RICH STRIKE MADE AT CROWN MINES

Ore Estimated to Assay $40 Per Ton Taken Out Saturday; Best Vein to Come

There was great rejoicing in the hearts of every stockholder in the Crown Mining & Milling Company Monday when it became known that one of the main pockets of the mine had been penetrated and ore rich in the four minerals, copper, lead, silver and gold had been found.

We said great rejoicing. There were no brass bands nor loud noises—just that quiet rejoicing like we imagine comes to him or her when they get religion, a joy that makes the face beam and eye sparkle and one must tell how happy he feels since a great burden had been lifted from his soul.

About 18 years ago, when R. E. Peery first discovered the claim and filed on it, he has never lost faith in what old Mother Nature told him was hidden somewhere under her crust, and he formed a stock company, organized under the laws of Oregon, and has worked it each year as much as the finances of the company and his own physical and financial resources would permit. During all these years the company has had to meet all sorts of obstacles, not the least of which was the ridicule of their neighbors. Many assays have been made, all showing good pay dirt, and inspections have been made by government and state geologists, who have pronounced the formations good and outcroppings a correct barometer of what would be found within the claim.

Upon the facts above stated, Mr. Peery and his co-workers backed the project with their labor and money. About two years ago the company put a salesman in the field and with his effort enough money was raised to buy a compressed air drill and great headway has been made ever since. It has been "Bob's" faith in his claim, his honesty, his continual study of minerals, mines and mining that has held the company together these trying years, and everybody has won.

The rich strike was made about 4:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, and Sunday morning Bob brought a sample out and then brought it to Scio Monday morning. It weighed about 125 pounds and was the center of attraction all day. It is the kind of ore that will put all stockholders on easy street. Monday morning the company needed $1500 to complete the tunnel, and by night nearly two-thirds of that amount had been taken up. When this block is sold, it is said the price will go to $10 and maybe $15 per share.

Nothing has happened in Scio in many years that caused the stir the rich strike made Saturday, and the large and small stockholders have been visualizing the future for Scio and entire community. It can't be done. Indeed, the immediate future is bright, and as we have said before, "Scio will be made in spite of us."

At the annual meeting of the stockholders, held on Monday night, Nov. 16, in I O O F hall, Joe Boyanovsky, president; R. E. Peery, vice-president and secretary-treasurer; E. E. Taylor of Lebanon, George M. Bilyeu and A. T. Powell, directors,

Why Women Look Tired

He—"The hand that rocks the cradle rules the world."

When you trade with the following merchants you see what you get and get what you want at the right price. Ask for tickets—see rules:

The cash register must ring to secure the ticket giving a chance on the prizes—no tickets on charge accounts, unless such accounts are paid before dates of drawing. Drawing for first half of the prizes will take place on Wednesday, Dec. 23, and the last half on Thursday, Dec. 24. No business man nor any member of his household will be allowed to take chances—this is for our country friends and town people who are not connected in any line of merchandising or profession. Holder of the lucky ticket, or some member of his fireside, must be present on days of drawing. Remember each of the following give three prizes:

There's Kelly, Bartu and Cain,
With Couey, Gill and Mumper,
And Fred Bilyeu, Densmore and Jordan,
Will make the program a hummer.
Morrison, Bruce and Wesely,
Cyrus & Brock, the Scio Tribune,
Assisted by the Confectionery,
Will help carry the tune.

were all reelected.

Parties were present from Salem and Lebanon with offers to buy the property, the former for an English syndicate and the latter for a California corporation. The stockholders voted no on both propositions, and in the light of Saturday's strike they voted wisely.

The man from Lebanon said that the ore taken from this mine is the richest in copper he had ever seen.

About 75 stockholders were present at the meeting, and everyone was optimistic.

Christian Church Service

Announcement for Sunday, November 29:

10 a. m., Bible School.
11 a. m., morning service, sermon by the pastor. The theme, "The Benefits of Worship." The church service may have a new meaning to you after hearing this message:

6:30 p. m., Christian Endeavor at Baptist church.

7:30 p. m., evening service, sermon theme "Our Unanswered Prayers." This sermon will be in keeping with Scriptural teaching and in light of human experience. You will enjoy the special music for both morning and evening services.

Saturday evening, Nov. 28, at 7:30, will be a class in music for all who are interested in the study of music and singing. This class will be conducted by the pastor.

Choir rehearsal Saturday evening at 8 o'clock at the church. Plans for the Christmas music will be taken up at this time.

You are welcome to all our services.

"Some people go through this life, not knowing what they miss."
J. Raymond Fite, Minister.

Old Time Revival

The Church of God is still having their regular services at the River-view school house. Sunday school at 10 a. m. Preaching at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. The attendance and interest is good. Prayer services each Thursday at 7:30 p. m.

On Sunday, the 29th, an old time revival will begin. The old time apostolic preaching accompanied by the Holy Spirit brings apostolic results. Justification, sanctification, unity, divine healing and many other bible times will be set forth. Services each evening at 7:30. All are invited. J. M. Harrington, evangelist; T. W. Cooper, pastor.

Bartu Motor Co. have installed a glass gasoline pump and built an extension to the blacksmith shop. Verily, improvements do go on.

School Receives Loans

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Christian church has loaned their organ to the primary room of the Scio school, and the Baptist Ladies have loaned their organ to the intermediate room. Both churches now have pianos and are not using their organs. It is probable an organ for the grades will be purchased.

The teachers of the school held a meeting Thursday after school, at which considerable business was transacted. It was decided to place a 24-foot horizontal ladder and two swinging rings in the gym.

The basement of the school building is to be made into a play room for the primary department. A sand pit, two small swings and two small teeter-totters are to be placed for them. All work is to be done by the manual training class and the total cash outlay will be about $25.

The three grade rooms are to make Christmas boxes and send them to the WCTU Children's Farm Home at Corvallis.

One day each week Prof. Caldwell is to take all the grade boys for manual training, and Mrs. Rodgers is to take all the grade girls for a lesson in art work.

Rev. J. Raymond Fite will deliver an address before the high school Monday morning, Nov. 30, upon the important and much needed theme, "Vocational Guidance."

Have You Seen the Prizes?

In the 14 livewire business houses that are cooperating on the Good Will page there are 45 prizes that 45 people will win, and these 45 prizes represent more than $150 to be given away to the patrons of each store on Wednesday, Dec. 23, and Thursday, Dec. 24.

Patrons are taking kindly to this program of the merchants and not a few are finding out that they can do as well here as elsewhere and save gasoline and wear and tear on car and tire. Then another feature is that the patron meets his merchant face to face, sees the goods he is buying and saves the parcel or express charges one or both ways. The patron is also gainer in his dealings with his home merchant, for he takes a human interest in the welfare of everyone in the community. The home merchant cannot afford to be crooked with his neighbors no more than can the farmer when he sells his grain or fruit.

The prizes are all worth while and you get them absolutely free with no advance in prices. For your needs patronize the merchants whose ads are on the Good Will page—they are big taxpayers and community boosters.

Agnes Soucek Married

Word has been received here conveying the news that Miss Agnes E. Soucek was married at Tacoma on Nov. 21 to Pete Kezich. Mrs. Kezich is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Soucek of Scio and is well known here. The young couple are spending their honeymoon in southern Oregon, after which they will return to Tacoma to make their home.

Their many friends here wish the newlyweds a happy wedded life.

Marion H. Titus Passes Away

Marion H. Titus, long resident of Linn county, passed away Thursday Nov. 19th, at St. Mary's hospital in Albany, after an extended illness. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Oliver and the Fortmiller undertakers of Albany, at Mt. Pleasant church Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, and interment was made in Mt. Pleasant cemetery beside his wife, Lillian M. Titus, who preceded him some 21 years ago.

Marion H. Titus was born near Monmouth, Ill., July 15th, 1860. When a small lad he moved with his parents to Fort Worth, Kan. In 1875 the family came to Oregon, locating in Washington county, near Hillsboro. Several years later they moved to Mt. Pleasant, on what is now the W. F. Ryan farm. On Oct. 25, 1885, he was married to Lillian M. Thayer. To this union were born four children: Maude M. Johnston of Lyons, Lawrence T. Titus of eastern Oregon, Nella B. Thomas of Jordan and a daughter dying in infancy.

Besides the immediate family, he leaves two brothers and two sisters, Amanda McKinley of San Diego, Calif.; Moses S. Titus of Stayton, George R. Titus of Lebanon, and Margaret Constable of Portland; two grandchildren, Hilda and Hugh M. Johnston of Lyons, and a number of nieces and nephews.

Stephen H. Champ Dies

Stephen H. Champ, 76, died at his home in Mehama, Nov. 20, and was buried Sunday afternoon, Rev. J. Y. Stewart officiating. In 1913 he suffered a paralytic stroke, but soon recovered sufficiently to get around with a cane, but in April of 1920 he became bedfast and had been a patient sufferer until death relieved him. He is survived by four sons, one daughter and 13 grandchildren, his wife having died May 8, 1925.

O. S. Lyons Dies

Ole S. Lyons died at his home between Scio and Stayton Monday night, Nov. 23, following an illness of several months from Bright's disease. Mr. Lyons was born in Sweden and was aged 66 years and 10 months at the time of his death. He came to the United States 43 years ago and had been a resident of Linn county 19 years. He is survived by his widow and several children.

The body was shipped to Oakland, Calif., where funeral services will be held and burial will take place.

Two Have Blood Poison

P. R. Bilyeu is suffering intensely at this time from blood poison in his arm. He ran his hand into a wire fence at his mother's home on Armistice Day cutting a gash which gradually grew worse until Tuesday night when he called a physician.

Willie Johnston has been nursing a bad case of blood poison in his hand the past week. His hand has been lanced twice this week.

Subscribe now—$1.75 the year

Today is Thanksgiving.

Have you counted your blessings of the year? Have they been worth your appreciation, or rather your thanks?

Was your family free from sickness or bodily injury? Are you or they better off than the blind, the maimed and the unfortunate in the asylum? Is freedom from these worth our thanks?

Were crops good? Did the old brindle cow increase your dairy herd and did the brood sow bring up a family of eight or ten to help pay the multitude of bills? There was no tornadoes nor bolts of lightning to blow away your buildings nor burn your haystacks.

As a state and as a people we have much to be thankful for, and we are. Today as our relatives and friends are gathered around our festal board let us not be unmindful of our blessings and render our thanks unto God, who is love.

Red Cross Roll Call On

The Red Cross roll call is on this week, and will close Thanksgiving night. The solicitors have met with very good success, but there are still many who should enroll. It has been the rule of the committee to give every one a chance and if you have for any reason been overlooked I will be pleased to receipt you at the Tribune office. Next week's Tribune will contain a complete report of the committee.
