

Help those Sick Kidneys

How many times have you had your work, sleep, or your leisure hours interrupted by recurring pains in the region of the kidneys?

Did you ever experience anything more unpleasant and annoying?

You probably neglected it too—let yourself believe it wasn't serious—be over it in a day or two. When the kidneys give you warning of inability to perform their duty, assist them in every way, help them get rid of poisons that are accumulating, waste matter they cannot throw off.

They are weak and need strengthening. See that they are built up, back to normal, and it won't be many days until you are built up, eager for work and enjoying your rest and leisure hours

An Open Letter

Salem, Ore., Sept. 19, 1913.

To the Editor:

Dear Sir—In our contracts with the various school-book publishers the law requires the state board of education to take the prices as reported to us by the State Text Book Commission.

In our contracts, however, we added a clause to which all of the publishers agreed and signed without protest, to the effect that the publisher will not sell any book at a greater price than is charged for such book in any other state in the United States.

This department discovered a short time ago that the Palmer Writing Lessons for primary grades was selling in other states for 15 cents, while the contract price in this state is 20 cents. The higher book, known as Palmer Method of Business Writing, is selling in Chicago for 16 cents while the contract price in this state is 25 cents. We took this matter up with the Palmer people and after threatening to bring suit on their bond we got them to instruct their agent in this state to notify all dealers that these books would be sold for 15 cents and 16 cents respectively. If any of the children in your community have paid a higher price than this they should take the books back and ask for the difference. The J. K. Gill Company, agent for the publishers, informs me that the publishers will make the amount good to your local dealer.

That the patrons of the schools may know they need not pay these high prices, I will appreciate your announcement of this notice.

This department is endeavoring to do all that is possible in securing for the boys and girls of Oregon, books at as low a price as they can be secured anywhere in the United States. We will continue our investigations on every book contracted for use in our schools.

Very truly yours,
J. A. Churchill

250 Pounds of Bear Meat

Thompson's meat market offered an unusual and pioneer delicacy to his patrons this week in the shape of a 250 pound bear, killed last Sunday by Mr. Ivan Murphy of Medford. Mr. Murphy, Roe Smead and Eccles Murphy were hunting a short distance above Sweet Home resulting in the bagging of his bearship. This is the third bear killed in the vicinity of Sweet Home quite recently.

Woman Orchardist Grew Fine Peach Crop

Claimed to be the finest peaches ever harvested in Linn county, Miss Helen V. Crawford completed harvesting her crop near Lebanon of 500 bushels yesterday.

It is claimed that Miss Crawford, who is a resident of near Lebanon, has the distinction of being the only lady horticulturalist in the county and has made a thorough success of raising the fine crop.—Albany Democrat.

Osteopathy

Isabel Karney, Osteopath Specialist, will be in Sweet Home for some time and will give treatments at the residence of C. Stone, near the new High school building. Successful in all lines.

Our public schools are making our future citizens and, therefore, every parent should manifest a deep interest in their success. They should be frequent visitors to the school room and extend to the teacher every help and encouragement possible.

There are several of the first settlers of Sweet Home still living on their original homesteads. We expect to interview them and publish something of the pioneer history of the valley, in the near future.

For lack of time the Tribune has not prepared an article descriptive of Sweet Home and Sweet Home's business men. The matter will be taken up in the near future.

Interrupting the Law to Suit

It seems a little odd that so many judges and public officials evade the law or interpret it to suit their prejudices or conveniences. Judges throughout the state have been twisting the Mothers' Pension Law around to suit themselves, one of the latest to give it a most unkind cut being Judge Bushy of Marion county. Here is Judge Bushy's idea of the law, taken from a special dispatch to the Portland Oregonian:

County Judge Bushy, who has refused to grant pensions under the widows' pension act passed at the late session of the legislature, declared tonight that the law was vicious because it has a tendency to injure widows with families instead of assisting them.

"The widows pension law is not only drawn up in such a way," declared the judge, "as to deny widows any benefit, but it has a tendency to injure the applicant. Not long ago a woman applied for a pension who did not need one, and today she is worse off than ever. She lives in Salem and has five children. Before she made application for a pension she worked and supported her family better than 50 per cent of the people of Salem. She put money in the bank and was getting along so well under the circumstances that her neighbors envied her thrift. Then she heard of the pension law and immediately sought to become a beneficiary of it. Since that day she has not tried to get along. Her neighbors tell me that she just sits around and waits for her pension."

"We have a case before us of a woman who owns a little farm near Silverton, and if she is granted a pension it will amount to $77 per month. The woman advises us that she has a bank account of $800 and has a mining claim."

"The law in itself is vicious. It invites laziness and carelessness among families which formerly got along all right. The law that has been in effect all the time is sufficient to cover all cases of poverty that come under our jurisdiction. We are vested with authority to assist those who need financial assistance, and this court will lend that aid in order to keep families together."—Oregon Messenger.

Sweet Home should plan to hold a school and street fair, some time during the year of 1914. No plan is better than this to develop interest in school work on the part of our boys and girls. The fair could be made the leading public feature of the South Santiam country if all will engage in it with spirit.

Whenever the valley has an overabundance of fog, the same is sent up the several smaller valleys tributary to the Willamette.
