STATEMENT

of the ownership, management, circulation, etc., required by the Act of Congress of August 24, 1912, of The Scio Tribune, published weekly at Scio, Oregon, for October, 1924.

Before me, a Notary Public in and for the state and county aforesaid, personally appeared I. V. McAdoo, who being sworn according to law, deposes and says that he is the owner of the Scio Tribune, and that the following is, to the best of his knowledge and belief, a true statement of the ownership, management, etc., of the aforesaid publication for the date shown in the above caption, required by the Act of August 24, 1912, embodied in section 443, Postal Laws and Regulations, printed on the reverse of this form, to-wit:

That the name and address of the publisher and editor is I. V. McAdoo, managing editor and business manager, E. J. McAdoo, Scio, Oregon.

The owner is I. V. McAdoo, Scio, Oregon, and his wife, E. J. McAdoo, Scio, Oregon.

That the known bondholders, mortgagees, and other security holders owning or holding 1 per cent or more of total amount of bonds, mortgages, or other securities are: None.

I. V. McAdoo, Editor.

Sworn to and subscribed before me this 1st day of April, 1925.

RILEY SHELTON, Notary Public.
My commission expires Feb. 15, 1929.

The Portland Rose Festival this year will be on a magnificent scale and 2000 voices will be in the night pageants. This year will see the rose exemplified as it affects mankind and will attract thousands to Portland during festival week.

On February 28, the date of the last drawing, your editor was asked to announce that another drawing would be held around April 10th. Since that time we have heard nothing more about it, consequently can give no reason for its abatement nor offer an apology. The reason for this editorial is because of so many inquiries about it.

Outside of such minor affairs as murdering sheriffs and breaking jail, we began to fear Linn county wouldn't get into the limelight and become internationally known. But our fears are dispelled—safeblowers have tapped the county vault and thieves have entered one of Albany's schools. So we're saved, and we are now in high society.

Weather conditions for the spring opening by the merchants of Albany last Friday evening was decidedly wet and disappointing. The parade could not be held, but much pleasure was accorded the people in viewing the latest in well decorated windows. The parade will be staged on Friday evening, much to the enjoyment of the public and merchant. The purpose of this editorial is to emphasize the fact that you do not have to go out of Linn county to get what you want or need.

FEEDING THE HAND

On many occasions the Tribune has pointed out the fact that the railroads are among the heaviest taxpayers in Linn county, the S. P. paying something over 7 per cent of the entire county tax, and in addition must maintain its own trackage and other repairs, and has insisted that the public was not fair in patronizing trucks and stages to the detriment of the largest taxpayers in the county—the railroads.

Up to last week the Tribune stood practically alone on this subject, and had begun to feel that sooner or later it would have to abandon its stand for a square deal for the railroads. The Tribune is now glad to note that the Albany Business Men's Association, at its noon luncheon last week, went on record of taboring the trucks and for patronizing the railroads. They have seen, as we have pointed out, that in addition to the taxes the monthly payrolls of the railroads in Linn county approximates $50,000, and continued use of the trucks would mean the reduction of help on the railroads. It was pointed out at that meeting, we are told, that the little saved in patronizing the trucks is more than offset by increased taxes to keep the highways in condition for them.

This is recognizing the hand that feeds, and we hope every community will follow suit.

BRIEF AND BREEZY

Spring's coming, but we hope poetry about it isn't.

Prohibition is five years old and still a bottle baby.

A girl with dreamy eyes is apt to let the circuits burn.

It is as hard for a rich man to get into jail as into heaven.

We believe in free speech and are getting it over the radio.

Solomon's idea was that an easy-going dad is unlikely to have a fast flying son.

The trouble about spring weather is that it makes a man both lazy and restless.

Don't overestimate your wife's capacity for work in planning the size of your garden.

A friend says you can often judge what a man ain't by what he's most anxious to pretend he is.

New dress fabric is called "clear honey." Are we by any chance to be enabled to see clear through honey?

What a pity the pay of federal senators and representatives cannot be graded according to worth, like other government employees.

Any time Charley Dawes thinks his heat can melt senate frigidly, he has another think coming. The old senate is a heat proof iceberg.

Baby in England is so small that they have to feed her with a fountain pen filler. That ought to make her the world's greatest writer of the future.

An Ohio college president says a girl should be so dressed that people will not remember her for her clothes. That stage has been reached already, professor.

Friends of the General say the senate soon will be eating out of his hand. Give the senate a chance and it will eat a piece out of that hand or eat the whole hand up.

Recent School Law Changes

Through house bill No. 208 anyone who held a valid certificate prior to Jan. 1, 1921, is not required to have the one year of normal school preparation, in addition to graduation from a standard high school. The equivalent of the elementary teachers' training course for the period preceding Jan. 1, 1921, is the holding of a valid certificate to teach.

House bill No. 212 does not affect districts other than those in counties working under the county unit. In such counties all moneys received from the sale of timber under the federal forest reserve is to be used for and applied to the payment of bonded and warrant indebtedness of the school districts incurred prior to Jan. 1, 1925, the remaining sums thereafter to be placed in an irreducible fund, only interest from which is to be used for general school purposes.

House bill No. 217 is of much importance to many teachers in the state. Heretofore the superintendent of public instruction was authorized to accept grades of 80 from other states where the examination was held, as are examinations in Oregon. Hereafter, however, grades of 90 only may be accepted.

House bill No. 341 makes Armistice day a legal school holiday.

House bill No. 260 affects the city of Portland only and permits the levying of 10 mills rather than 5 mills for school maintenance.
