Introducing the New

FREED-EISEMANN and CROSLY

The two best makes of Radios on the market.

Freed-Eisemann Crosley
$75.00 to $175.00 $10.75 to $65.00

One of the wonders of the Freed-Eisemann is its ability under favorable conditions to reach across oceans and continents. In the recent International Broadcast Tests, for instance, the cup winner heard Paris on a Freed-Eisemann, and Freed-Eisemann users heard Madrid, London, Aberdeen, Brussels, Glasgow, and other cities across the sea. Another thing about the Freed-Eisemann is its uncanny ability to eliminate all other stations but the one for which the listener has set his dials and its ability to get that station night after night in immediate response to the same setting of the dials.

That's why there are more Freed-Eisemann Radios used today than any other make. In the neutrodyne field alone, although competing with 13 other licensed manufacturers, Freed-Eisemann sold more than one-half the total of the other 13 licenses combined. Today, Freed-Eisemann is by far the largest manufacturer of neutrodyne sets in the world.

The Crosley

The Crosley is the greatest value on the market today for the money—has no equal. The only Radio on the market in which three tubes do the work of six. The sets combine tuned Radio frequency, regeneration and reflex amplification. There is no radiation. Distant stations come in clear and sharp on the loud speaker and can be logged. Coast to coast reception reported by hundreds of owners. The Crosley Pup, a double circuit set, priced at $10.75; a wonderful performer at a low price. This compact, efficient receiver is an improvement of the famous Crosley one-tube set, with which Leonard Weeks of Minot, N. D., consistently heard the McMillan Polar Expedition while the rest of America listened in vain.

$1000 Prize Contest

A grand prize of $1000 is offered to purchasers of the Crosley Pup for the best report of results obtained over the period from Sept. 1, 1925, to March 1, 1926, in addition to monthly prizes, including real live pedigreed puppies. Full details and entry blanks in each set.
