Mary Harmon is very low with the measles.

J. B. Couey was in Albany Tuesday on business.

Little Helen Zavodsky is on the sick list with the measles.

Mrs. Fred Bilyeu transacted business in Albany Tuesday for the Ford Garage.

The Dreamland Six orchestra will give a dance at the Wesely hall Saturday night.

Time to spray with lime and sulphur. We have the best in bulk. J. F. Wesely's grocery.

Miss Lois Parrish returned Saturday evening from a short visit with Mrs. Julia Bilyeu in Kalama, Wash. She accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Hoagland there and returned with them.

J. D. Denamore was in Portland Friday and Saturday on business.

R. M. Cain was confined to his home the first of the week with what seemed to be the flu, but he is now on the road to recovery.

Frank Gill and wife were in Albany Monday on business with a dentist. Painful no doubt, but the remedy had to be taken, says Mrs. Gill, who was the victim.

Rev. F. B. Fellman has resigned the pulpit of the First Baptist church in Albany to take effect on Sept. 1. No information was given out as to the reason, and it is thought he will remain in Oregon.

Harrisburg had a sensation last Friday, when it thought it was a possessor for a short time of the Kelso, Wash. wife murderer. But as usual this was only a sensation and the murderer has been on the go ever since.

The dance at the Z. C. B. J. hall Saturday night was not well attended, and did not pay expenses. Excellent music was furnished by the Billy Kalina orchestra. It is said dances at this popular dance hall will be dispensed with for awhile in order to give the followers of terpsichore a rest.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Shanks, who have been employed by Wilbur Funk for the past year, have moved back to Shelburn. Mr. Shanks is employed at present at Mill City, in one of the lumber camps. Mrs. Shanks came Tuesday and ordered the paper changed to Shelburn instead of Jefferson, saying she could not get along without it. If we but had 1000 such readers, how happy we would be.

Floyd Shelton was in Stayton on business Tuesday.

Little Helen Myers is confined to her home with the measles.

Fred Bilyeu and wife were in Portland Tuesday and Wednesday on business.

John Shimanek found time to come to Scio Tuesday and called at the Tribune office.

Work on the spillway at the power plant has been completed and accepted by the city, and now practically all danger is eliminated there from floods.

Friday is Washington's birthday and the school will observe it with appropriate exercises. All who can should make it a point to attend. Show your interest in the best asset Scio has.

What does it mean? What will be the outcome of these weekly week end sojourns to Salem? Ask Henry. He left here Saturday P. M. wearing a prospective bridegroom smile, and has been smiling ever since.

Anton Holub, who lives at lone in Eastern Oregon, came down Monday with his mother, who has been visiting there since the family of Mr. Holub removed to lone last fall. Holub likes his new home and is looking fine.

I. V. McAdoo and wife and the latter's sister, Miss B. A. Whitecraft, motored through Marion, Polk, Yamhill and Washington counties Sunday, making a 190 mile trip. Some beautiful farm homes and little towns were seen, with fields green and farmers looking happy and contented, even though there is no money in the country.

Albany is negotiating with a pickle factory to locate there, and we hope the county seat will be successful. Linn county needs more such institutions to take care of the surplus stocks, and we know of no business that is so prolific as that of growing cucumbers. Another crop that ought to bear well and pay well along our river bottom is horse-radish, and probably this will become a part of the pickle concern when it gets to going.

John Eger has completed a new home on his farm, southwest of the city and is installing a Delco lighting system. He now has one of the best farm homes in this section, and says he sure appreciates it.

Enoch Shelton, who has been confined to his home for some time, was able to be down town last Thursday. Mrs. Shelton has been quite poorly for some time. This family is having more than their share of sickness this winter.

Mrs. F. B. Frost of Lebanon, mother of Floyd Shelton, continues to sink, and Monday suffered another stroke of paralysis. No hopes are entertained for her recovery. Mr. Shelton's family are about recovered from their sicknesses.

Dennis Watkins, who lives near Green's bridge, was in town Monday on business, and while here called at the Tribune office. Mr. Watkins seldom comes to Scio, and his friends here were glad to see him. He reports several cases of measles in his neighborhood.

Joe Patroy came into town Monday and said for the Tribune to stop the "cow for sale" ad he ran last week, as he had sold her. A reader living near Salem saw the ad and came with a truck Saturday for her, not having either called Joe or written him. We say this is some sale, and Joe is now a firm believer in advertising.

C. W. Hassler was in from his home in the Larwood district Monday and called at the Tribune office. Mr. Hassler says Lacombe is making great efforts to make the coming Community Club meeting there on March 3 the best ever. And he says Lacombe can do it. Of course everybody will want to be there, as it is also a part of the program for the Open Forum to be present.

Convene at Hillsboro

"Winning of Oleomargarine Fight" is the subject of an address before the state dairymen's association at Hillsboro February 27 by Walter M. Pierce, governor of Oregon. The oleo law has been attacked by the referendum route and the dairymen are upholding it as essential to their business.

In addition to securing this law by the association other activities of 1923 will be reported, says the secretary, P. M. Brandt of the state college dairy department, as follows: Filed with public service commission a protest against the high rates on hay, give hearings and assisted in getting reductions ordered.

Protested against the high freight and express rates on purebred livestock shipped in less than car lots for breeding.

Taken action against the proposed referendum on the oleo measure.

The welcome address will be given by the mayor of Hillsboro, the response by Mrs. Frank Lynn of Perrydale, J. J. Vankleek of Beaverton will give the annual address of the president. Land settlement and dairying will be discussed by A. S. Dudley of the state chamber of commerce; the dairymen's prospects and liabilities by J. D. Mickle, state dairy and food commissioner, and the findings of the agricultural economic conference by Professor Brandt. A banquet will close the first day proceedings.

A businessman's interest in dairying, by secretary Moore of the Hillsboro chamber of commerce; the county agent as a buffer, by O. T. McWhorter, and calf club work by F. W. Durbin of Salem, are second day features.
