The latest Peruvian mails furnish graphic accounts of the burning of a woman at the stake, on the accusation of witchcraft. This in the summer of 1888, and in a country that is supposed to have been favored with christianity for centuries. Both South and Central America are cursed with a bogus form of civilization.

The hotel charges at St. Louis, during the Democratic National Convention, were huge, according according to the reports of the delegates from the Pacific coast; but it appears that Chicago developed more of the hoc disposition. Neither city will be likely to profit by it in the future. The charge of $47 a day for ordinary hotel accommodations is shamelessly extortionate.

The New York law which goes into effect next January providing for the infliction of the death penalty by electricity, requires that the criminal is to be completely secluded after sentence is pronounced. A Trip to Seattle.

Ye compositor of this paper had the pleasure of making a trip to the bustling and bustling city of Seattle as a member of the Albany Hose Team. To say that it is a town of rustic and rustic is but mildly expressing it. On board the cars from the time we leave Portland there is no principal point of interest until we arrive at Hunters Point on the banks of the Columbia, where the transfer is made by boat to Kalama. Some idea of the size of the transfer boat may be had as they run ten or twelve coaches and baggage cases and engine on the boat at once. When we were on the boat the dinner bell sounded and all was pushing and shoving to see who would get to the table first, as first come best served; only about one-half got to the first table. On arriving on the W. T. shore the "all aboard" of the conductor is heard, and we shortly after pull up to the Kalama depot. The scenery along the railroad is grand, and many thriving towns and stations are passed. The track is for a great many miles along the bank of the Cowlitz river. The principle town of any size is Chehalis, a nice little town of two or three hundred souls, we should judge, from the number of buildings. The next place of note is New Tacoma, a lively and hustling town which has many fine residences and business blocks. But we keep our seats and are soon told "all aboard" the boat Emma Hazard for Seattle a distance of 28 miles. Going down the sound all are eager to view the points of interest on the way. Old Tacoma nestles in a cove and is said to be chock full of business. The Olympic range of which you have a splendid view is the next mark of interest; the mountains covered with perpetual snow looming up in the distance make one feel chilly to look at it. On nearing Seattle there is a grand rush for the forward deck to see the city by electric light. The city being built on a side hill nearly every light in the city is brought to view, the magnificent sight must be seen to be appreciated. We were met at the wharf by Chief Collins, and escorted to our room at the Commercial hotel.

On Sunday, those of our team who were not fearful of sickness chartered a sailboat and hired a man to sail it. It crossed the sound from Seattle and enjoyed a salt water bath. Monday morning the hose team from this county were out at 5 a. m., testing the water and getting used to the track. Tuesday morning the team were out bright and early practicing.

Wednesday morning the fun commenced in real earnest; about 3,000 passengers had arrived during Tuesday night to participate in the days festivities. The Fremont's Tournament was the principle feature of the occasion, as all had their favorites in the race. W. T. and B. C. were well represented, having seven teams in the field while Oregon was represented by only two teams. East Portland, Victoria's, Vancouver, W. T., Albany and two home teams.

The Comets of Spokane came with expectations of carrying everything before them, which they did on the first night of their arrival, as they were selling for $10 and $20 first choice and other teams in the field. But after the first days races were over and they saw that the Albany team could outrun them and would have won first prize in the wet test had our hydrant coupler been as familiar with the wrench used to turn the water on as their man was, they did not feel disposed to back their team very heavily.

The Albany team after the shameful manner in which they were swindled out of the speed race at Portland, made up their minds to go in for this race, for all they were worth and show the other teams that they could run even if they were swindled out of what they won by the Portland Hose team. At the crack of the gun the boys were off and came down the track at less than a twelve second gap crossing the line in 27 seconds being the best time ever made by amateurs in the United States.

After the races were all run, the managers of the respective teams, accompanied by the Chief and Secretary of the association, adjourned to No. 15 engine house, where checks were given them for the full amount of their winnings.

We will here say that we have attended several tournaments, but we have never attended one that gave such general satisfaction and where there were such a kind and accommodating set of men as those at Seattle. This is quite a comparison to the slabby manner in which all teams were treated at the Portland tournament where letter after letter was written and assuring the teams attending that they should have a square deal, and how well it was carried out the attending teams can testify to. To Chief Collins of the Seattle Fire Department special praise is due for the square and fair starting of the teams, allowing no team to get the advantage of the gun.

The Spokane boys were a set of perfect gentlemen and on parting with them an invitation was tendered the Albany team to attend their home tournament to be held in Spokane in September, which the team will most likely accept.

A DEPUTY SHERIFF MURDERED.

Shot in the Head by Desperate Prisoners Who Make Their Escape.

News reached here yesterday that Robert Lockwood, a deputy sheriff of Grant county, was brutally murdered by two prisoners confined in the county jail in that county on Thursday.

The Deputy visited the jail there on Thursday night at 10 p. m. to see that all was secure for the night. While he was there a fire broke out in the town, and his absence caused his wife no uneasiness as she presumed that he had gone to the fire. He not appearing later she sent men to the jail who on entering the jail found him dead, having been shot with a pistol the ball entering behind the left ear. The prisoners were gone and supposed to have about two hours the start. The prisoners confined in the jail were McGinnis, a white man charged with horse stealing, and a Pute Indian named Jim, charged with the murder of a man by the name of Bright, in Harney Valley, some time ago.

Fifteen hundred dollars reward has been offered for their capture. Lockwood was an old time resident and was well liked.

Fight with a Panther.

On last Friday night, six young gentlemen who reside near Philomath, started on a hunt to Mary's Peak. Among them was a young man about fifteen years of age, by the name of Leslie Powell. Just before arriving at the camping place on the other side of the peak, it grew rather dark, and as the six hunters were wending their way along the mountain trail, a large panther jumped from a tree overhanging the path, on to young Powell and his horse, but fortunately his faithful dog were at the horse's heels and they simultaneously jumped on the panther. A merry fight ensued for about half an hour in which the panther came out second best. They brought the scalp to this city yesterday for their bounty of $25.00 which will hardly pay for the boys ten pantaloons and saddle blanket.

Only a Little Bit Angry.

G. W. Hunt, the ex-contractor on the Oregon Pacific railroad, returned to Portland yesterday says the Oregonian of recent date, from Albany, where he had made arrangements for shipping to Wallula the stores and powder, tools, etc., which have been brought in from the scene of his contract on the Oregon Pacific. He says some of his powder is spoiled, and of course, all of his potatoes and onions and such like stuff is worthless. When he looked over the supplies brought in and thought of all the money it had cost and time wasted in hauling it out into the mountains and back again, he was just a little wrathful. He expressed his opinion freely in regard to people who will lead a man into such a scrape by representing that they have money which they have not.

Spiritual Meeting.

A spiritual meeting was held at the residence of J. B. Parrish on Sunday, July 8, 1888. The meeting was called to order by J. B. Parrish. On motion Dr. J. A. Lamberson was elected temporary chairman, who appointed a committee of five to ascertain the cost of land for camp ground purposes and cost of building a hall for holding spiritual meetings in from time to time. The committee consists of James Vinson, F. M. Hazzen, Wm. Read, John Read and W. A. Gleason. The committee are to report at Waterloo Springs on July 22nd, 1888.

W. H. CUMMINGS, Secretary.

Trade at Home.

When you return from some other town with a bundle of goods that you could have purchased just as well from your home merchants, don't you feel a little mean? If you don't, the Lord pity your soul. You are doing what a little you can to ruin every business in your town, because we all depend on one another. When you have the cash to pay for goods, don't go off to some other town to make your purchase and then expect your home merchants to "carry" you for months. Give those that accommodate you the benefit of your cash transaction.

Blaine's Reception.

Preparations to receive Blaine on his return are already being made on a grand scale. The Republican Club of New York, which has a committee actively at work making arrangements for his reception, have applications from many clubs, some from distant cities, for places in the parade. A fleet of steamers will meet the vessel on which he arrives, and an escort made up of clubs will meet him at the wharf and accompany him to his hotel.

During the past six months 231,000 immigrants have landed at New York. This beats the record for the same period last year by 25,000. 28,000 Italians arrived last year.

J. P. Galbraith, of Albany, visited his family at this place on Monday, and renewed acquaintance with his many friends.

John Franzen, wife and daughter, Miss Retta Rice, and Joseph White returned from the Belknap hot springs on last Friday.

Claude, the little son of John Seeger, aged five years fell from the limb of a tree and striking the ground, sustained a fracture of the thigh bone.

There was no formal observance of the 4th at this place; many of our citizens visiting Woodburn, Waterloo and other points where celebrations took place.

W. B. Blanchard, returned from Portland, on Friday, bringing with him assays from the Pioneer quartz claim, showing $30 to the ton; this was from croppings.

Calapoola Lodge, No. 43, I. O. O. F. of this place installed the newly elected officers on Saturday last as follows: A. L. Kirk, N. G.; M. Farley, V. G.; A. C. Foster, R. S.; W. R. Kirk, Treas.

Many farmers in this section have commenced hay harvest; owing to the June rains the grain is rank and heavy, the heads being plump and full, and the yield will probably be greatly in excess of any former year.

On last Saturday evening at the North Brownsville City Hall, Hon. J. H. Slater addressed a large and appreciative audience on the subject of tariff reform. The subject under discussion was most ably handled by the speaker to the satisfaction of those in attendance, which numbered many ladies.

As yet the fences and walls have not been ornamented with the usual immense and gaudy circus posters, but we do not lack for circus shows which daily occur on our streets, affording much amusement to the many spectators who greatly enjoy the exhibitions of skill in horse breaking and riding, displayed by our home talent, that for sticking qualities would put to shame the most expert rider attached to the sawdust arena of any traveling exaggeration under canvas. Almost daily, there arrives from bunch grass prairie that have never known halter or saddle, and when these necessary appendages are brought to their notice, accompanied by an expert rider, the snorting, bawking, rearing, kicking and rolling commences in good earnest, affording to the rider an opportunity of equestrian management that beats any dollar Wild West circus, even if made doubly attractive by the "phant" lady, educated hog, Professor Hamfat the fire-eater, and the altitudes of a side show.

TALLMAN.

Wheat looks better than usual.

Bruce McKnight is very sick at present writing.

Hay harvest is beginning in earnest, and crops are flattering in the extreme.

Miss Ellen Thompson has just returned from her sisters, near Salem, where she has been since March.

Thinking that a few lines from here would be of interest to your many readers, and find space in your paper, we jot down a few and send to you for publication.

We judge from the beaming smile that betokens the face of our school-teacher, that the angel of peace has spoken sweet words of consolation to his restless spirit.

Our enterprising warehouse men, Smith & Hammaek, are busily engaged shipping wheat, and getting their house in readiness for the next crop, which promises to be very large.

A very painful accident happened to Jesse Smith. While out driving last Sunday his horse became frightened at a covered wagon, and tried to run; he jumped from the buggy and caught the animal by the bit, to prevent her from upsetting it, when she ran over him, leaving him with some broken ribs.

The glorious fourth is passed without leaving any marks of its displeasure upon our physical body, and we hope none on our moral man. We hew in our dust at Waterloo, while there surrounded by all the beauties of nature and enjoying the company of our friends. We did not fail to note the rapid improvement that was going on, especially in the way of driving horses. Our attention was attracted mostly to a span of beautiful browns, which came dashing by, drawing a light carriage, in which were two of Oregon's bravest sons with their best girls, accompanied by a few selected friends. The movement of these noble steeds was graceful, their forms perfect and the one with twenty years actual experience in the harness, certainly has not an equal in this or any other state. But it seems to be our misfortune not to be the recipient of any such luxuries. There's our girl—stupid thing—the never has that motherly thoughtfulness to prepare and take along our dinner, when we go out to hunt the fourth, and the consequence is that while our fortunate chums, are enjoying the most delicate dishes, we must stand at the hotel door, hungry enough to gnaw the gate posts, and wait till there is room. The way of the transgressor must be hard.

A VALUABLE DISCOVERY—Mrs. Blackbird has made a valuable discovery in connection with the chicken production. It is accomplished by placing fresh eggs beneath a setting hen, and removing the newly hatched chickens daily. By this method, two hens, with a little assistance from the man about the house, can raise a brood of several hundred. She is now experimenting with her old gray hen and has already succeeded in hatching out 120 chickens from one setting and there is no telling where it will end, if the severe strain does not impair old grey's health.—Expte.

THE CHILD RECOVERED.—My little girl, aged seven years, was afflicted with a severe cough and cold. She could not sleep but coughed almost incessantly. I was induced by a friend to try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and was astonished at the immediate relief it gave her and the cure it produced. I would not be without it in the house for any price. I have tried many remedies for coughs and colds, but this is superior to anything I have ever tried. Prof. J. M. Mehan, Capital City Commercial College, Des Moines, Iowa. Sold by Dr. J. S. Courtney.

One of the hardest duties of the editor, says one who has been there, and knows what he is talking about, is to whip it up for the town—announcing its superiority over all its neighbors—when he knows that the advertising columns indicate that he is a liar. Editors are human, and have a conscience, and work and write with the greatest vim, when their purses are full. No town should allow its paper to go out looking like the advance agent of a cemetery, managed by a professional liar.—Ex.
