

Oregon Made Home Knitting Yarns

A great surprise for the home knitters of Oregon, but still a fact. Furthermore, this yarn is absolutely virgin wool yarn; the wool was grown in Linn county, sold by Mr. Senders to the Oregon Worsted Company (mills located at Sellwood), made into worsted yarn by Roy T. Bishop, son of C. P. Bishop, proprietor of the Woolen Mill Store of Salem. Oregon knitters try this yarn out. All colors. 45c per ball of 2 ozs. Samples sent on application. Address C. P. Bishop, Box 75, Salem, Oregon.

HORSES BARRED FROM ASPHALT

Not so many years ago, "horseless carriages," as the first automobiles were called, were ordered off the streets of at least one Indiana City. Now the order has been reversed, for in Terre Haute horse-drawn vehicles are prohibited from using certain streets in the downtown district. Exception is made, however, for horse-drawn delivery wagons.

Trucks or wagons can not use any asphalt-paved street in Terre Haute except from the nearest intersection to the destination.

Lost.
He tried to cross the railroad track before the rushing train; They put the pieces in a sack. But couldn't find the brain.

Thick, indeed.
Magistrate—Have you anything to say before I pass sentence?
Burglar—Yus, m'lud—it's a bit thick bein' identified by a bloke wot kept 'is head under the bed-clothes the whole time.

In Auto Language.
Howell—What sort of a fellow is he?
Powell—He has six-cylinder tastes and a one-cylinder income.

WHY PNEUMONIA AND TUBERCULOSIS?

OREGON STATE BOARD OF HEALTH
In co-operation with
U. S. PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICE
Frederick D. Stricker, M. D.

Why should pneumonia and tuberculosis be reported? Why should any disease be reported? The laws of the State of Oregon and also of other states in the Union require that all kinds of communicable diseases be reported to the health officer. The list of reportable diseases is found in the rules and regulations of the State Boards of Health of the respective states. This list is remarkably uniform in all the states and includes the respiratory diseases such as pneumonia and tuberculosis.

The necessity of reporting eruptive fevers such as smallpox, scarlet fever, measles and chickenpox has been generally recognized. The necessity for reporting pneumonia and tuberculosis is not quite so apparent. The onset of these diseases is more insidious and their spread is consequently less alarming. It is only recently that the true nature of pneumonia and tuberculosis has been recognized. Pneumonia was supposed to be caused by exposure to cold and tuberculosis was supposed to be inherited. It is now known that both of these are infectious.

As pneumonia and tuberculosis are communicable diseases they should be reported. The control of infectious and communicable diseases depends upon the knowledge of when, how, and where they occur. This knowledge depends upon reports received by the health officers. While the quarantine of these diseases is modified, it is now recognized that frank cases of pneumonia and open cases of tuberculosis are dangerous to the public and should be isolated.

In reporting your cases of pneumonia and tuberculosis you are therefore rendering service in the control of disease and the reduction of death and disability in your community.
