There is one man in this community who reads the ads and acts on what they say—E. C. Shelton is the man. He read our special offer and acted on it without further solicitation. He knows a bargain when he sees it.

Mrs. Minnie Farrell of Hornbrook, Calif., a former resident of Scio and a daughter of Mrs. Almina Pomeroy, writes that the family likes their home there and extended her Christmas greetings to mother and all her former friends here.

Joe Zavodsky and wife have sold their 70-acre farm, east of town, to Rudolph Wesely, the transfer taking place last Saturday. The Zavodsky's will remain on the place until next fall, when they will move to their farm near Monroe, in Benton county.

The difficulties between the West Scio line patrons of the Mountain States Power Co. and the company has been amicably settled, we understand. The patrons get a dollar rate but lose the free pole light. It is said the Gilkey line patrons voted to keep the old contract and have the pole lights.

This community was shocked the other day when it learned that Joe Young had been adjudged insane and sent to the asylum. His hallucination was looking for company and placing a light in the yard. He recently had an eye removed and had become quite deaf, and this is thought to have caused his malady.

Baptist Church Notes

School Notes

The entertainment given by the pupils of the upper grades at the school auditorium Tuesday night was well attended even though it was a very stormy night. The program consisted of three short plays interspersed with music by a mixed quartet and by the Scio Glee Club. About 150 were in attendance and report that all did their parts well. This is the second of a series of three entertainments planned to provide music for the three grade rooms.

The Scio schools held their Christmas exercises in the school auditorium Wednesday afternoon. After the exercises the pupils returned to their respective rooms where gifts were exchanged and the teachers treated the pupils with candy and nuts.

The girls' and boys' basketball teams went to Turner Wednesday night to play a double-header game.

The upper and intermediate pupils finished the county examinations in arithmetic and spelling Monday.

Bowled Him Over

The prize for absent-mindedness goes to the man who was knocked down by the surf and looked for its license number.

To Each His Task

Each one of us is here because there is something we can do which no one else can do. If we fail to do it, we rob the world of whatever it may be. Every man, so long as he does his task, is indispensable to his fellow man.—Grit.
