

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

FOR SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT. We are hereby authorized to announce W. D. M'GEE as a candidate for County Superintendent of Linn county, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

FOR TREASURER.

We are hereby authorized to announce JOHN BURKETT as a candidate for County Treasurer of Linn county, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

ANNUAL COUNTY TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

The Annual County Teachers' Institute for Linn county, Or., will be held in Albany, commencing on Wednesday afternoon, March 14th and continuing during the 15th and 16th. D. V. S. REID, Co. School Supt.

PERSONAL AND OTHERWISE.

Dr. Mark Hayter, Dentist, Lebanon, Oregon.

F. H. Roscoe moved to Albany on Thursday, where he has gone to manage an agricultural implement house.

Ye editor has been severely sick a portion of this week, which accounts for the late appearance of the EXPRESS.

The 3d quarterly meeting of the M. E. church will be held at the Academy on Saturday and Sunday, March 10th and 11th.

R. R. Privett and son, A. J. Privett, visited Lebanon this week. The elder gentleman came to Linn county in '52. They now reside at Dayton, W. T.

There is stored here some 40,000 pounds of wool, waiting to be sold. At the present price, if sold, the parties holding the same would lose heavily.

The series of meetings at the First Presbyterian church has closed. Quite a number experienced a change of heart and several united with the church.

Mr. S. E. Belknap, of Corvallis, passed through Lebanon Monday, on his way to Sodaville, to try the healing virtue of the famous soda springs at that place.

Rev. E. R. Pritchard, of Albany, will exchange pulpits with Rev. Geo. W. Gibbons, of the First Presbyterian church of this place, next Sunday morning and evening.

It was announced that the Ladies' Aid Society would give a supper and receive at the Odd Fellows' building on Friday evening, but they have decided to postpone it for a while.

Mrs. Cyrus returned last week from Salem Prairie, where she has been for five weeks, attending the last sickness of her father and mother, who died within three weeks of each other.

When a man dies his good record is hunted up and prized. When a merchant stops advertising his wares, no one takes the trouble to look up his store; they just consider him dead.

The Lawson Dancing Academy will be dedicated on Friday evening, March 10th, with a grand ball. Arrangements are being made for a good time and a large crowd is expected to be present.

Attention is directed to the "ad" of Mrs. G. W. Rice, milliner. She has just received a handsome new stock of goods, which she will be glad to introduce to the ladies of Lebanon and vicinity.

Farmers report fully one-half of the fall wheat frozen out and will have to be reown. Some difficulty is found in getting spring wheat for sowing, as for the last few years spring grain has not been deemed profitable.

W. G. Langford, who has been teaching music in this city, has been urged to give another term before he leaves. Parents should avail themselves of the opportunity and give their children a course of instructions.

Ex-Governor Chadwick, of Salem, called at Lebanon on Monday evening last. The Governor looks as hale and hearty as when we last saw him scrambling over hills in Jackson and Josephine counties, visiting the mines.

At the meeting of the Linn County Republican Central Committee, at Albany, on Tuesday last, the time of holding the county convention was fixed for Wednesday, April 4, and the primaries on Saturday, March 31. Lebanon precinct is entitled to seven delegates.

Rev. J. R. Kirkpatrick has accepted the pastorate of the C. P. church in Lebanon, and Brownsville. He has purchased Mrs. R. F. Jones' property in Lebanon and will take possession in July or August. We are glad to know Mr. Kirkpatrick is going to locate in our midst.

Mr. H. Y. Kirkpatrick, of Texas, has entered into partnership with A. R. Cyrus, in the real estate and insurance business. They intend to advertise this country thoroughly, and expect considerable emigration to this section. Farmers wishing to sell should call on them.

Mr. J. B. Wirt has just finished his spring delivery of fruit trees throughout the valley, amounting to $1,800 including fall and spring sales. All are well pleased with Mr. Wirt's mode of handling nursery stock. He will be in the field next year, and parties will do well to give him their orders.

The re-election of G. W. Smith, Esq., as school clerk, on Monday last, was another evidence of his efficiency as a thorough clerk. Mr. Smith, as his report in another column shows, is managing the affairs of the district in a very creditable shape. This is but characteristic of him as a business man, and one heartily interested in the educational affairs of our city.

C. B. Montague addressed the Democratic Club on Wednesday evening. His speech was a stirring one, and we are of the opinion that if the candidates of his party are half as enthusiastic as he is, the hottest political pot in Oregon will boil in Linn county. Mr. Montague is truly a leader, not only in politics but in many other matters affecting the welfare of his community. His patriotism and other essential qualifications make him a man thoroughly fitted for public position, should he be anything of the kind.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

RECALLS THE MODOC WAR.—The first bill to pension an Indian has been introduced by Representative Hermann, under the title of a measure "Granting a pension to Winemah Riddell," is a story that is of romantic interest, particularly in Oregon, recalling as it does the great tragedy of the Modoc war. Following the attack upon the peace commission, in which Gen. Candy and others were killed, the late Col. Meacham, who will be remembered as one of the members of the commission, was left by the murderous savages for dead; but in a few hours he recovered consciousness and suffered greatly from his injuries. A Modoc squaw passing by for water, heard groans among the bushes where Meacham had crawled to hide. Finding the wounded man, she stopped the flow of blood with strips torn from her own clothing, and dragged him to a cave near by, where she attended him until he had recovered strength sufficient to make his escape, giving him food and carefully dressing his wounds as well as she knew how. Her kindness became known to Captain Jack, who drove her from his camp for what he considered her faithlessness to her own people. Going among the whites she was asked and refused as they could afford, and in the years that have passed she has lived as best she could, doing housework or anything else offered her to make a living. A friend of Col. Meacham recently discovered the poor woman, and at his suggestion Representative Hermann introduced a bill to grant her a pension of $25 a month.

ANNUAL SCHOOL MEETING.—On Monday last the annual school meeting of district No. 16 was held at the school house in this city. The report of the district clerk, G. W. Smith, Esq., was read, showing the number of legal voters in the district to be 127. Number of pupils enumerated is 209. Number in daily attendance, 72. Number of pupils enrolled in private school, 40. R. C. Miller was chosen director, and G. W. Smith was re-elected clerk. The entire board now consists of W. B. Donaca, C. B. Montague and R. C. Miller, directors, and G. W. Smith, Esq., clerk. The teachers are C. S. Hunt, Principal, and Miss Fannie Griggs, assistant. Both are very efficient in their work, and the school is prospering finely in every particular. Another gratifying feature is that the affairs of the district for the last several years have been so economically managed that it has been unnecessary to levy any tax for the support of the school.

STR. BENTLY RUNS ON A SNAG.—On Tuesday morning last, about 7 o'clock, the O. P. steamer, Bently, while running under slow bell through a place of difficult navigation about 10 miles below Salem near Lincoln, the boat struck on a snag, and such was her momentum, that a seam 40 feet long was ripped in the boat before she could free herself from the stump. Captain Smith immediately headed the vessel for the nearest accessible point on shore, but before the vessel could reach a place of safety she sank in four feet of water, one hundred feet from shore. She had on board 100 tons of flour and 50 tons of freight which was only slightly damaged. The Win. M. Hoag took the freight of the damaged vessel on to Portland. The Bently will be bulkheaded, and will probably be ready for resumption of navigation in two or three weeks.

FIRE AT HARRISBURG.—A fire broke out at 9 o'clock on Tuesday morning last in the restaurant of Mrs. Cartright, a small wooden building, and in a few minutes the flames had spread to the adjoining buildings, consuming the remainder of the block northward, in which is situated the postoffice, J. P. Schooling's drugstore, May & Sender's warehouse and other wooden buildings. A later report says the fire on Tuesday morning did not burn as much as first reported. It broke out in a row of buildings on First street, between Smith and Moore streets. Four old buildings were destroyed. By hard work on the part of the citizens Butler's saloon corner and the Masonic lodge and the corner building were saved, but the loss sustained by the removal of contents will be considerable.

AN OLD PIONEER.—Hon. R. B. Hinton, aged 75 years, died at the residence of his son a few days ago, in Monroe, Benton county. Speaking of his death, a Corvallis paper says: Mr. Hinton settled in this county in 1846. He was a member at the territorial legislature in 1857, and filled different offices of honor and trust during his lifetime. He was a man whose word was always as good as his bond, and was honored and respected by his neighbors as an upright, honest man. He leaves quite a large family to mourn his loss, among whom are Westly Hinton, of Monroe, and Mrs. Judge Burnett, of this city.

AN INTERESTING RELIC.—While in Albany last week Mrs. H. L. Hardy, proprietor of the neat tobacco shop on Main Street, showed us a copy of the Utter County (N. Y.) Gazette, published at Kingston by Samuel Freer & Son. The copy we saw was dated January 4, 1800, and gives the proceedings of the "American Congress," and has the column rules turned in mourning for George Washington, who died on the 14th of December, 1799. The old sheet is yellow with age, and containing many interesting notes of "Ye olden times" makes it very much of a prize.

RETURNED.—After due consideration Mr. F. J. Hendrickson has returned from Albany to Lebanon. Frank has the reputation of being a first-class boot and shoe maker, and it is to be hoped that he will be patronized as a good workman should be. Being a man of family, he is entitled to favorable consideration.

MARRIED.—On Wednesday, March 7, 1888, Mr. Thomas Ball and Miss Myra Leedy were united in matrimony at the residence of the bride's parents near Spicer, Rev. Bashor officiating.

DIED.—In Lebanon, Linn county, Or., on Thursday, March 1, 1888, of measles, CLIFFORD, infant son of F. J. and Phoebe Hendrickson, aged 1 year and 19 days.

TOLD BY CORRESPONDENTS.

HAMILTON CREEK. March 5. "Dame rumor" says there is soon to be a wedding on the Creek. A. N. Reed says turkeys are in demand. His don't roost on the fence now. Born—to the wife of Mr. J. G. Dolan, a daughter. Mother and child doing well. Nathan Fry lost a fine yoke of oxen from local causes which are prevailing in this locality. John Sutton is resowing his fields though there is more than half a stand. He is no halfway man. Wm. Riley succeeded in getting some fine hay from A. Newquist. Feed is scarce and in demand. Mel Miller is doing extensive improvements. He has had two young men from the east employed during the winter. O. Healey is negotiating with J. G. Reed for right of way for a road and ferry from Sodaville direct to Sead.

CRAWFORDSVILLE. March 5. Mr. E. J. Hughes, of this place, is very sick. Our town has been overrun this week with drummers. Mr. J. H. Glass has gone to Albany and other points in the valley on business. Mr. Wm. Riggs, of Mohawk, is in town to-day. He has applied for the school here. Mr. Herman Robe returned from Albany last Saturday. He was down to attend the teachers' examination. Mr. A. J. Shanks and wife returned home last Saturday, from Sweet Home, where Mr. Shanks has been teaching for the past three months. Mr. Frank Glass and his sister Lillie, of Corvallis, are visiting the family of R. Glass. Miss Lillie has been visiting relatives in the eastern states the past winter. The regular school meeting of district No. 3, met here to-day. J. F. Hunt was elected director in the place of J. H. Scott; W. B. Glass was elected clerk in place of D. H. Glass. The loggers are still camped on the river waiting for a rise in the water. It looks now as if they need not wait. If they do not get their run of logs out, it will be a good thing for our mills here.

SCIO. March 7. Billy Abbott, and Thomas Watkins, are busily engaged building several hay presses, on the improved plan. Last Thursday at Silverton, Mr. Archie G. Wolford and Miss Elma Beard were married, and are spending a part of their "honeymoon" with Dr. Holdridge of this city. The protracted meeting of the great Texas revivalist, Rev. Kirkpatrick, is yet in progress, and appears to have come to stay, as there appears to be but little diminution of the attendance. Yesterday, he immersed seven converts—three males, and four females. At night the house was well filled, a large number of the crowd being "hoods." Just when the meeting will adjourn is not yet known. The Odd Fellows of our city were favored last Wednesday evening, by the visit of Mr. Henry Armstrong, now of Salem. Mr. Armstrong is a very venerable "three-linker," now in his eighty-sixth year, and fifty-three years of his fellowship in the order, and is thought to be the oldest living Odd Fellow in the United States. He is in fine health for his advanced age, and imparted much information to the members of the lodge, by his sage experience. Dierdorf Lodge No. 54, of this city, is now in good working order, with occasional additions. It has been raining gently, however, for several days, and quite cool; so the farmers are hindered from their work, as much of the plow land was full wet before the spring showers began. As prospects of the spring weather opens, and grass begins to grow, so the spring drummers are getting in their time as well as the anxious politicians—"have a cigar sir? Happy to meet you sir!" Compliments are cheap this spring, and will last "how long, oh Lord how long."

A CARD. ED. EXPRESS: In your paper of February 17, I see that the prohibitionists have used my name as one of the central committee. I never gave any orders to have my name used by the prohibitionists and positively decline to act, as I am a candidate of the Democratic party of Linn county for County Treasurer. While I am a temperance man, I have always been a Democrat, and have never asked anyone to join the party until now. Being disabled and incapacitated for hard work, any favors shown me will be thankfully received. JOHN BURKETT. SWEET HOME, Feb. 27, 1888.

CARD OF THANKS. We, the undersigned, desire to offer our heartfelt thanks to all kind friends who assisted us in our sad affliction. These charitable and kind deeds will never be forgotten. F. J. HENDRICKSON, PHOEBE HENDRICKSON. LEBANON, March 2, 1888.

POSTOFFICES AND PENSIONS.—A postoffice has been established at Ferry, Curry county, Or., and Sarah E. Cooley was appointed postmistress. Daniel M. Stephens has been appointed postmaster at Breno, Lincoln county, W. T., in place of Allen Emerson resigned. Mary A. Conrad has been appointed postmistress at Tampico, Yamhill county, W. T., in place of August Roberts resigned. Pensions were granted to Wm. Shotwell, Tillamook; James Porter, Harrisburg; and Mary, widow of Victor Levitt.

The Times, of Corvallis, a new paper edited by "Bob" Johnson, has been received. It is neat and newsworthy and we hope it may "stick" forever. "Bob" is a jolly good boy and ought to succeed. Mr. S. Reynolds advertises some first-class timothy hay for sale. See A. C. Churchill.

FARM NOTES.

Buckwheat is recommended for soil infested with wire-worms. Attend the farmers' meeting when you can, and don't be afraid to talk and ask questions. When the snow melts on the roofs and in the yards see that it does not soak the litter in the sheep pens. Wet feet are fatal. The "cow pea" was tested for a fodder crop at the Vermont experiment station, last year, and the result was not encouraging. If you are going to try any new varieties of beans, this year, look out for weevils in them. Use no seeds that may be infested with destructive insects. It costs just so much to put a pound of meat on an animal, and if lost during the winter, from low feeding or exposure, it is just that much extracted from the owner's pocket. Sentiment is easily when it causes a farmer to waste forty dollars of provender in keeping a poor, broken-down old horse through winter, when twenty dollars would be a big price for him in spring.

The Farmer, of St. Paul, Minn., advises farmers to run their corn through a threshing machine instead of husking. It will shell the corn and soften the fodder. Good idea. The artificial production of chickens is a great industry in Franklin county, Pennsylvania. Over seven hundred incubators are in operation, and the production is in 10,000,000 to 12,000,000 chickens annually. Every farmer should bear in mind the fact that superiority of crops depends in a great degree on the good quality of seeds, and he should, therefore, try to get the very best, even if the cost be considerably greater. D. H. Thing says he has visited sites in Maine, Vermont, Maryland and New Jersey, and has never met the first man but was pleased with them. He believes the stock could be largely increased and consequently the farm would improve. Professor Whitehair says that a ton of ordinary manure contains only about 20 per cent of fertilizing material, the remaining 80 per cent being water. If that is correct, dry manure would be all fertilizing material, which would place it ahead of superphosphate. A farmer at South Charlotte, Me., thinks superphosphate is best for beans, but for oats he has best success with fish manure, a half ton per acre. The manure sells at the factories for $8 to $12 per ton, and some farmers think it better to buy that than superphosphate. Boys were not calculated for slaves, and no one knows it better than they do. The trouble that many farmers have with their sons is attributable in many cases to the way the boys are treated. All work and no play not only makes Jack a dull boy, but generally a mean boy, as well. There is a strong rivalry between the Oxfords and Shropshires for superiority as mutton breeds. They are very large in size, frequently weighing 350 pounds each, with marbled flesh of good quality. As a first cross for the native sheep the Southdown is claimed to be the best breed. At a grange meeting in Mt. Vernon, Me., Captain Carson said he believed that corn, even of colossal height, could be put in whole and out with a hay knife, in sections, with less trouble and expense than would attend cutting. He spoke of several farmers who had stored their fodder in this way with the best results. Trees must have a good soil to grow in as a rule. Certain varieties of trees seem well adapted to grow in the poorest soil; many others will occasionally become established in a poor soil and do well; but for success in ornamental tree planting a good soil is necessary, and it should never be less than a foot deep. There are no secrets in sheep raising. It has to be done by feeding. The sheep have to eat something, and that something has to be sweet feed, grass, grain, vegetables, fruit, or anything that is wholesome and unfilling. Weeds, brush and briars will keep sheep alive, but don't ask sheep to grow mutton or wool on such pastures. The strawberry plants will begin to grow as soon as the frost shall be out of the ground, and now is an excellent time to fertilize them. A mixture of wood ashes and superphosphate is a special fertilizer for strawberries. Hen manure in a fine condition may also be used, and should be scattered over the plants in time to be washed down by the rains. Peter Henderson has made the statement that, in his experience, with thousands of frozen plants he has tried all manner of experiments and found that the best method was to get them out of the freezing atmosphere to some place warm enough to be just above the point of freezing, or, if there are too many to do that, get up the fire as rapidly as possible, and raise the temperature. The Dairy. Assistant Commissioner Talcott, of Ohio, in a report made last month declares that he is confident from his official investigation, that bogus butter ought to be forbidden entirely on sanitary grounds.

Professor Arnold states that it costs more to make milk from old cows than it does from young ones having the same milk capacity. As a rule, the best efforts do not last beyond the eighth year of the cow's age. Mr. E. J. Parker, of Georgia, Vt., recently read a paper of "Creameries in Vermont," in which he said that six years ago he started in Georgia on the cream-gathering system, setting milk in the deep, open style, but has come to the conclusion that the separator is better than anything else. When the cream foams in the churn and will not make butter, it may be, and most probably at this season is, due to too much acidity in the cream. If the milk is set at a steady temperature of 60 or 68 degrees for two days, and the cream kept for two or three days longer at the same temperature, there should be no difficulty in churning. If there should be, the cow ought to be fed a little corn meal once or twice a day.

THE G. A. R.

Give below a few choice extracts from Department Commander M. L. Olmsted's address at Albany, February 22, 1888. We would be glad to give our readers the address entire had we space to spare. Nearly twenty-three years have passed since the close of the great civil struggle which for magnitude of interests at stake and principles involved, the history of the world presents no parallel, and which the coming years of time can never exceed. * * * Since the day of triumph millions have been born, and a new generation of men now hold the destiny of the republic in their keeping, who remember us only in song and story; who look upon us as unnecessarily loitering upon the stage of action, or as a stumbling block in the way of selfish motives and increasing usurpation and aggrandisement. During the year 1887 the Grand Army, in relieving from want many of its needy and dependent comrades and their families, expended the sum of $233,934 relieving from want more than 20,000 persons. Why should the surviving veterans be obliged to carry this burden? They who have given so much to that country whose treasury vaults are now bursting with surplus millions, are they not entitled to relief? * * * During the past year an order was made by the President for the return of the battle-flags captured by us, to the respective States representing the regiments or organizations from whom they were taken. This order was met by a decisive and vigorous protest from various Departments of the Grand Army. That this protest, under circumstances, was eminently fitting and proper needs but a moment's consideration. By law these trophies, proud emblems of our success, were the property of the Government of the United States; and the executive had no more right or authority to dispose of them than he had to dispose of the coin in the treasury vaults or the forts that line our coasts. * * * Comrades, our life's work is not yet done, nor will it be until the bugle from the battlements of the eternal world shall sound the recall, and the last file of the Grand Army of the Republic shall have formed in the ranks of the great beyond. If we are true to ourselves, our comrades and our country in the future as we have been in the past, we can rest assured that when the last of our number shall wheel into line upon the plains of eternity, our beloved republic will still be safe for an hundred years yet to come.

LAND OFFICE MESS.—Spokane Tribune: As there has been no official notice of the shortage in the receiver's funds, so no official statement can be given. In justice to Mr. Adams, the register, we want to say that so far as we know he is not implicated in the least in this matter. The shortage is something over seven thousand dollars. Out of $2500 of lieu land money received by the receiver there was only $1000 ever deposited in the bank. The other was immediately squandered as the checks at the bank show for themselves. The bondsmen are anxiously awaiting an inspector with authority to take the matter in hand. Until he comes and officially examines the matter, no action can be taken. It is reported that there is an effort on foot to compromise the matter. The bondsmen of the late receiver are in the city and are looking rather glum.
