Oregon Made Home Knitting Yarns

A great surprise for the home knitters of Oregon, but still a fact. Furthermore, this yarn is absolutely virgin wool yarn; the wool was grown in Linn county, sold by Mr. Sanders to the Oregon Worsted Company (mills located at Sellwood), made into worsted yarn by Roy T. Bishop, son of C. P. Bishop, proprietor of the Woolen Mill Store of Salem. Oregon knitters try this yarn out. All colors. 45c per ball of 2 ozs. Samples sent on application. Address C. P. Bishop, Box 75, Salem, Oregon.

PULLING TOGETHER

Any town or any community that doesn't pull together doesn't accomplish results these days. It takes united action to build towns and cities. Oftimes individual ideas must give way to the will of the majority. Right at the present time Scio people are moving as a unit and the town is growing faster and property enhancing more rapidly than ever before.

UP TO THE TIMES

A newspaper may boom a town through its editorial and news columns, but a critical investor takes his cue from the advertising columns for substantial evidence as to the thrift and prosperity of the place. To him the advertising is the barometer that measures the prosperity of a town. The ads reflect a prosperous condition and tell him that the place is up with the times in business.

Making Sugar

"Raising cane" and then crushing the juice out of it and making it into pure white granulated sugar is one of the latest subjects to be portrayed on the educational motion-picture screen by the United States Department of Agriculture. The new film is one reel long.

The film was made in Louisiana, where nine-tenths of America's 250,000-ton cane sugar crop is produced. The Bureau of Chemistry and Plant Industry cooperated in producing the film.

Growing 16,000,000 tons of sugar beets and manufacturing 1,000,000 tons of beet sugar annually is the latest activity of agricultural production featured on the educational silver sheet by the United States Department of Agriculture. The Government film is titled, "Beets From Seed to Sugar Bowl," and is one reel in length.

The picture tells the story of America's beet sugar and sugar beet industries from the planting of the seed through the various cultural harvesting practices, and carry and on into the sugar factory showing the various steps in the manufacture and refinement of beet sugar. The photography was done in a beet growing center of the mid-west and in a modern beet-sugar factory.

"Beets from Seed to Sugar Bowl" will be loaned, free except for transportation charges, which borrowers will be required to pay both ways. Authorized persons and institutions may purchase prints at the manufacturing cost.

HOW TO SAVE MONEY WHEN SHOPPING

By MRS. HARLAND H. ALLEN

HOW TO BUY YOUR FACE VEIL

Strangely enough, it was a man, a man milliner, who initiated me into the knowledge of veil buying. "There is no detail of a woman's dress that, as a rule, she buys so unintelligently, and adjusts so clumsily as she does her face veil," he discoursed, as he stood behind the triple mirror and watched the saleswoman drape one filmy cloud and then another across my hat brim. "And yet the whole effect of a smart street costume can be made or marred by this accessory. If a veil is dainty, delicate, and becoming, it can cover a multitude of sins," he hinted, more purposefully than gallant. I must admit.

Perhaps a few suggestions about veils, as he gave them to me, may help you make your next one look better and last longer.

If you are a large woman, with pronounced features, you may select veils with striking patterns and look very well in them. But haven't you often seen a small woman with delicate features almost hidden under the heavy patterns that would have been very becoming to her larger sister! If you have dainty, small features, you should choose a veil with a small, delicate design.

And again, when you want a veil to go with a small, close-fitting hat, choose a single-mesh veil; while with a large hat, where the brim is further away from the features, the more figured patterns are quite smart and attractive.

Care must be used when selecting a veil that contains spots or large figures that these are placed so they do not hurt the eyes. If the figures are placed far enough apart, the veil can always be adjusted so that the spots do not come directly in front of the eyes.

If you want a filmy veil, you must expect to pay enough to get a really fine mesh. Those made out of stiffened cotton are cheaper, but the sticky dressing soon comes off, and then the veil easily crumples and tears. Some women plan to buy these cheaper veils, wear them a few times, and throw them away. But the better veils cost only about twice as much, while they wear three or four times as long.

Having selected your veil carefully, learn to take care of it. Don't leave it on your hat for days together. Pinning the veil over a pasteboard roll will keep it from getting stringy.
