SOME SMILES

WEST POINTER

There was some complaint during the war that the professional West Point soldiers had a monopoly on the safe, soft jobs. Apropos, a West Pointer, resident in Philadelphia, who has the rank of captain, said to his colored boy the other day: "Well, Jake, it looks as if we might have another war soon. What will you do when hostilities break out?" "Ah guess Ah'll stay right here at home wid you, sah."

Consolation in Jail. "There's one consolation in being in jail," said the prisoner to the visiting commissioner. "What is that?" "There's nobody to wake you up in the middle of the night to tell you to go down and be sure the back door's locked!"

A HIGH OLD TIME
"You've been having a high old time for two weeks?"
"Yep; just back from the mountains today."

So It Goes.
He made a poor investment,
Misfortune took its toll.
He took it for an opening
But got into a hole.

Added Attractions.
Landlord—Yes, this house surely ought to appeal to any woman.
Prospective Tenant—In what way, low rents?
Landlord—No, it has mirrors on every wall.

Wise Postponement.
"I understand that Maud has recalled her wedding invitations."
"Yes, she has decided to postpone the wedding until the Christmas holidays are over and people have more money to buy presents."

Quick Thinking.
Citizen—That's my car. The thief is just fixing a blowout.
Policeman—All right, I'll go over and arrest him.
Citizen—Sh-h! Wait till he gets the tire pumped up.

LET HIM DROWN
Diner—There's a fly in this soup, waiter!
Waiter—Well, if he can't swim, sir, let him drown! He's a nuisance, I'll say.

Dr. A. G. Prill, Rolla Shelton J. S. Sticha and Ed. Myers attended a banquet at the St. Francis Hotel, in Albany Friday evening, given by the Santiam Fish and game Commission.
