News From Lyons.

Nov. 10

Mr. Winters was a Fox Valley caller Sunday.

Quite a crowd of Grangers from here attended grange and initiation of members in Stayton Saturday.

Mr. Potter and Clint Surry were business visitors in the Scio and Crabtree vicinities Monday of last week.

Mr. Banvon, a representative of the Star Motor Co. in Albany, was a business caller at Lyons Tuesday.

John Warden is the owner of a Chevrolet since last Wednesday, having traded his Ford to the Star dealer.

Mrs. Caddy Martin and Mrs. Ed Traak were among those spending Saturday in Stayton.

Clyde Thomas and wife of Jordan were Tuesday visitors at Jack Johnston's.

Mrs. Cooper of Salem spent the end of the week with her daughter, Mrs. Alden Roberts, who is very much improved after a serious illness, but is still being treated by a Salem specialist several times each week. Mrs. Roberts and her mother returned to Salem Saturday morning.

W. C. Scott of the 4-S Lumber Co. was a business caller in the Lyons vicinity Monday.

Mrs. U. S. Berry visited the Fox Valley school Friday afternoon.

Different agents were very numerous in our community the past week demonstrating and selling (or at least trying to sell) everything from cars to bath brushes, not excluding phonographs, washing machines, floor polish, groceries, sewing machines, aladdin lamps and newspapers. Well, we couldn't buy from all of them, but perhaps some one found just the article they most needed; at any rate there was a big variety to select from. Most of the demonstrators mentioned they would not be back again for at least three months. Folks will have quite awhile to decide what to buy, unless some one comes along with something else.
