EFFECT OF COLORS.

A Theory That They Affect the Huma There are some curious things in regard to the way in which the human aind is affected by colors as well as the human sight. We are all familiar with what is termed color-blindness, and the unexpected results that sometimes attend it; but color-sound is something which has received much less investigation. How much, or in what way, animals. are affected by colors, is not very well understood; but the subject has been investigated enough to know that they are influenced by them, and the future will probably bring out some surprising results to the one who shall thoronghly cultivate this comparatively unexplored field or research. Some people can select and appreciate the colors of sounds; and to them the speaking of a name presents, mentally, a welldefined color, or combination of colors, different names having different shades or combinations. The same name should, of course, always present the same color, or combination, when spoken, although, to different people, possessing the faculty, a given name or sound does not present the same characteristics. To prove the first of these two facts, a list of names was prepared, and the shade or color given by a lady who has this power, After several weeks the names were again read to her, and the colors desigseveral experiments the only variations | reach New York. in the answers given were such as would be natural where there was some | ark, N. SIGHT AND MOTION.

Two Examples of the Illusions to Which

The senses are subject to illusions in proportion to the remoteness of the information that they give from the immediate necessities of the organism. Touch, the most immediate and least inferential of the senses, is least subject to illusions; while sight is so very much so, that the blind often say they whose names are not known. have an advantage over the seeing in neaver to those of touch than to those visual impressions. Of this the writer has recently had two interesting examples. He was standing upon the floor of a railroad depot, the boards of which were laid with a considerable open space between them; and the shadow down by the swinging of the light in Catherine T. Tripp, aged 105, and her the wind. Looking at the floor, it seemed as though the shadow were stationary, and the floor-boards moving. From this it followed that the person on it was moving, too, and the writer the niece is supposed to be still in the distinctly felt the swinging sensation; in fact, his attention was called to the phenomena by this feeling of motion. The other observation was as follows: while riding in the cars and looking out of the window, the trees and all are seen to move in the opposite direction. If, now, one looks in a mirror so situated that it reflects the passing landscape, which, however must not be visile except in the mirror, one has the Illusion of moving in the opposite to the real direction of motion, owing to the reversal of the image in the glass. In both these cases an immediate bodily sensation is induced by a more or less unconscious inference through visual sensations. - Science.

But, remember, it is not an experimental machine, as the Old Fogy machines are. You are well a were of the time lost (that you have to pay for) in experimenting with Old Fogy machines. The New Fangled Thresher leads the way. The growling and kicking of the Old Fogy agents is only equaled by the amount of grain kicked cut in the straw by the O d Fogy machines. Of course, if you wish a cheap machine, Old Fogies will supply you at your own price; but their machines are dear at any price. You cannot afford to buy a thresher without examining the ADVANCE. Do not be talked 'nto buying a machine because it is cheap and Old Fogy ish. Ask the Old Fogy agents if they will set beside the new-fangled machine and ist you see which is the experimental machine, and sold on its merits. I have never yet had to call on any court to help decide the merits of the new-fangled machine. Please examine the court records in reference to the Old Fogie's plan. Many years ago a man built a new-fangled machine, called a steam engine. Old Fogies then as now, stood back and said they would ruin the country. Do you not want to be ruined in the same way? Hemember, the new-fangled machine is past all experimenting, while Old Fogy's machines are being experimented with all the time, and at your expense. Do not foot with them any longer, while your grain is going to waste.

Remember the new-fangled machine is sold on its merits entirely. Remember, your whole dependence is upon your crop proceeds, and if you allow Old Fogy machines to waste your grain, you are just that much out of pocket. To prevant this, see that the party that does your threshing procures a new-fangled ADVANCE Thresher, as they are constructed so as to save your grain, and have a better record than any old-fogy machine. Write for further particulars. I am prepared to prove all my statements—i. e., The ADVANCE machine will do more and better work than ABVANCE machine has failed to do as represented since its introduction on this Coast. Show up or shut up.

Hemember that old fogy agents saying the contrary does not make it so. It will pay you to investigate. I can prove all I say.
