DECORATION DAY ADDRESS.
Extracts from Hon. F. M. Miller's address.
Commander, Comrades, Ladies and Gentlemen. We meet to-day, in the silent city of the dead, to show our love and respect for the memory of the heroic dead, whose sacred graves loving and loyal hands all over our land, have this day decorated with the choicest flowers of spring time.

Memorial Day, was instituted in honor of the memory of those who in their death offered up their lives as a voluntary sacrifice, for the perpetuity of the Union, which our immortal Revolutionary Fore Fathers handed down to us. There is no reason why a rich and prosperous government founded by the voluntary sacrifices of its citizens, defended in any and all wars and preserved and handed down to the future millions, by those who have made this country the home of the free and the asylum of the distressed of every nation and clime, should not freely and generously give after and recompense its defenders in every war. To the young men and citizens of the country, I would say, ever hold yourselves ready in time of necessity, to do battle for your country and flag. The preservation of the country and its best interests, are far above and beyond party strife or power. To the noble women, the great responsibility of love for the country, much depends. The boys and girls under their charge to-day will in a few years, be the men and women, who will determine the future destinies of this country. Let loyalty and virtue be your guiding star, and all will be well.

To-day, thanks be to God, we live in a united country, beneath the grand old flag that was our independence. May it ever wave, the symbol of liberty, and a united people. Comrades, in conclusion, The Grand Army does not encourage sectional hatred. One of our comrades has said "Let us have peace". A great one whose fame will last as long as American History is read, has said, with malice towards none, and charity for all. This is the sentiment of the order. A few more years, and we will sink into the valley and the shadow of death. May we with the kind friends that are gathered here to-day, so live, that when the summons comes, we may meet where glorification and rest is found in the mansion above.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

The tariff debate was plodding along over the lumber clause when Mr. Cox of N. Y. created a diversion by asking permission to have read a dispatch from St. Louis, announcing President Cleveland's renomination by acclamation. This was greeted with vociferous applause by the Democrats, and Mr. Tarney, who had the floor, waved his hand and rapturously. As soon as the Democrats had quieted down the Republicans answered them with a round of applause and loud cheering. The Democrats joined in this again, and the scene was continued for several minutes.

On Wednesday the White House was as quiet as it usually is on these summer days and there were no indications outside that its occupant had just received a renomination for the high office he now holds. In the morning Mr. Cleveland drove in from Oak View his country residence, and went to work as usual with the mass of papers requiring his attention. He permitted no visible anxiety about news from the convention, but he read all the telegrams with great interest. At noon he went down to the reception in the East room and shook hands with the people who had gathered there to see him. Later, when the bulletin announcing his renomination was received, he was seated at his desk. Col. Lamont read him the telegram, and after exchanging a few remarks, the President went on with his work as if nothing had happened. Soon the congratulatory telegrams began to pour in from all over the country in large numbers.

Immediately after the receipt of the news Col. Lamont telephoned it to Oak View, to Mrs. Cleveland, who showed much more delight over the tidings than her husband had done. The choice of Vice-Presidential candidates on each of the old party tickets is of vital importance at this election because of the possibility that the president of the Senate for the next two sessions may have the casting vote on all questions of sufficient interest to cause a division on party lines. The terms of twelve Democratic Senators expire on the 4th of March, 1889. Of all these the only seat which the Republicans can hope to win is that of Mr. McPherson, of New Jersey.

As Senator Biddleberger will make way for Mr. Barbour, of Virginia, the Democrats are sure of being no worse off in the next Senate than they are now, while, in case Mr. McPherson should be succeeded by a Democrat, they will have exactly the same number of Senators as the Republicans, and can tie on every party vote.

Should the next Senate be tied, an efficient parliamentarian could render valuable service to his party as presiding officer, and an inefficient one could do or undo anything. And, should the Vice President-elect die between the casting of the electoral vote and the meeting of the Senate, it would be doubtful whether that body would be able to organize at all.

W. C. T. U. AND SUNDAY COLUMN.

"Peace on Earth and Good Will to Men."
Sabbath Desecration.

The Christian Sabbath is recognized by both state and national authorities as a day of rest and religious worship. It is one of the strong pillars of our Christian civilization, one of the bulwarks of our free institutions by which we can worship under our own vine and fig tree, without any to molest or harm us. We are sorry that the Sunday law was violated in Lebanon last Sunday by the Lebanon Hose Team. There could have been no excuse for this outrage on the Christian sentiment of our quiet town. It is bad enough for individuals to trample on law and order, but for an organized body to do so, is simply an outrage that calls for the severest criticism. Such conduct was a sorry invitation to good people to settle among us.

We are glad that Cumberland Presbyterians can meet and legislate in the interest of the church without the necessity of wrangling over the dead issues of the past. They can cross and recross Mason and Dixon's line without knowing where it is. They have done so for more than three-quarters of a century. Not even the bloody civil war destroyed the spirit of brotherhood among our people. The other churches are now trying to undo what they unwisely did in heat and passion before the war. At the meeting of the two Assemblies of Presbyterians in Philadelphia, the burden of every speaker was re-union of the several churches. We are glad to note that the proposition with general approval. President Cleveland was present and addressed the two bodies in a few well-timed sentences. He had the courage to rebuke the spirit of contention that keeps the two great churches apart. His remarks were received with tumultuous applause. We hope that all classes of our fellow-citizens will learn a lesson from his words of wisdom.

We welcome Rev. G. W. Gibony and bride back to Lebanon from their mountain trip. We trust the recreation and rest from ministerial labor, will better prepare him for the arduous work of the summer, and now that the young pastor has a helpmate for life, we sincerely hope that their united efforts for good will be orn and bless of God. We give them our heart and hand for a prosperous and happy journey through life, and a "God bless you" for every word and work in the Masters course.

Time can never be heavy on hands that are filled for God. The worlding may complain that the wheels of time seem to move so slowly. But to the child of God, seeking to serve Christ, time seems all too short. To such an one there is no wearing for the time to go. Therefore he buys up opportunities, seeing the days are evil. Time, to him, is part of his lease below, and upon how, these hours are spent, eternal issues depend.

Mr. Spurgeon does not seem in the least disposed to make peace with his Baptist brethren who stand by the Baptist Union, and the Union seems inclined to retaliate. The latest step shadowed in Mr. Spurgeon's periodical, the Sword and Trowel, in which he conveys the impression that under certain contingencies he will establish new societies for home and foreign mission-work.

"Eternal vigilance" is the price of morals, as well as liberty, and we would modestly suggest to parents to use a little vigilance in knowing where and what their boys are up to at night. One ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, and a "stitch in time often saves nine."

If there is a right thing to be done, and you seem to pass through a wrong thing on your way to it, depend on it there is another way to it, and a better one, and it is your own fault, and not God's that you do not find it out.

BACKWOOD, OR., June 13, 1888.
Well, well! That is a good one on the EXPRESS, hadn't heard of a third party in the late campaign and the EXPRESS a news paper too, Ha! ha! why we cow boys away out here on the rolling strand, had heard all about it, and some of us were crany enough to vote the ticket. Some of us having voted the Prohibition ticket, I say of course we were anxious to see all about the election, and something up the EXPRESS, on its arrival we read the "election returns" with breathless suspense, but nary a word about our party. But hold! Perhaps we are too fast, may be the EXPRESS knew all about it, but could not from the giddy heights of its lofty position, condescend to notice so trifling a thing as prohibition, not deign to refer to so small a body of cranks, or rather fanatics, as some of our cultured enemy's call us, well, that being the case, we beg pardon for our intrusion and hope the EXPRESS will attribute our lapse, not to our heart, but to the rusticity which naturally pertains to the life of a cow boy.
Cow Boy.

When you take a position at service, be faithful. Work diligently and strive to understand and serve the interests of your employer. If your wages are low, even too low, do not let that be an excuse for shirking your duty. But strive to make your service so valuable to him that he can not spare you from his force of employees and he will readily advance your pay.

When you see a newspaper bragging on its own town and booming her for all she is worth, just look at the advertising columns of that paper and see if the boom is solid and substantial or mere mockery. The local columns may deceive, but the advertising will not.—Scout.

Truth is the corner stone of one's character and if it be not firmly laid in youth, our whole social and financial structure is liable to crumble and go to pieces on the rock of speculation or temptation.

For Toilet Use.
Ayer's Hair Vigor keeps the hair soft and pliant, imparts to it the lustre and freshness of youth, causes it to grow luxuriantly, eradicates Dandruff, cures all scalp diseases, and is the most efficient of all hair preparations.

AYER'S Hair Vigor has given me perfect satisfaction. I was nearly bald for six years, during which time I used many hair preparations, but without success. Indeed, what little hair I had was growing thinner, until I tried Ayer's Hair Vigor. I used two bottles of the Vigor, and my hair is now well covered with a new growth of hair.

HAIR that has become weak, gray, and faded, may have new life and color restored to it by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. My hair was thin, faded, and dry, and fell out in large quantities. Ayer's Hair Vigor stopped the falling, and restored my hair to its original color. As a dressing for the hair, this preparation has no equal.

VIGOR, youth, and beauty, in the appearance of the hair, may be preserved for an indefinite period by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. A disease of the scalp caused my hair to become harsh and dry, and to fall out freely. Nothing I tried seemed to do me any good until I commenced using Ayer's Hair Vigor. Three bottles of this preparation restored my hair to a healthy condition, and it is now soft and pliant. My scalp is cured, and it is also free from dandruff.
