LEBANON COUNTY ELECTION RETURNS.

Majorities in the following table represent 1000, as 238 should read 1888.

We give below a table of the election returns which is complete. Stanton and Franklin Butte Precincts were through some oversight on the part of the Clerks and Judges, incomplete, they failing to make any return on the office of County Surveyor, thereby leaving a majority in favor of the Republican candidate for that office.

THE RESULT.

Monday closed one of the most eventful elections in the history of Oregon. There was but one issue before the people—and that was the all important question of the Tariff. The discussion was calm and dignified, and the campaign was marked by gentlemanly bearing and a fair and candid state ment of facts. The result in Linn county as shown in the table which is found elsewhere in this issue shows a slight falling off in the usual democratic majorities and also a want of harmony in the democratic ranks, which was exemplified in the scattering of irregularity of the vote. The result in the state is an increased republican majority from 1000 two years ago to near 7000 this year, much to the mortification of the democracy and also a surprise to the republicans. The result only shows us the uncertainty of the "Fox Populi," and instability of parties.

The democratic demand for revision of tariff has been christened Evex Trade by the opposite party, and on this line they have forced the contest. The coming presidential campaign will perhaps develop more statesmanship, and a deeper research into political economy, than any question since the "late unpleasantness." We rejoice that the dead stretch of the past, the bitter acrimony of sectional hate, are all forgotten and buried in the great living question of the day.

To become a statesman is certainly a laudable ambition. To be a politician is to assist in making statesmen. The one may be as faithful in his work as the other. The popular vote in this county determines elections and settles principles. That vote is largely in the control of politicians. Certainly a politician who favors principles which he believes to be right, and supports them in an honest manner, is engaged in a good work.

The strongest denunciations of politicians I have ever heard of come from men who had been defeated in securing offices. The world looks very dark to a man the morning after election in which he has been defeated for office. He remembers the broken promises made to him, but forgets those he made to others. He forsakes politics, abandons his party, and calls himself an independent, and usually ends by making himself a general nuisance.

That our statesmen and politicians are growing better instead of worse I think admits of no doubt. The black-guardism recently exhibited in the United States Senate is bad enough, but it is better than the old custom of personal assaults which prevailed before the war. The condemnation of the public has been swift and severe. The morals of politicians, if a little lower than those of the people, yet keep pace with them and never fall far behind.

THE CEREMONIES ATTENDING THE LAYING OF THE CORNER STONE OF THE CATHOLIC UNIVERSITY HAS BROUGHT TOGETHER A LARGE CONCOURSE OF CATHOLICS, AMONG THEM BEING MANY DISTINGUISHED CLERGYMEN. THEN THERE HAS BEEN A JEWISH GATHERING HERE THIS WEEK, A CONFERENCE OF HEBREW RABBIS AT THE SYNAGOGUE ON EIGHT STREET; TWO HUNDRED FINE FIRE LADIES FROM HUDSON N. Y., AND EXTENSIONS ARE ENTIRELY TOO PLENTIFUL TO ATTRACT A NOTICE.

The Baptist brethren, in sombre citizens' attire, came to the Capitol and mingled with the city's throng almost unobserved except for their guide-books and their slight seeing propensities. Not so with the knights of the Golden Eagle, who made their presence felt conspicuously. Gold braided caps and uniforms, and hats with long white and purple plumes were to be seen everywhere.

It was on Tuesday especially that the sounds of trumpet and drum stirred the air of Pennsylvania avenue all day. In the morning it was the visiting fireman; in the afternoon it was the Knights of the Golden Eagle. The Baptist friends were leaving and the lawyers were coming, and while neither made such a popular stir with their movements, they were none the less welcome. The great convention city holds out her hand in welcome to all, whether their advent is under swaying banner and heralded by martial music or whether they slip in unobserved, singly or in groups, from the station, graysack in hand.

The Catholic demonstration was directed by General Rosecrans, who is himself a zealous catholic. The Washington catholic organization led the visiting organizations in the procession the next post of honor being given to the clergy. The procession of clergy was led by the priests, followed by the bishops, and then the archbishops, with the cardinal in the rear. The blessing of the corner stone was the first detail of the programme, and then followed an address by Bishop Spaulding, with other exercises.

It would require the space of a large sized volume to tell you what took place in the Baptist conventions, since it was the largest of the kind ever held in America. The temperance question was discussed among other things however, and I will just mention that the National Capitol was too attractive, and that some of the ministers who made speeches did not hesitate to say that sight seeing among the delegates interfered with the conventions.

The report of the committee on European missions indicated great and material progress in every branch of the work there. Another report called attention to the lack of workers in China. There is only one missionary to every 19,000,000 of inhabitants in that far land. The report of work done in Japan showed the existence of 20,000 Protestant Christians in Japan, 17,500 of that number having been converted since 1880. Four new missionaries, who have consecrated themselves to a life among the heathen, were presented to the meeting of the missionary Union.

The Jewish convention was composed exclusively of rabbis. The Hebrew congregation gets its law from the talmud, and it is independent in its government. An important topic of discussion at this annual session was the possibility of uniting the congregation as a religious organization with the view of securing uniformity in many matters where there is now diversity of practice.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington is overflowing with strangers these days. The series of Baptist conventions, held by the five National Associations of that Church brought over 4,000 people with it. The Knights of the Golden Eagle, that benevolent Society which departs to-day, after having held their ninth annual convention here, paraded the streets, soon reviewed by the President's military escort.

ANDREWS & HACKLEMAN.

The average farmer and gardener now wears a smile on his face, caused of course by the recent rains. Mr. Henry Hayes, an old Iowa acquaintance of the Chance family is visiting with them.

The election passed off very quietly to-day, the best of feeling prevailing. There were sixty-nine votes cast in the precinct. Forty-seven republican four prohibition and eighteen democrat votes, making a republican majority of twenty-five.

E. T. T. Fisher, county surveyor was in town two days last week, and did some excellent work in the way of straightening up the streets. He also run out a new block of town lots. It seems that previous surveys have been incorrect. Several buildings on the south side of Main street, were out in the street about twelve feet, while the ones on the north side were that distance back.

The eloquence of Mr. John Edwards and Miss Vio. Chances has earned considerable of a sensation in the community. They left home about 10 o'clock last Monday night, proceeded to Albany where they were married.

David Rhodes and family moved to Brownsville last week, where they have property.

The officers and executive committee of the Pioneers Association will meet next Friday at Brownsville, to arrange for the coming picnic to be held at this place the 27th of this month.

Henry Bonds team took a lively spin one day last week but were caught before doing any damage.

Walter Lerwill killed two bear near here on last Saturday; he killed the old one and one of the cubs. He is a very successful hunter.

J. H. Glass has added a nice portico to his house which improves the appearance very much.

T. A. Riggs, of Mohawk, has been in our town for the past two weeks assisting J. H. Scott and Son on their dam, "LONG HUNGRY."
