County Paragraphs

Edited from our exchanges by
Mrs. L. V. McAtee

W. H. Ridgeway and family of Albany returned home Friday from a trip across the continent in their auto to visit relatives. They drove from Portland, Oregon to Portland, Maine, a distance of 3790 miles in 13 days. They returned by way of Minneapolis and way points, a distance of approximately 4,000 miles. They found the poorest roads in Nebraska and the best in Ohio. At one place they passed 11 big automobiles mired in the mud. They report various crop conditions with wages high and labor scarce. At Java, S. Dakota, five families are starting for Oregon this week. Mr. Ridgeway says Oregon is the best state in the union with Ohio second.

A little over $30 was realized from the sale of the equipment of the defunct Crawfordville high school, Tuesday, according to report made by Mrs. Edna Geer, school superintendent.

Mrs. Sarah S. Ross, 87, died at her home in Albany Friday night. She was a direct descendent of John Alden, and was a member of a family that has entered warriors in every war in the history of the united states. She had six grandsons in the late world war.

It is estimated that fall wheat in the Harrisburg community will yield about 18 bushels to the acre.

Paving on Pacific Highway is now completed to Harrisburg, thus giving a completed highway from Harrisburg to Portland, except a short distance between Shedd and Tangent and it is said this will be finished in a short time.

R. M. Smith and wife have just recently made the trip from eastern Oregon to Albany, coming over the Santiam Pass from Bend. Mr. Smith is of the opinion that this is the most logical route crossing the mountains, and thinks it should be improved to meet the conveniences of travel.

Arrangements for the opening of the Shedd community fair on Sept. 1 are about completed.

Peter Masterson of Brownsville celebrated his 89th birthday last Wednesday. He has been in Oregon 59 years and no one in the city is older or has lived there for a longer time.

The 77th birthday anniversary of D. P. Mason, Albany pioneer druggist, was celebrated by a banquet at the hotel Albany, followed by a reception at his home last Wednesday evening. Mr. Mason entered the drug business in Scio when a young man.

Mrs. Adeline A. McClung, 85, of Albany who injured her hip by falling from a chair at the home of her stepdaughter in Woodburn last Sunday, died at a hospital in Albany Friday night.

Dr. Bruce Miller of Lebanon sustained a sprained hand and several bruises when the airplane which he and Dr. Langracker recently purchased crashed to the ground one evening last week. It fell a distance of 75 feet.

The seven silver loving cups which are to be given as prizes for the best exhibits at the Linn county fair have been received. Cups will be awarded for the best fat hog weighing over 200 pounds, the best Jersey herd, the best Jersey female, the best commercial female, the best poultry exhibit, and the best four lambs.

The style show at the Linn county fair promises to be a drawing card. Approximately all the shops in Albany dealing in wearing apparel have now entered. The latest fashions in both womens' and mens' clothing will be shown on a 100-foot platform in front of the grandstand, and it will be especially lighted and decorated for the occasion.

The Salem Cherrians accompanied by the band will attend the Linn county fair on Wednesday, September 5.

GILKEY STATION

Aug. 20

Mr. and Mrs. William Sellman of Fresno, California, came last week to visit Mrs. Sellman's mother, Mrs. A. Mitchell.

Mrs. Rose Beckwith of Sheridan has been spending a week at the John Shepherd home.

Frank Bartu has been substituting on route no 4 the past week, while carrier Rolla Shelton was taking a vacation.

A weenie roast was held at the Oak View school house Saturday evening by a jolly crowd of young people.

Mrs. Etta Stevenson of Beowall Nevada, arrived several days ago, for a visit with her sister, Mrs. J. H. Kelly.

I. M. Holt, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Gilkey and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Gilkey attended the funeral of Moyer Ewing in Scio Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Whetstone of Albany, are the proud parents of a daughter, born Sunday, August 19. The little one will carry the name of Mary Elizabeth through life, for her grandmother Mrs. I. M. Holt. She will be called Mary Beth for short.

Quite a large delegation came over from Crabtree Wednesday evening to talk to the people of district no 10 about consolidating with the Crabtree union high school.

S. B. Holt and Leonard Gilkey have a crew picking evergreens this week.

Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Crenshaw and family visited at Jay Crenshaw's at Dever Sunday.

Dinner guests with Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Holt Sunday were: Will Moore Kelly and Aileen, of Salem, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Jones and Harry of Stayton, and Master Jack Kelly of Scio.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kelly of Lebanon visited J. H. Kelly's Sunday.

A crowd from here picnicked on the S. P. Crenshaw place Sunday.

When the party who held a reunion with the C. E. Hunt family in Scio last Tuesday was returning home, a wheel broke down on one of the cars as they turned a corner in front of Leonard Gilkey's. They were detained there while some of the crowd went to Lebanon for another wheel. It was about 10 o'clock when they were able to resume their journey.

S. B. Holt's, Will Weinberg's and Herman Zellar were at Dever Sunday.

S. P. Crenshaw left Tuesday for his old home in eastern Oregon. He went with L. A. Miller of Crabtree, who also formerly lived there. They went on a visit.

Mrs. R. V. Coombs was a Jordan shopper Thursday.

Mrs. T. Hilger and children drove to Lyons Thursday to do some shopping.

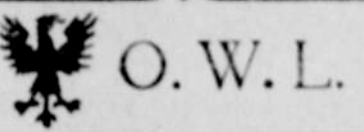

Mr. Steinbrenner, who is helping at the mill, is boarding at Jake Wortman's at present.

OWL-LAFFS

(On With Laughter)

Hello, folks! Every man should keep a fair-sized cemetery to bury the faults of his friends.

We are seldom too tired to do what we want to do, but often faint with exhaustion at the mere thought of doing something we do not want to do.

With $50,000 in a village he is a prominent citizen; in a fourth-class city he is a mere individual; in a metropolis he is traffic.

A groceryman ought to be able to select a good date.

A Kansas woman shot her husband whom she mistook for a mule. A perfectly natural mistake. Wonder more of them don't.

Walt Mason says: "Oh, every fly that skips our swatters will have 5,000,000 sons and daughters and countless first and second cousins; of aunts and uncles scores and dozens, and fifty billion nieces — So KNOCK the blamed thing all to pieces." And isn't it the truth? All together, swat, swat, SWAT!

Some people can't seem to understand why Col. Harvey has not let his whiskers grow. King George wears a beard.

A New York juror says he spurned an offer of a thousand-dollar bribe. Folks may knock the big town, but it contains few pikers.

Each nation, it appears, trusts in God. Now all that is needed is for them to trust in one another.

"Man is like a tack, thinks an observer—useful if he has a good head on him and is pointed in the right direction, but even though he is driven, he can only go so far as his head will let him."

The man who expects his children to support him in his old age is working up a serious disappointment for himself.

Crisis: The deadlock that ensues when two diplomats are grabbing for the same plum.

A Kansas judge has ruled that a bad check is good if it is given in a poker game.

While it is certain that the rains have materially interfered with the production of crude oil, it is equally as evident, that the consumption of gasoline has also been greatly curtailed.

My girl went away last week but she didn't go where I told her to.

JUST WHAT WE MAKE IT

Some people get tired of this life and just fall asleep, while others hurry the end along with the use of a pistol, knife or a bit of poison. But it's a good old world after all, and it uses the most of us as we use it—in short, this life is just what we make it. Most people are satisfied with a fighting chance, while others are satisfied with a chance of fighting.

One comforting thing about being poor — no Chinese bandits are going to capture us, nor will we ever be stung by a heathen fly at an Egyptian tomb!

MY GIRL

She's got dimples
And pretty hair
The cutest eyes
And skin so fair
When she passes
People stare
We wanted a boy
But we don't care.
As long as we didn't get twins.
