.

The big fight at Shelby, Mont., on the Fourth is attracting world-wide attention. With this big event has come a remarkable growth and a prominence to Shelby that was unknown. It is publicity and a pulling together of the business men and the farmers that are responsible for this, and shows what can be done when all are pulling together and not apart.

News From Lyons.

June 26

Mr. D. C. Abels was quite sick several days this week.

Mrs. A. Beaver and Mrs. Clyde Sherman of Dallas were week-end visitors at the home of their parents, the H. Sheltons.

Willis Brown had the misfortune to break his arm while cranking his Ford one day last week.

Our good roads are coming right along under supervision of the state road builders and John C. Penland. The grade work is well under way and it is understood it is to be a state project to continue on to completion, regardless of the cost.

Mrs. J. H. Johnston and children returned home Sunday after visiting a week in Lacombe at the Clyde Thomas home.

The community auction sale to be held in Lyons on Saturday, June 30, promises to be a success. The ladies club will serve dinner at the community hall at noon. Everything from a phonograph to a Jersey cow has been listed and people in general are taking quite an interest. F. N. Woodry of Salem has been secured as the auctioneer. Come, be with us, and buy what you want. Get a good dinner and go home happy. Proceeds of dinner go to the M. E. minister's salary. Mrs. Ed Tuseck and Caddie Martin are visiting in the Rose City. O. M. Baker, car dealer at Kingston, has been quite busy on professional business in our vicinity the past week.

Mrs. J. W. Lucius and children of Bermidji, Minn., who have been spending four months with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Munkers, left for their home on Wednesday of last week.

George Gardipie of Gates was crushed to death Monday while working in the woods. A large log fell from a spar tree impaling him on the stub of a maple tree which pierced through his bowels.

While working with the insulation on the high power line at Harrisburg last Saturday, Floyd McKamey, age 25, was instantly killed when he came in contact with two live wires, thus causing the high voltage to pass through his body.

Mrs. Joe Munkers received word last week that her sister, Mrs. Julia Hendricks, who lives in Red Bluff, Calif., was in a critical condition in a hospital in Oakland from a stroke of paralysis. Mrs. Hendricks will be remembered by many people here as she visited relatives in Oregon several years ago.

The largest industrial deal in recent years in this part of Linn county was consummated last Friday when the Lebanon light and water plant was sold to the Mountain States Power Company, owners of a large group of public utility plants in Oregon, Washington and Idaho. The deal involves property valued at about $100,000.

Mrs. Mary E. Quigley feels many years younger these days, and it's because her friends (young and old) did not forget her birthday. She is affectionately called "grandma," having passed the three score and ten mile post. The Sunday school presented her with two beautiful handmade handkerchiefs, besides receiving 45 birthday cards.

Mrs. Christina Esson, mother of Rev. Albyn Esson, passed away in Oregon City June 16th. Mrs. Esson came to Oregon in 1852 with her parents, who settled on Howell Prairie. Her married life was spent on the homestead near Gervais, where her family was born and raised. The funeral was held Sunday at the old Pioneer church near Gervais.
