Pimples

"O H, why can't I have a skin like other girls? Why do I have to have these ugly pimples, blotches and blackheads?"

"If I could only find something that would clear up my skin and give me back my soft, rosy complexion, I know I would be the happiest girl in the world! What can I do?"

Is that you talking? If it is, you don't have to worry a minute! Just build up the rich, red blood in your body. Then your skin will be as clear and soft as anybody's.

That's what S. S. S. has been doing for generations—helping Nature build rich, red blood! You can build red-blood-cells so fast that the impurities that cause breaking out on the skin hardly get into the system before the pure blood annihilates them—kills them right out—stops them from breaking out through the skin.

And then this rich, red, pure blood feeds and nourishes the tissues of the skin and keeps it looking healthy.

That's all there is to it. Healthy, vigorous, red blood such as S. S. S. helps Nature build, makes you healthy all over. It beautifies your skin—drives away pimples, blackheads, blotches, rash, boils and eczema—gives you back your appetite—builds firm, plump flesh and fills you full of new life and energy. All drug stores sell S. S. S. Get the larger bottle. It's more economical.

Demand Continues for Jumper Suits

One-Piece Outfit, Built of Heavy Material, Also Fashionable.

The two-piece or jumper suit is in great demand, as it has been since last spring. But for colder weather the one-piece built of heavy material is more practical, and very fashionable, notes a fashion writer in the New York Times. Patou has designed for moderate winter weather some strikingly smart frocks of this type, in men's suitings. These are severely tailored, but are treated individually, with buttons, pocket flaps, revers and cuffs. Most of the models are buttoned down the middle front and belted with a narrow strap of the goods. In a design of wool mixture in beige and brown the upper part opens with long revers, is fastened with half a dozen buttons and belted below the waist. Two narrow dart-like tucks at each side give a slightly shaped effect. The frock is worn over a slip of ribbed silk which shows as a little vest at the top and a petticoat at the bottom. Patou has indulged his fancy for making sports suits in several other engaging designs, in some of which he accomplishes a slight flare in the skirt.

The slim, boyish line is in evidence in a simple frock of printed veils broche and black satin crepe. It has deep plaiting which gives the full skirt demanded of fashion.

The present version of the knitted frock is a jersey, which grows steadily in favor. The jumper frock of this woven material spells the last word in comfort, durability and grace. Its supple texture is most becoming to a slender figure and in itself is youthful when properly worn. In this jersey cloth some uncommonly smart models are shown. The colors are new and varied, as are the ways of handling the material, the flare, the godet, the plaited flounce. The bodice is usually slightly open at the neck, with a slight revers collar and string tie scarf. Patou, Lanvin and most of the French designers are adding pockets, some tiny, with little button flaps, some large and practical. A belt is invariably worn, made of the same material or of leather or metal.

Outstanding Novelties of Season's New Modes

The Parisian mode is not nearly so capricious as it is supposed to be. A new fashion is rarely a mere arbitrary change for the sake of changing. It is far more often a logical development, and it is when a novelty is logical that it stands the best chance of acceptance. This year the outstanding novelties of the winter collection might be briefly described as the flare, the fit and the bustle. The first has been on the way for a long time, winning another yard each season, until only the field of the outdoor wrap is left for it to conquer. Fitted bodice lines, also, are no caprice of Dame Fashion. Flaring skirts have brought them as surely as the short skirt brought little hats or God made little apples. Their chance of success is not so good as that of flaring skirts. Too many other things come into consideration, beginning with the undoubted power of sports influence on all our clothes. Nevertheless, though we may be as far this year as last from that extraordinary contraption of

Extreme Daintiness for Milady's Bedroom Only

It is given to every woman to love soft color, frills, quiet luxury. Some crave dainty, feminine surroundings in their homes more than others. Some will work hard against odds to achieve the coveted effects. And some, in truth, will work a little too hard, making their bedrooms fairly drip "sweetness" and their living and dining rooms, even, express frivolous ideas.

The place for extreme daintiness is in the bedroom—only. Here ruffy spreads and pretty little pillows, flower-colored lamps and softly tinted pictures will be in good order, and if you confine your hankering for "fluff" entirely to your boudoir, no one will have the right to criticize. Of course you will know when enough is enough. Avoid the sugary pink bonbon effect.

If you are settled on the point that your hangings and bedcoverings shall be of silk and your lamps decidedly decorative, your wisest step would be to purchase, not ornate furniture, but something refined and delicate in line and color.

Feather Fans Are Fad for Formal Occasions

The fancy for feather fans is evident in latest styles being shown in important shops. The grace and luxury of the season's more elaborate costume quite logically make demand for elegance in the accessories and detail. Nothing is more suitable than ostrich. Many fans for formal evening dress are still of enormous dimensions and will be seen as the top note of many a gorgeous toilette. These are picturesque in the extreme; regal affairs that belong to the dowager type of dress. There are others, light and lovely as a butterfly's wing, that will appeal to the younger set. These will be enchanting with tulle and chiffon dance frocks, for the winter's social campaign.

many curved sections that used to be called the waist of a gown, it is undoubtedly true that formless, not to say sloppy, lines are no longer in general wear. The "corset figure" is not an immediate danger, but a certain trimness of this part of the garment will get itself accepted as a distinguishing mark of the fashions of 1925-26.

And if this suggestion of snugness adds a spice of restraint to what the French call tenue, or general behavior, perhaps it will be all the better. Loose manners are less becoming than loose clothes. It is Charlotte of Fremet who has gone the farthest in this direction. Some of her models are oddly reminiscent of the late '70s or earliest '80s, that period beloved by George Du Maurier, who delighted in six-foot, slender-limbed goddesses with pure Greek noses and equally pure English minds.—Harper's Bazaar.
