Balance Your Diet

The balanced diet is the healthy one and contains all three of the important vitamins. The principal food value of bread and meat lies in their protein content but they are low in vitamins B and C, and if you would be sure of more balanced rations insuring plenty of each essential, use the citrus fruits often. The juice of the grapefruit has a high content of vitamins B and C that provide the proper amount of carbohydrates and salts. Grapefruit supplies the blood with an alkaline reserve which effectively combats acidosis.
