

COOLIDGE ASKS NATION TO OBSERVE "GOLDEN RULE SUNDAY" ON DEC. 2

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

Dear Short Relief,
131 Fifth Avenue,
New York, N. Y.

Enclosure 1 -

It is with a good deal of satisfaction that I commend your proposal to observe an International Golden Rule Sunday, on the second of December, 1922. I feel sure that this suggestion will meet with very widespread approval and will bring more closely to mind the charitable requirements of those who are prosperous to those who are in adversity. It suggests not only a practical method for help, but the highest expression of sympathy by sharing for a time the privations of others.

Sincerely yours,

Calvin Coolidge

The plans for the observance of Golden Rule Sunday call upon the people of America to serve a menu in their homes similar to that served in the orphanages in the near east, the difference in cost of the orphanage menu and the ordinary meal to be contributed to orphanage work overseas. The observance is very appropriately fixed for the Sunday following Thanksgiving. Having on Thursday partaken from well-laden tables as a token of rejoicing in the prosperity of America, it is fitting that on the following Sunday people give special consideration to the needs and distress of those who are less highly favored.

REFUGEE MEAL FOR AMERICANS

RELIEF HAS SAVED MILLION

People of All Nations Will Figuratively Gather Around Same Table as Practical Sign of Sympathy With Near East Sufferers.

How many comfortably fed, clothed and housed Americans will sit down to a Sunday dinner of rice, corn grits and soup—typical orphan fare—on December 2, as a practical test of the golden rule?

The question is asked today by Charles V. Vickrey, general secretary of Near East Relief, who is in charge of the plans for the general observance throughout the United States of "Golden Rule Sunday." In an interview, Mr. Vickrey said:

"If American people will renounce for one meal the food they are accustomed to eat, and contribute the difference in cost to the support of starving children in the near east, the situation in Greece, Armenia and Palestine will become infinitely more real to them."

"I have recently returned from several months in those countries. America is a name to conjure with there. Bitter reproaches are heard against nearly every other country, but none against us. That is because people realize that Americans have gone to them with a helping hand and a square deal, rather than with the mailed fist."

"America could well have afforded to have spent every penny of her relief funds as a long-sighted, cold-blooded business proposition. The good will that has resulted from relief work in the near east is of incalculable value. When these orphans we are caring for today grow to manhood, they will become the leaders of the nations and their eyes will turn toward America."

"At least a million persons in the near east would not be alive today had it not been for American aid. Even today, 100,000 persons are being cared for day to day by the Near East Relief, mostly women and children who would probably perish in a few days or weeks if the work ceased."

"Our workers are now concentrating not only on the physical care of our 50,000 orphans, but on their industrial training as well. At the age of 16, when an orphan leaves our care, he is equipped to enter some useful trade or business. In Narazeth there are boys working in our carpenter shop a few feet from the spot where Christ toiled. In Macedonia, hundreds of Greek orphans are learning farming in the atmosphere where Paul spent many years in establishing the first European churches."

"Five dollars a month provides food and physical necessities for an orphan, and $100 a year provides for his education as well. The observance of Golden Rule Sunday by a million American families will provide enough funds for thousands of orphans."

"When people break bread together, they become friends. On this International Golden Rule Sunday people of all nations figuratively will gather around the same table partaking of the same food representing the menu which the unfortunate children of the near east hope, by the benevolence of the West, to eat 365 days in the year. But even this simple menu the orphans cannot have unless the rest of the world practices the Golden Rule."

Real Estate Changes Hands

Real estate turned over the past few days is evidence that the real estate business, is at least holding its own in this community.

Joe Boyanovsky traded his farm formerly the J. B. Couey ranch east of town to Fred Buchanan, who recently traded his property at Lone with Antone Holub. Mr. Boyanovsky gave $3000 difference in the consideration of the two places.

Ethel Arnold sold his 40 acre farm at west Scio to Marion Arnold who, then traded for Eugene property with Geo. Christenson. Marion Arnold has traded most of his real estate holdings for property in Eugene.

I. Hoagland bought the Roy Shelton property where J. B. Couey now lives. Mr. Hoagland expects to move the house over and build a cement building where the house now stands.

Rich Coat of Pile Fabric

High pile fabrics have a luxurious quality that charms the eye, and a light warm, soft touch that endears them to their wearers. They appear in many variations, in the new coats for winter, almost always accompanied by collar and cuffs, and sometimes trimmings, of fur. A rich example is pictured in dark brown with fox collar and cuffs. It fastens with a handsome clasp and is lined with plain crepe.

Rich Millinery for Matrons

In gorgeous velvets and glowing colors these handsome hats, for matrons, express the dignity, poise and sophistication that enrich middle life. The hat at the top is skillfully draped with Lyons velvet, extended into loops, and finished with long, decorative pins. Fanne velvet and brocaded silk are combined in the other hat, making a harmonious background for an ornament of iridescent sequins.
