"Is Trotsky's health improving?" asks a contemporary. Well, he certainly doesn't seem to die quite so often as he used to.

We now have the opportunity to even ourselves with the Chinese for the ma jongg craze by sending over a ship load of cross-word puzzle blanks.

The airplane is now 21 years old, and in speed and high flying it comes up to what we expected, but in recklessness it is still a few laps behind the auto.

It sometimes seems as if we worried altogether too much about the welfare of posterity, nearly all of whom probably will have good jobs as federal inspectors or something or other.

Rumor from Albany says that J. K. Elder is the only one of the parties composing the Thomas Creek Lumber Co. who is trying to bring order out of chaos. He has recently purchased more timber east of the upper mill, and is trying to effect a 90-day settlement, when he plans to pay the men in full, it is said. At any rate he hasn't left the property to seek its own way out of the difficulties.

Despite a backward spring, cloudy weather and light rains, farm and garden work is progressing nicely. With prune and early cherry trees in bloom, and other varieties budding, mother nature is beginning to look her best. If prospects turn out as expected, and the stock gamblers leave inflation and deflations alone, the farmer and fruit raiser will be sitting pretty, for the first time in four years.

Fall, Doheny and Sinclair received faulty indictments, so the court has decided. Of course, this does not stop another indictment, but it is quite likely the time and expense will not be undertaken by the government again. The men are rich, you know, and they cannot break into jail, while Gaston Means, one of the witnesses against them, will do time in the federal prison. Our laws seem to have two interpretations, depending on who and what is at stake.

HELP THE CHILDREN

The Scio Tribune is not given to urging its readers to donate of their money to every call from whatever source, but there is one call just being made that should be heeded—in behalf of the invalid children of Oregon. The 34 counties of Oregon have 1500 in need of hospital care that cannot be had at present. The hospital, a gift by the Doernbecker heirs, is to be a unit of the University of Oregon Medical College in Portland, is to be a state institution and will be ready for occupancy by Jan. 1, 1926. The hospital will stand idle all of 1926 because the legislature failed to pass an appropriation for 1926 unless the big hearted people of Oregon donate an estimated sum of $60,000 for the year. And we believe this will be done. If the reader can spare 50c or a $1. send it to The Portland Telegram Goodfellow Department, marking it care of Goodfellow Editor for Hospital Fund.

ANOTHER VISITOR

Last Friday morning a young man representing himself to be J. R. Jackson called at the Tribune office and said he was here for the purpose of going into business, and while in the hotel office Thursday evening had seen a copy of the Tribune and noticed that the sawmill was having trouble and that the paper was not boosting the promoters. He was all apology for some of the members of the Thomas Creek Lumber Co. and said he thought the paper and the people ought to boost a concern that had a payroll of $50,000 per month, and because of this difficulty he said he would not locate here.

This aroused our suspicions, and we looked him up at the hotel, and we found he nor anyone dressed like him had stopped over night there. He was here, we discovered, visiting at the home of Paul Lardon, as he joined Mr. Lardon up town soon after leaving the Tribune office. He came in with a lie on his lips, and went out leaving the lie as a truth. He is just another example of underhanded activities some people will go to to "get" somebody or cause them to about face. We imagine all the wealth he possessed was on his back, and maybe that was borrowed from his tailor.

Edward J. Marineau

Word was received by the Tribune Saturday from Mrs. W. B. Fairfowl of Portland conveying the sad news that Edward J. Marineau had died on March 28 and was buried on Tuesday, March 31, in Mt. Scott cemetery under the auspices of the Elks lodge, No. 142.

Mr. Marineau was a devotee of athletics and attended a smoker of the Portland Municipal Boxing Commission on Monday night, March 23, in apparent good health, but about 12 o'clock became ill and went home. On Thursday he was taken to the hospital, where he died, never having regained consciousness, from what was pronounced rheumatic fever.

Mr. Marineau was born in Wisconsin 37 years ago and had lived in Portland and Scio the past 12 years. Besides being a member of the Elks and on the drill team, he was a member of the Order of Railway Conductors and of the Locomotive Engineers and Firemen. He is survived by his wife and two sons, Edward Joseph, jr., and Freddie; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Marineau of Couer d'Alene, Idaho, five brothers and three sisters.

Last year he and his wife finished proving up on a homestead east of town and we understand Mrs. Marineau intends to soon take up her residence there and give her boys the advantages of the big outdoors. The deceased was well liked by all who knew him.

Horse Steps on Girl

Monday morning while on their way to school, an accident occurred that might have caused the death of Evalyn, the 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Kuhacks, who live about a mile out of town.

It is the habit of the girl to walk to school when the weather is good, and it is the habit of Glen Phillip, who also lives out of town and attends high school, to come to school on horseback, and Monday morning the two came together near the culvert on South Main street. Glen is in the habit of watering his horse there, and the girl in attempting to give more room to the horse fell down, the horse stepping on her right leg causing a contuse injury between the knee and ankle, and some bruises about the head. Dr. Browne was summoned and dressed the wounds, after which the injured girl was removed to her home. No bones were broken, and the little girl is getting along nicely.

No blame is attached, we understand. Glen feels badly over the accident, never anticipating an occurrence of that kind.
