came over Tuesday for a week's visit with her mother, Mrs. S. W. Gaines.

George Griffin made a horse trade with John Brock Monday, his first trade in years. Some body got left. He also killed a 200 pound corn fed porker for his own use. He will live high now.

Ed Kalina had bad luck losing one of his fine black horses worth $200, with kidney trouble.

James Milligan and wife and son, Willie, and Mr. Milligan's brother drove to Portland for the week-end.

George Bilyeu of Scio is out on his farm looking after his sheep. He has a fine lot of lambs, three ewes having nine lambs. It is fine weather for lambs.

The old man and good wife made a run Saturday for the River Side Inn, finding Mrs. Rebecca Morris as cozy as a bug in a rug and stocking up with a fine lot of hens; so she is as happy as 16 just looking out for a beau.

While Mr. and Mrs. Milligan were on their Portland trip their three daughters at home came near having a serious accident by the upsetting of a kerosene lamp and breaking it, but luckily it was extinguished in falling.

Mr. Prolaska who is living on the Birket farm has rented George Griffin's property in Lebanon and will soon move to it.

Rolla Griffin and wife and son intend pulling out from his father's house Monday for San Francisco as he does not like this section, as he is an old time Denverite.

$1,730 Needed

According to a survey prepared by Prof. Jesse M. Short of Reed college in Portland, the average family cannot live on a respectable social scale for less than $1,730 a year.

An annual budget of $1,730 would permit a family with three children under 14 years of age to live at an absolute minimum of comfort as regards health and decency, the report shows.

Following these figures showing a distribution of an income of $1,730 for a family with three children:

Food $432.81; clothing $413.24; furniture $98.34; cleaning supplies $23.04; rent $330; heat and light $85; school, papers, magazines, books, church, recreation, dues, charity, vacations, telephone, toys, dentistry and doctor $345.10.

Moreover it was shown that such a budget was merely for upkeep and did not provide for new purchases of furniture and other needs. In reply to questions as to how some workmen managed to own automobiles at low wages, Professor Short said that in such cases the family must do without necessities.

O.A.C. Farm Reminders

Move the brooder house on to clean ground. Coccidiosis, round worms and roup may be waiting for the chicks in last year's runs. It does not pay to treat chicks for these diseases, but it does pay to prevent them getting the diseases.

Scions for grafting may be collected now. One year old, healthy, vigorous, firm wood is best. They may be kept until used by burying in sawdust or slightly damp moss or by putting the bunches of cut ends in damp sand and wrapping the tops in a wet cloth.

A stunted yearling generally means a stunted mature horse. A growthy yearling does not require the feed and care afterwards that a stunted one does.

Leg weakness in young chicks is caused by poor ventilation in the brooder house, feeding for too rapid growth, lack of vigor in the breeding stock, lack of bone building material, and too close confinement on board or concrete floor.

Dog is Given Medal

Last summer G. F. Brazier and wife of Silverton, took a motor trip east, taking with them their collie dog, "Bob." In Indiana the dog got lost in some manner from his owners and they continued their trip without him. In December the dog returned to his home in Silverton.

Last Monday the Oregon Humane Society presented "Bob" with a silver medal appropriately engraved. The presentation was made in Eugene Field auditorium in Silverton, in the presence of the school children of that city, who unanimously voted "Bob" the freedom of the city streets at all times.

Silverton Plane Falls

Albert Larson, 23, and Leslie Godvier, 20 both of Silverton were instantly killed when a Curtis plane piloted by Larson crashed 500 feet to the ground after doing a nose dive. The machine caught fire as it struck, following an explosion of gasoline. Both men were killed as the machine struck. Their charred bodies were removed as soon as possible after the machine struck.

Larson is said to have attended an airplane school in Portland. He bought the plane about two months ago for the purpose of carrying passengers in Silverton and vicinity, which he had done for some time.

Installs Stayton Factory

Matt Mueller and Geo. Schleis have purchased a cheese making outfit and Mr. Mueller expects soon to have it in operation, but the location has not yet been decided upon. Mr. Mueller conducted a factory near Scio for a time but his plant was destroyed by fire. The Scio people would like to see him locate there again, but if he can receive the right encouragement he will locate in Stayton, as shipping facilities are much better. Mr. Schleis does not expect to be associated with him in manufacturing, but will assist in the book work, etc.—Stayton Mail.
