Community Club to Meet Monday Night

The first meeting of the Forks of the Santiam Community Club for the winter months will be held at Z. C. B. J. hall Monday night, Dec. 1, and it is expected there will be a large crowd present.

Two speakers have been invited to be present and address the assemblage, and their talks will be on subjects pertinent to community life and its betterment. The communities of Linn county are getting together in organizations as never before, and this means that community needs are going to be discussed and brought to fruition by a closer and better understanding.

One of the most pleasing numbers on the program will be a drill by the children of the Sokol athletic club, under the instruction of Walter Holechek. This drill was given at a recent entertainment here and was thoroughly enjoyed by all who saw it. Everyone in the community should try to be present and see how the children perform.

It is expected delegations will be present from Lacombe, Larwood, Lebanon, Albany and other points. There will be no dinner nor lunch at this time. The meeting will be called to order at eight o'clock.

They Got There—But

Wednesday night, Nov. 19, was a stormy night—everybody remembers that, but few know the hardships and dangers Dr. D. V. Poling and his choir of Albany took in going to Mehama to give the good people of that community an evening of rare music. The singers left Albany about six o'clock and didn't arrive until nine, but the people patiently waited for them to arrive. The generosity of Dr. Poling and his choir was greatly appreciated by Mehama, who hope they will return again when conditions of travel are not so dangerous. The choir arrived back in Albany at two a. m.

We understand Mehama is planning a big Christmas entertainment and tree for the 24th.

Former Resident Dies

Died, at the residence, 1313 Corbett street, November 19, J. Milton Meiklejohn, aged 59 years, beloved husband of Matilda L. Meiklejohn, of this city, father of A. J. Meiklejohn of Lincoln, Neb., Sidney, who is in China, and Clyde of Washington, D. C. Funeral services were held Saturday, Nov. 22, at 3 p. m., at the Seventh Day Adventist church at St. Johns. Interment was had in Rose City cemetery.—Oregonian.

Mr. Meiklejohn formerly lived in Scio and owned the property now owned by W. H. Bartlett, and had many friends here who will be sorry to hear of his death.

Today Is Thanksgiving

Today is Thanksgiving Day. It is only a national holiday by proclamation of the President of the United States and the Governors of the several States. It commemorates the arrival of a ship load of food at a crucial time when the colonists were about to starve. This event helped to keep the colonists together and eventually prosperity came to them.

This landing of the food-laden ship brought out a prayer of thanksgiving and we as a nation have been observing the day ever since. It is well that we should. This is a wonderful nation; our people are the happiest, most contented and prosperous of any peoples on earth. We should, therefore, pause on this day and give thanks to God for the many blessings of the year. Things have gone bad for many of us, to be sure, but they could have been worse.

Eat hearty of the national bird today, enjoy the companionship of your relatives and friends, and then face the future with a lighter heart.

Laundry in Operation

Wm. E. Bartlett is a hustler. He has abundant faith in Scio and her people, and in the great big community surrounding Scio. He is an inspiration. His example is worthy of following by all of us. He will win, if those who believe in doing things will give him a share of their patronage—and he deserves to win.

In connection with his cleaning and pressing he has installed a laundry equipment and has already done several washings, and gave complete satisfaction. He has established agencies in Lebanon, Stayton, Mill City, Lyons, Crabtree, Shelburn, Marion and other places. True, his work and his price must be as good as can be had elsewhere, and this he assures the public will be his best advertisement. His place of business is next to A. W. Hagey's jewelry store.

The Tribune wishes him success.

Districts Vote Road Funds

Reports of elections in five Linn county road districts were filed in the county clerk's office Monday. Only one district reported as not being in favor of a tax for improving its roads. Road district 8 near Brownsville voted 16 to one against a tax of $700. Road district 29 in which W. A. Gilkey is road supervisor, voted a $3,000 tax. District 28 in Spring Valley near Sweet Home voted a tax of $100. District 15, Scio, in which Riley Shelton is road supervisor, by unanimous vote, voted a $1,000 tax. District 35 at Gates voted $2,500.

District number 20 at Sodaville voted to raise $1,500 road tax. Several other districts will hold their elections this week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Johnston of Lyons were in Scio on business Saturday. Mrs. Johnston raises pure strain White Wyandotte chickens, and she says she gets better results from her advertising in the Tribune than from any other paper in which she advertises.

Red Cross Assists

It is important that all ex-service men and women who feel that they may be entitled to compensation under the Reed-Johnson Bill (World War Veterans Act of 1924) make immediate contact with the Local Chapter of the American Red Cross.

If claim for compensation on account of any one of five particular ailments is filed before January 1, 1925, the law presumes that the disease was contracted during service, carrying with it attendant advantages of compensation allowance. If filed after that date, service origin will have to be proven.

The five specific ailments mentioned in the law are—Neuropsychiatric disease, Paralysis Agitans, Encephalitis Lethargica (sleeping sickness), Amebic Dysentery and Tuberculosis, the latter alone not subject to rebuttal.

The general public is urged to advise Miss Mary Fake, ex-secretary of the Linn County Chapter, American Red Cross, of any ex-service man or woman, who might be eligible to these benefits, so that the services of the organization may be offered them.

Buys Shop Back

Wednesday morning C. E. Kendle announced that he had again become owner of the blacksmith shop which he sold to George Chapman about three months ago, taking possession that morning. It is said Mr. Chapman will soon leave the city, and we are sorry to lose this estimable family from our midst.

Mr. Kendle again takes the helm where he left off, and hopes to meet all his old patrons and make many more new ones. See his ad in another column.

Two Relatives Die

Mrs. Almira Pomeroy received word the last of the week of the death of her sister, Mrs. Robert Watkinson, and also of her niece's husband, Almond R. Campbell.

Mrs. Rebecca Watkinson passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. I. H. Berger, at Allen, Wash., on Saturday, November 8, at the age of 87 years.

Mrs. Watkinson was born in Missouri and came to Oregon in 1852. She went to Skagit county, Wash., in 1884, where she took up a homestead, and where she spent the remainder of her life. She is survived by six sons, two daughters, thirty-four grandchildren and forty-three great-grandchildren.

Almond R. Campbell passed away at Twin Falls, Idaho, on November 8, at the age of 73 years. He was married October first, 1890, to Miss Emma Wheeler of Scio, a daughter of E. Wheeler. (Mr. Wheeler opened the second store in Scio. It was on the corner of Main and Mill streets. The Wheelers built the first unit of the house which is now the home of Mrs. N. E. Gill.)

During the nineties Mr. Campbell engaged in work as a civil engineer in Oregon and Washington, and in 1904 he homesteaded on Minidoka project until about two years ago when he was appointed agricultural advisor at Fort Peck, Montana, Indian reservation. The family home at that time was moved to Twin Falls. Mr. Campbell was the first postmaster of Coeur d'Alene, Idaho.

Alumni Wins 28-3

There was a double header basketball at the gym Friday night, and everybody present got their money's worth. The first game was played by mixing the eighth graders in the high school team, and splendid talent was shown. They were designated as white and black, the colors of their uniforms, and the blacks won by a score 13-10.

The alumni easily defeated the high school team and proved they could keep their prowess and come back. The high school team is light this year, but they are active and keen. The score stood 28-3.

The game was staged at this time in order to raise money to buy a stove for the gym, which is surely needed.

Community Festival and Bazaar Is a Big Success

Ever since it was announced that the local Z. C. B. J. lodge was going to put on a community festival and bazaar at their hall, committees got busy and secured enough stuff to make the affair look like a county fair—chickens, ducks, geese, grains and hundreds of other articles composing the display and making purchasers eager to secure some of the merchandise.

The above but lightly touches the big doings which began Tuesday and ends tonight. The first 2 days were gala days for the promoters. They have worked hard and success is perching on their heads. Today is the closing day, and a big dinner at noon, with lots of fun and a dance at night will see a bunch of tired workers wending their way home for a well earned rest. Music for the occasion was furnished by the new band and the Kalina orchestra.

All who have attended are loud in their praise of the entertainment and the manner in which it is conducted.

Family Reunion

Sunday was a happy day at the George Morrow home, when their children and their families began arriving on Saturday and other relatives came in on Sunday. Monty Leslie had been duck hunting and had been quite successful, bringing an even dozen along for a big feed, which all enjoyed immensely. All had a fine time at home again. The following, besides Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Morrow, comprised the happy party: Mr. and Mrs. Monty Leslie and two boys, Cletus and George, of Eugene; Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Applegate, Mr. and Mrs. George Emmett, Mrs. Phoebe Baldwin, Mr. and Mrs. Mat Ingledinger, all of Portland, and Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Bilyeu of Scio.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy in our hours of sorrow for our dear one who has passed on, and we thank the singers and all who helped us lay our husband, father and brother away, and for the many beautiful flowers.
