Riddle-Kotan

The marriage on Christmas day at Albany of Miss Josie Kotan and Archie L. Riddle came as a surprise to their many friends, except relatives and a few intimates of the couple. Both parties are well known and highly esteemed. Mrs. Riddle was employed in the Hibler & Gill store for several years, and her winning smile and pleasing personality will be missed from her accustomed place behind the counter. Mr. Riddle is a successful farmer and poultryman, and they will make their home on the groom's farm 10 miles southeast of Scio.

Dr. W. H. Lee performed the ceremony, after which the newly weds went to Portland for a short honeymoon. They returned to Scio Monday evening, and a shower was given them at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Gill. Later in the evening the couple went to the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Anna Kotan, where they remained over night, and Tuesday took up their home in their own cozy nest.

With their legion of friends, the Tribune wishes much joy.

Visiting in California

Z. J. Clark and son Arthur, who live on route 1, left last week for a visit of several weeks in California with friends and in sightseeing. They will spend some time with the Hollis families, former residents here.

While away, his son, Glen Clark and wife, will have charge of the ranch. About two months ago Glen was married to a Corvallis girl, and on last Saturday night the young folks of the neighborhood gave them a charivari. Congratulations Glen, and may your married life be filled with continued happiness.

Stockholders Meeting

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Scio Mutual Telephone Co. will be held at the city hall in Scio on Saturday, Jan. 3, 1925 at 1 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of electing an operator for the ensuing year, and the transaction of any other business that may come before the meeting.

J. D. Danmore, Pres.
J. B. Couey, Sec.

Church Officers Coming

Rev. D. A. Thompson, D.D., superintendent of home missions for the Presbyterian church in Oregon, and Rev. J. R. Skinner, of the board of ministerial relief, will visit the church in Scio on Tuesday evening, Jan. 6th, at 7:30 o'clock. Church problems will be discussed that will be of interest to all, and everybody cordially invited to attend.

Christmas Party

Mr. and Mrs. P. H. McDonald were hosts to ten friends Christmas evening, bridge forming the entertainment. Mr. and Mrs. Myers were awarded the two high scores and Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Sticha the low scores. At the close of the games reasonable refreshments were served. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Prill, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Myers, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Sticha, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Holland, Mrs. A. W. Hagey, Mrs. M. B. Cyrus, and the hosts.

Shed and Auto Burn

Tuesday evening between seven and eight o'clock a shed and Chevrolet delivery auto on the Barrett place three miles north-east of Scio were burned. The fire is thought to have been started from a short circuit in the car as it was aflame when the fire was discovered. The place is occupied at present by Mr. Rawlings of Albany. The car was insured, but we were unable to learn if there was insurance on the building or other contents.

A Family Dinner

Several of the children of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Bilyeu with their families gathered at their home and enjoyed Christmas dinner.

Those present were: Lester Bilyeu and wife and son of Cut Bark, Montana; Byron Bilyeu of Junction City; Mrs. W. H. Small and daughter of Portland; Roy Thomas and family of Albany; E. L. Bilyeu and family of Scio; and Mrs. Bilyeu's sister, Mrs. Armetta Bare and son of Spokane, Washington.

Give Dinner Party

Misses Leta Couey and Hazel Philippi entertained a party of friends at a seven o'clock dinner at the Couey home Tuesday evening. Those present were: Harold Olson, Harold Brock, Raymond Downing, Claude Cox, Everett Pearson, J. B. Couey, and the Misses Hazel Philippi and Leta and Mildred Couey.

St. Johns Supper

The Masonic lodge held installation ceremonies and put on work in the first degree Saturday night.

After the work they enjoyed a St. Johns supper at Knights of Pythias hall, with their wives as guests. The Pythian Sisters served the supper.

Remodeling Lodge Hall

The Pythian Sisters are making some changes and improvements in Knights of Pythias hall. One partition is being removed to enlarge the banquet hall, and other changes are being made which will make the hall more convenient.

I. O. O. F. Attention

All members and visiting members of the I. O. O. F. are requested to attend installation exercises next Saturday night. Refreshments.

Drawing Was Success

With the sun shining bright, though cold, the largest crowd of people on a mid-week day invaded Scio on Wednesday last bent on Christmas buying and taking in the drawings for the prizes offered by the merchants. From every angle the day was a success—to the successful person, the merchant and the gloom dispeller, for everybody was happy.

Promptly at 10 o'clock a. m. the drawing started and resulted as follows:

Mat Doubeck drew the silver set at Couey's; W. F. Sommer the lamp at Morrison's; Sam Stoller the tire at Fred Bilyeu's; George Morgan the flour and feed at the Scio-Mill; Mrs. J. F. Sims the toilet set at Kelly's; Mrs. Anna Kotan the blankets at Gill's; Charles Karnosh the radio battery at Bartu's; Rudolph Wesely the spot light at the Scio Garage; Mrs. Frank Bartu the rocking chair at Cain's; Bartu Motor Co. the pig at Holechek's; Mrs. W. A. Ewing the set of dishes at Wesely's; B. A. Holteen the box of candy at the Confectionery; Leslie Thayer the box of cigars at MacDonald's; McKenzie Calloway the ring at Hagey's; Guy McKnight the hams at Shelton's.

He's Married Now

The coming to Scio for the Christmas holidays of Ted Sims from his home at Cushman, brought the first intimation that he is a married man, for he brought his wife with him. At the close of school in Reedsport last spring, Ted was married to Miss Mabel Hartley, one of the teachers, whose home was in Medford, she going to her home and he returning to his work at Mill City. Later, he went to Cushman, where he secured work and his wife joined him there. This was quite a surprise to a number of his friends, but who wish the happy couple unbounded happiness and prosperity.

They have returned to their home in Cushman, after a pleasant visit with the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Sims.

Miller-Brown

Malcomb B. Miller and Miss Margaret Brown were married in Albany Sunday, the ceremony being performed in the Hotel Albany parlors by Rev. W. V. McGee in the presence of several of the intimate friends of the happy couple. The groom is a successful farmer, and he and his bride will continue in this line of endeavor.

The happy couple took a short honeymoon, but are now at home to their many friends. May their present joys never grow less, is the wish of the Tribune.

Andrew Crabtree and wife came from Maupin early last week to visit over the holidays with P. R. Bilyeu and wife and with other relatives. Mr. Crabtree said wheat averaged better in yield and quality than was expected, and that the future looked good for his section. This is their first visit here in several years.

Mrs. G. L. Sutherland is at the bedside of her daughter, Mrs. Margaret Haynes, in Eugene, where she went the first of December. Mrs. Haynes remains very ill.

A. E. Bilyeu and family of Kalama, Washington, visited last week with the Hobart Hoagland and Ralph Hassler families.

Tell of Cold Weather

J. M. Turner of Harper, Oregon, son of Mrs. Phoebe Turner of Crabtree, in renewing his subscription to the Tribune, says he approves of the plan of "the paper starting when paid for and stopping at expiration date." He says he is glad to get the Tribune each week, because it keeps him posted on events at his old home, although people have changed. Southeastern Oregon, he says, was 40 below, and that 18 inches of snow covered the ground, which caused the ranchers and stockmen to feel good, for it means plenty of moisture for crops and grass next summer. It's an ill wind that blows nobody good.

Ed Chrz, in renewing his subscription from Austin, Minn., says the Tribune is like getting a letter from the folks, and that he could not get along without it. He says it is 18 below there and ice about 18 inches thick. He likes his new home and says he is well and happy.

In ordering the Tribune for another year, C. E. Lambert says he feels the paper means much to his family and they cannot get along without it. He lives at Index, Wn., and said they had 7 inches of snow and freezing weather.

Baptist Church Notes

Notice!—Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock a business meeting for the church will be held. Every person interested in this work should try to make it a point to be present.

Sunday school at 10 o'clock every Sunday morning. Everybody is invited to attend.

Christian Endeavor every Sunday evening at 6:30.

Prayer meeting every Saturday night at 7:30.

The following officers have been elected for the Sunday school for 1925: Superintendent, Roy Thurston; assistant supt., Robert Darby; sec.-treas., Aileen Mumper; assistant sec.-treas., Harold Thurston; chorister, Mrs. Roy Thurston; pianist, Gloria Long.

Christmas at the School

The pupils of the Scio schools gave a Christmas program at the high school auditorium Wednesday afternoon. The room was filled to capacity with the parents and friends. Popular numbers on the program were carols sung by the high school girls glee club and quartet. After the program, all pupils received presents and a treat of candy and nuts. It is said that Janitor Shelton had the room warm.

Gates vs. Scio

There will be a double header basketball game at the gym tomorrow (Friday) night, when the Gates girls and boys meet the Scio teams. The game starts at 7:30 and the admission is 20c and 35c.

J. W. Merritt and wife had their children and grandchildren as guests for Christmas dinner, there being 22 present altogether. J. W. says it was a happy reunion.
