

GILKEY STATION

June 17

Mrs. J. S. Funk and Lila are in Corvallis, where they went a week ago Sunday. Mrs. Funk is visiting her brother and taking treatments, as she has been ill ever since she had the summer flu.

Mrs. S. B. Holt was elected director and Fred Sommer re-elected clerk at the school meeting Monday.

Mrs. Harry Johnston of Scio visited her sister, Mrs. R. H. McCarter, Saturday.

John Zeller of Buzzard Station was a visitor at the S. P. Crenshaw home Sunday.

Norman Garrison and wife of Salem visited at Leo Zeller's Wednesday. Mrs. Garrison visited her father again Monday.

It is reported that Charles Paine is very low at the home of his sister, Mrs. Scott Hawk. After his siege of typhoid he suffered a stroke of paralysis and other complications.

A good sized crowd attended the preaching service Thursday evening by I. W. Cooper of Albany. He will speak here again next Thursday evening.

A mistake was made unwittingly regarding the one who passed the highest here in the 8th grade. Mary Lois Goar carried off the honors instead of Helen Revel.

A. L. Tiedeman and children attended services here Thursday evening.

A Mr. and Mrs. Daugherty have come here from Texas and are living at Thomas for the present. Mr. Daugherty is a brother to the man by that name who has lived here for some years.

The following from here attended the big gathering at Providence Sunday: J. H. Kelly and wife, Richard Struckmeyer and family, W. R. Kelly, G. W. Smith, R. H. McDonald and family, Wilson Young and family, James Bilyeu and wife, Leonard Gilkey and family.

Mrs. John DeWall has an electric washing machine.

The Farmers Union people are getting ready for their convention to be held here Saturday. A good time is expected.

S. B. Holt and family and Fred Sommer and family hied themselves away early Sunday morning for Newport. The Holts also attended the Jersey picnic near Toledo. They took Ruth and Lois Wirt of Crabtree for the outing. The Sommer's were happily surprised to meet Chester Serfling and wife of Eugene at Newport. They report a good crowd and pleasant trip.

T. M. Holt and wife, S. B. Holt and family, John Shepherd and family, Mrs. Eldora Stewart, Hazel Young and Mrs. Ernest Kelly attended the Farmers Union picnic near Lebanon Friday.

Franklin Gilkey distinguished himself by winning a loving cup in the Sigma Delta Phi contest for having the most inches of news.

Mabel Zysset was home from Portland for the week-end.

Lona, Hazel and Arnold Zysset, Marian Gilkey and Opal Mespelt are attending summer school at Corvallis.

Will Holt was given a pleasant surprise Sunday honoring his 74th birthday, at his home with the J. G. Holt's. Thirty relatives were seated at the bounteous dinner served under the spreading branches of the big black walnut tree. A large birthday cake with candles forming 74 was a feature of the banquet. Here's hoping he will enjoy many more birthdays.

Frances Higginbotham has returned to Silverton, and Edna Serfling is now here visiting her sisters, Mrs. Prokop and Mrs. Kelly.

Mrs. J. G. Holt had a happy surprise Sunday afternoon when Will Moore and children of Salem came out bringing two nieces of Mrs. Holt—Mrs. Joe Kornik and son Carl of Pendleton and Mrs. Ed Sespac of Sedro Wooley, Wash. They are remembered here as the Queener girls of Stayton.

SANTIAM FARM NEWS

June 17

The community in general turned out to dedication of the monument honoring Rev. Joab Powell and the founders of the Baptist church at Providence. The crowd was the largest ever assembled there, estimated at 2000. The dedication was a grand success, the church was filled to overflowing, with two-thirds of the crowd outside. We enjoyed the old-time hymns, as in old times, favorites of Rev. Joab Powell, and was reminded of our boyhood days. We were glad to meet several old friends, but few of those of 60 years ago were present. The old man realized he was on the downgrade and could not reach the brake.

Curtis Griffin and wife of Los Angeles arrived at the Santiam Farm Wednesday for a rest and recreation with his mother, Mrs. S. W. Gaines, for two months.

Mrs. John H. Hartley, son and daughter of Shindler's Bridge called in Monday afternoon for some fresh peas.

Elmer Griffin returned to Salem Friday to take up his work at the Cottage Farm, after his 10-day vacation.

Hay cutting is now the order of the day, as it is light and drying up, as Sunday was six weeks without rain, making the longest early dry spell ever known in the Willamette valley, causing gardens to fail and cutting crops one-half to three-fourths. We are fearing corn and potatoes will be a failure if no rain by July 4th.

I met my nephew, Billy South, of Hamilton Creek at Providence last Sunday. He has been very unlucky as he had both legs broken, one of them twice, and otherwise mashed up. Saturday he was tackled by a male hog and came near being torn to pieces. He beat the animal with a club over the head some 30 blows, but was badly tusked and bitten. And still he never complains.

The Santiam Farm has a fine lot of Royal Ann cherries at 5c per lb., or 25c per gallon; also plenty of onions and some lettuce.

Ed Kalina, wife and son went up Monday and helped his brother-in-law, Ed Stepanek, put up hay, as it looked so much like rain.

The old man feels like the last rose of summer, as his legs have about gone back on him with weakness. So he hobbles around like a burned fool chick.

We are still threatened with rain, which we are anxious to see if our hay is out.

PIE EATER.

Doing Good Work

Since assuming the management of the 1924 Linn county fair, Leonard Gilkey has secured the pledge of 13 communities to hold local fairs and then have an exhibit at the county fair. Mr. Gilkey was in town Monday on his way to Lyons and Mill City to interest them in a community exhibit at the county fair. He feels sure he will have 16 or more communities exhibiting this year, and says he finds a most cordial feeling toward the county program to make the fair a real county institution.

If there is any one in the county who understands fair work and can make it a success, that one is Leonard Gilkey, and the fair board was wise in employing him.

We understand the premium list will be off the press this week and ready for distribution.

Byron Bates and family and Mrs. Carl Smith were shopping in Albany Tuesday.

Eugene Miller's health is not very good because of after effects of the flu.

A Halsey Orphan's Home

(We received this too late to publish last week)

Mrs. Martha J. Kayser, herself an orphan, and knowing the needs of such, has charge of an orphan's home in the postoffice building. With the sanction of County Clerk Russell and Rev. Robert Parker she, on Monday, June 16, assumed the care of Willie Wheeler, age 74.

Willie is the printer's devil (and everybody else) in the office of the Halsey Enterprise.

Mrs. Wheeler is well known in Lane county. After a year or two on a farm there she and Mr. Kayser conducted a general merchandise store at Elmira for 14 years. Selling out, they went to Cottage Grove, where Mr. Kayser died. Mrs. Kayser resided at Eugene for a time and for the last four years she has been at Redlands, California.

Mrs. Mikulka Passes

Mrs. Frank Mikulka, a former resident of Scio, died at her home in Tacoma last Thursday. The body was brought to Scio Saturday accompanied by the husband and son, Frank Jr., and his wife.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at Franklin Butte cemetery, conducted by J. F. Patry, and she was laid to rest beside her son who died several years ago.
