AN ERA OF LETTERS.

One of the Most Notable Characteristic of the Current Decads.

The condescension to literature and to the stage is one of the notable char eteristics of this agreeable time. W have to admit that literature is rather the fashion without the violant pre sumption that the author and the writer have the same social position that is conferred by money, or by the mys erious virtue there is in pedigree. A person does not lose caste by using the pen, or even by taking the not-needed pay for using it.

To publish a book or to have an trticle accepted by a magazine magive a sort of social distinction, either as an exhibition of a certain unex preted capacity or a social eccentric y. It is hardly too much to say that thas become the fashion to write, as t used to be to dance to use the broadsw

It is a wor time for literature. The Queen of gland writes for it, the Queen of Ramania writes for it, the Shah of Pers wrote for it, Lady Brassey, the yachts woman, wrote for it, Congress write for it, Peers write for it. The aovel is the common recreation of ladies of rank, and where is the young woman in this country who has not tried her hand at a romance or made a cast at a popular magazine? The effect of all this upon literature is ex-parsive and joyous. Superstition about mystery in the art has nearly disappeared. It is a common observa-tion that if persons fail in every thing else, if they are fit for nothing else, they can at least write. It is such an easy occupation and the remuneration is in such disproportion to the expenditure! Isn't it indeed the golden era of letters? If only the letters were gold! -Harper's Magazine.
