

Protect your eyes from the glare. Have your glasses ground in Soft-Lite or Crookes A Glass. These colors give the mellow comfort of old cathedral windows. Pleasing to the sight as to the eyes.

TRUTHS TERSELY TOLD

This is splendid weather for fires. Be exceedingly careful with your fires of any kind—it might be your property to go through your own carelessness.

Why not suspend traffic regulations for 90 days and turn the highways and by-ways over to the speed fiends? In that time they would be in one of two places—the grave or the hospital. Then traveling would be safe.

An unnecessary error crept into the Peoples Theatre ad last week in announcing the comedy. Buster Keaton in "Three Ages" comes this week, and we hope the patrons will enjoy it as immensely as if the mistake had not occurred. Don't fail to see it, for it is made for laughing purposes.

Friday evening a dog came into town with a can tied to its tail. It was the "coat" of some two-legged animal who imagined he or they got a lot of enjoyment out of seeing the truest friend man ever had damnably abused. Whoever would do an act of that kind has a heart of stone and a caloused soul.

Get your auto lights regulated according to a new law, effective Sept. 1. Any garage cannot make the adjustments for you; only the ones licensed by the secretary of state, which must be posted. To date only 44 stations have qualified. The magneto type of headlights will not be allowed after Sept. 1. Get your lights adjusted and save trouble and expense.

Fish grow big in one of the small streams east of Cascadia. A Scio woman hooked one so big she could not land it and called her husband to help her out. Following the line to the hook end he assured his wife he would land her catch safely on the bank, but the angry fish wrapped itself around his leg and was about to choke him to death, when it calmly spit the hook out of its mouth, unwrapped itself from the leg and swam away. What the wife thought and what she said is not for a great religious paper like the Tribune to print. Some husbands are awkward, you know, and this one is the awkwardest.

Albany News Notes

Armed with silver spades and shovels, eight persons broke ground for the new administration building of the Albany College at Albany on Monday night. A big crowd witnessed the exercises.

The Busick store in Albany has been purchased by M. R. Irish, who operates stores in Lebanon, Brownsville and Corvallis under the name of Gray's Cash and Carry store. The Albany store will be made the central headquarters of the group.

Judge Payne reports a near tragedy to a couple of the county employes at Gee-Haw hill, near Lebanon, last Thursday. The two men had been sent to cut a new road around the hill, which would take half an acre of private land, and the owner met them with a six-shooter. As soon as the men could get to Lebanon they phoned the judge they didn't mind the work, but wanted him to send out an undertaker and have a graveyard handy. The two commissioners went out to try and bring order out of chaos. They must have failed, for the road is temporarily abandoned—that is, its construction.

Snyder & Son have just installed a machine for tightening wheels for automobiles, and does the work as at the factory. The machine is the only one in Albany of its kind. The firm carries an immense line of wheels and other accessories and are doing a big business.

E. G. Arnold of Scio, recently appointed deputy county clerk, is taking to his new duties like a flea to a fat dog. He has been trying to buy himself a straw hat lately, but cannot find his size. We do not know whether it is caused by the "big" head or the haberdasheries don't carry a complete line of sizes.

C. H. Torrance is so proud of his valve grinding machine that he talks it in his sleep, so say his friends who know now true the grinding is done by it. Torrance also sells auto supplies wholesale and retail.

Arch Hammer, of the Blain store, has a hobby. Most men do, and the hobbies are of various hues. But Arch takes on a different line and would benefit suffering humanity. If he had the money, he says he would make a health resort at Sodaville, where the rich and poor could go for their ailments and be cured by drinking freely of the best health-giving waters in the world. We wish he had the money, for he has the right idea. Where is there a better opportunity for a man with money to do so much good?
