

PERSONAL AND OTHERWISE

Mr. Harmon of Scio was in Lebanon yesterday.
George Buhl is back to Lebanon after several weeks' absence.
Mr. J. G. Eaton and family left for the mountains yesterday.

Mrs. Thos. Kay of Brownsville was in Lebanon last Monday.
We are pleased to note that our marshal is repairing our town sidewalks.
The oats of John Weiss, of Miller's station, averaged 119 1-5 bushels per acre.

Andrews & Hackleman have made some improvements in their store this week.
Mrs. E. Murphy and Miss Emma Murphy, of Jefferson, are visiting in Lebanon.
There will be preaching and Sunday school at the First Presbyterian church next Sunday.

Charley Miller is again to be seen in his old place with his brother at the City drug store.
Many wagon loads of people going to the mountains have passed through Lebanon this week.
Mrs. Scott Williams started to California last Tuesday, where she is going to visit her mother.

Bishop Galloway will dedicate Bethel church, located at Spier, Sunday, August 25, at 11 A. M.
Miss McConnell is teaching a writing class in the public school building. She will also teach a class at Scioville.
Dr. G. W. Biggers, of Belleview, Idaho, was in town the first of the week visiting his brother-in-law, Mr. J. A. Beard.

J. C. Johnson of Scio recently sold property in and near Scio to a Seattle gentleman for $6000. Mr. Johnson will remove to Seattle.
It is said that watermelons contain cholera microbes this season. Bring your melons to this office and have two microbes destroyed free of charge.
Mr. F. H. Roscoe and wife of Albany came out to Lebanon last Saturday night. Mr. Roscoe returned Monday, but his wife is still visiting friends here.

Mr. Wesley of Chamala falls is banking a large number of logs, but will have to wait until the fall rains before he can float them down the Santiam to Wheeler's mill.
The hearts of the printers were made glad last Monday by receiving some delicious cake from Mrs. M. E. Hearn on the occasion of her birthday. May she live to see many more birthdays.
The circus is coming, tra la, tra la. The clown with his chestnuts, tra la, tra la. The great ivory cutie. The camel, the whale, And the orthorychus. Who stands on his tail.

Work was commenced on the Oregon Pacific Monday, a force of graders beginning work on Mr. Brink's contract of finishing Nelson Bennett's abandoned work. Two gangs of Chinamen began work Tuesday.
Mr. J. G. Eaton, living in the northern part of Lebanon, raised this year, on 3 1/2 acres of stumpy ground, 144 bushels of wheat, being about 4 1/2 bushels per acre. Farmers having large yields of grain will confer a favor by reporting them to this office.
Mr. John Vinson and sister arrived from Eastern Oregon last Saturday on a visit to their father, James Vinson, who was seriously injured some time ago by falling on a stump. The old gentleman, we are pleased to learn, is getting along nicely.

Mongolian pheasants are doing great damage to crops, especially wheat. A correspondent at Oakville, writing to the Democrat, says if they are allowed their freedom for two years more the farmers will have to abandon and let them have the farms.
We are glad to note that Mr. W. E. Spicer has made considerable improvement on his warehouse at Spier. Messrs. E. B. Crouch and Allie Nickerson completed this week a contract of putting in one of Holman's improved suction cleaners. The house is now prepared to accommodate farmers.
The lawn party that was to have been given last Saturday evening by the ladies of the M. E. church was postponed out of respect to the death of Mr. Geo. B. McKinney. It will be given on Mrs. C. C. Hackleman's lawn to-morrow evening. Refreshments will consist of ice cream, cake and lemonade. Everybody cordially invited.

A compositor in Providence, R. I., proposes to do away with "spacing out," but he would accomplish this by dividing the word just when they should happen to end when ordinary "th re-em" spaces are used. He would even do away with the hyphen in connecting words so divided. The reader can judge by this paragraph how such a method would look.
Dr. Felix O'Toole, a well-known citizen of Albany, died last Sunday, after a lingering illness of several months, at the advanced age of 74. Dr. O'Toole was born in Ireland, but came to America in his early manhood. He was engaged for several years in the mercantile and fisheries business in Michigan, and came to Oregon and located in Albany. He leaves an estate worth about $20,000.
Last week THE EXPRESS mentioned that work had begun on the Scio branch. Work had proceeded two days when on Thursday evening word was received from Receiver Scott informing the citizens of Scio that a part of the bargain was for Mr. Goins to take the West Scio warehouse, which he would not do. Work was immediately stopped. An indignation meeting was held and Scott was hung in effigy.

While workmen were engaged in excavating for a foundation for a bridge pier at Oregon City, they uncovered seven skeletons and a lot of Indian relics. The place of excavation was on the west bank of the Willamette opposite Oregon City, on the site of what was once called Linn City, an ancient aspirant for metropolitan honors. The skeletons were evidently those of Indians and were in an excellent state of preservation.

Fatal Accident.
Geo. B. McKinney, living about six miles above Lebanon, in a horse race, was accidentally killed last Friday afternoon in the following manner: He was engaged in hauling straw into a shed on his farm, and while at the shed unloading his team became frightened and started to run. Mr. McKinney was standing on the back part of the load, and in attempting to get hold of the lines he was thrown off in front of the wagon, under the horses' heels, the wagon passing over his head and shoulders. Dr. Foley was sent for, but Mr. McKinney died before he arrived. His face and head were badly mashed. He was about 50 years of age. The funeral took place at the Lebanon cemetery at 6 o'clock Saturday evening, almost the entire community and town attending, thereby attesting their sympathy in this deep affliction. The deceased was a member of the I. O. O. F. and of the M. E. church in good standing. He was a man esteemed by his neighbors for his many sterling qualities, and was noted for his sympathy and care of his family. He was a true man in every sense of the word. He was buried according to the ritual service of the M. E. church, Rev. Walton Skirpoth officiating, assisted by Rev. J. R. Kirkpatrick. THE EXPRESS tenders its heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved family and friends.

A Bloody Altercation in Polk County.
An altercation took place near Ballston last Monday which will undoubtedly result in the death of one of the parties. Wm. Davis is this season operating a steam threshing and hoarding machine, having a cook house on wheels, which follows the machine. After supper on the day mentioned three of the crew complained of the food furnished, and after some words Mr. Davis discharged them. Soon afterward Layton Tindle made the remark that the supper had not been fit to eat and that the men did right in complaining. Davis told him to shut up and go to work. This greatly exasperated Tindle and he called Davis a vile name and told him he would go to work when he pleased. Davis, who was on his knees working at the machine, immediately arose to his feet, and when passing under the feed table of the machine, picked out a large stick that had been used as a support to the table, and struck Tindle over the head, knocking him insensible. Examination revealed the fact that Tindle was seriously injured, and Davis, after instructing the men to take Tindle to the house and go for a doctor, said he would go and give himself up, and left the crowd, since which time nothing has been seen or heard of him.

LATER.—Davis went to Perrydale Tuesday and gave himself up.
WHAT ARE YOU?
I am 36 years old. I served twenty years on a cotton plantation in South Carolina, making warm clothes for the poor slaves and preparing blankets, comforts and other articles for their comfort. In 1872 I went to North Carolina, where I had an easier time serving nine years preparing wardrobes for the sweetest ladies of the land. How happy I was, working with the linen and lace, thinking that my life would be a better spent. In 1879 I went to the Empire State and lived on the broad prairies of Texas. There I was promoted and served nearly nine years in working with silks, lawns, laces and other fixtures for young ladies. Now I am in the grand valley of the Willamette, and though quite old and have faithfully served three times as long as many others of my kind, I am not laid on the shelf in my old age, as many good people are, and even ministers of the gospel often are. I am now in the most honorable position of my life, serving the honorable editor of THE EXPRESS. Guess what I am.

Will Stay Where They Are.
We are glad to learn from our correspondent that the Brownsville woolen mill is a fixture where it is. It is a paying investment, and the management are deservingly popular and do honest work. We have some personal acquaintance with most of the members of this firm, and know them to be business gentlemen of the very first standing. The first notice we saw of the reported change was in the Lebanon correspondence to the Oregonian, and we did not give any credence to it until after it was published in several other papers. We trust that neither the citizens of Brownsville or the company will suffer any loss by the reported change.

"The Queen of the Santiam."
This elegant and picturesque boat, constructed by Mr. F. J. Hendrickson of this place, was successfully launched in the sparkling waters of the Santiam on the 16th inst., much to the joy and pleasure of some of the older folks of our town. The boat is a credit to the skill and tact of the builder, and is deservedly christened "The Queen of the Santiam," for nothing that we have seen on this majestic stream will compare with it. The best of all is, the purchaser, Rev. J. R. Kirkpatrick, tenders the boat to the young people of Lebanon for a free ride on any day of the week except Sunday.

Fell Out of an Apple Tree.
On Tuesday last Mr. W. A. Gleason was gathering apples on his farm on Hamilton creek, ten miles from town, he slipped and fell a distance of twelve feet, sustaining a dislocation of the shoulder blade and collar bone, besides receiving internal injuries to such an extent that he remained in an unconscious condition until the arrival of Dr. Lamberson, some three hours after the accident. The doctor succeeded in resuscitating him and attending to his injuries, and at last accounts he was resting easy. Mr. Gleason is 66 years of age and a good citizen.

Woolen Mills at Albany.
The Democrat says: The present status of woolen mills for Albany may be put as follows: Mr. Kay will come for $15,000 and a perpetual water power. Mr. Crawford, who owns the water power, will sell it for about $150,000 and will not grant any perpetual right as to the water power. So long as Mr. Kay includes the water power part of it there is evidently no chance of our getting the mills.

TOLD BY CORRESPONDENTS

Brownsville.
Born, Aug. 7, 1888, to the wife of A. Gentry, a son.
Charles Curran of Albany was in town on Wednesday.
Miss Sarah Cushman is visiting relatives near Harrisburg.
A. E. Muir and wife on Monday departed for their home at Portland.
J. P. Galbraith of Albany paid Brownsville friends a short visit on Monday last.

Charles Bishop, of the firm of Bishop & McKay, McMinnville, is visiting his family friends.
Last week Mrs. M. B. Crane departed for Tacoma, W. T., joining her husband at that place.
J. F. Venner, late of Prineville, returned to that place, taking with him a load of green fruit.
T. S. Pillsbury, wife and child on Saturday left for a week's sojourn at the Waterloo soda springs.

N. B. Standish and Frank French, who lately returned from Clear Lake, report a jolly time and fine fishing.
Peter Masterston, residing near Prineville, on Monday last arrived in Brownsville via the Santiam route.
Henry Wilhoit, formerly of Brownsville, at present residing at Prineville, is visiting friends and relatives of this place.

Mrs. J. H. Lewis and daughters Edith and Ann, of Corvallis, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Wilson of this place.
A. W. Standish, who was thrown from a restive horse, received some painful bruises, but fortunately no serious injuries.
O. P. Coshov, Jr., secretary of the B. W. M. Co., accompanied by his wife and daughter, visited the soda springs at Waterloo on Thursday.

Messrs. Dyson, Bradley and Davis left for the Calapooia mines on Wednesday last. They go well provisioned and prepared to thoroughly inspect the mining interests of that section.
During the past week Waters & Morelock have received via the O. Ry. 7000 bushels of wheat purchased at Corvallis. The firm are paying Albany prices for grain delivered at the depot warehouse, Brownsville.

8-2-1888.—Pay day at the Brownsville Woolen Mills, which indicates the circulating medium of this town to the amount of over $1300. The mills are running on full time, both night and day, with their regular force of operatives and the report which has appeared in numerous papers to the effect that the mills were to be moved from Brownsville, is a piece of information which the management of the mills are perfectly satisfied with the present location, the business as a financial success, and furthermore the mills have not lost a single day this year on account of insubordination of water power. The fact that the owners are almost daily adding new and improved looms and machinery, are purchasing all wool brought to the factory for sale, and have recently cleaned and thoroughly put in repair the dam and race, which labor cost considerable time and money, would not seem to indicate the removal of an industry representing thousands of dollars and requiring years of shrewd business application and mechanical management to place it where it stands at the present day.

At the head of the manufacturing interests of the Pacific coast. The report of removal may have grown from the fact that Thos. Kay, superintendent of the B. W. M. Co., on a recent visit to Waterloo, became favorably impressed with the water power at that place, and as a private speculation purchased the same, but has no intention of erecting a mill at that or any other place.

SEIO.
SEIO, Aug. 15.
J. R. Gill has sold his interest in the livery stable to J. K. Thomas.
The narrow gauge has given Scio the "grand go-by." May joy go with them.
Mrs. M. J. Bridgeford of Albany made a short visit with old friends in Scio.
Mr. E. Goins has gone to San Francisco, looking after the interests of the Scio roller mills.

P. O. Smith and family leave today for the mountains. Fish is so scarce the place started for. Object, health, fish and deer.
Teams loaded with railroad supplies are passing toward the front of the O. P. Work has commenced in earnest, and we hope it will be finished after so long.
Mr. S. C. Brown has returned from a trip east of the mountains. He reports every thing very dry, and returns fully convinced that "Wellfoot" is the garden spot of the coast.

Mr. A. J. Shelton, "Nashy" of Jordan, is in town and reports harvesting progressing nicely. Oats are turning out fifty to sixty bushels per acre. Mr. A. T. Powell is threshing sixty bushels of oats per acre.
As young Mr. Gible and mother were coming from Fox valley to Jordan in a cart, at the grade the cart tipped over and cart, horse and passenger rolled down the hill about twenty yards. Mrs. Gible and son were badly bruised up but not seriously hurt.

SOBAYVILLE.

Mrs. Olney Fry, Sr., of Albany, is in the city staying with her granddaughter, Mrs. Alena Klum.
Esa. Henley, George Klum and Mitt Westfall and their families returned from the mountains last week, all considerably improved in health, judging from their looks.
Mr. Hight has made wonderful improvement in the looks of his property here in the past few weeks, having built an addition to his house and finished it all up in good shape.—Correspondence to the Democrat.

Shipping Fruit.
H. F. Page, the enterprising fruit dealer of Portland, last Saturday shipped a car load of Bartlett pears and Hungarian and Columbia pears to Chicago, from Salem. The fruit was procured from the orchard of S. A. Clarke. Mr. Page sent up an expert packer who instructed the hands, and Mr. Clarke had the oranges so well arranged that it was gathered, wrapped in paper, packed and shipped in the short period of three days. The new evaporator at Mr. Clarke's fruit farm is now ready, and with his appliances he can now dry 100 bushels of prunes and turn out 1500 pounds of choice prunes a day. During the next six weeks he expects to cure 60,000 pounds of fruit.

Mr. G. E. Hardy informs us that the poles have been cut for his telegraph line between Lebanon and Albany, and they will commence hauling and distributing them today. He says the line will be up inside of a week.

A Royal Entertainment.
If there is anything in the way of immensity, grandeur and superlative general excellence in organizing their standard tented exhibition, which the Seib Brothers have not provided for or have neglected to procure it has not been made manifest by a visit. They have long been in the van in arene entertainments, but not satisfied with merely "running with the hounds," they have this year determined to lead the pack, and have devoted the entire winter vacation to vastly augmenting and adding to the attractive features of their already formidable show and to disposing by auction of all worn out, discarded and no longer serviceable material and replacing the same with spic-span new paraphernalia and with never-before-presented specialties. The Roman Hippodrome, which forms but a quota of their attractions, will revive in the memories of the visitors the traditions of the turf and gladiatorial sports of the golden days of Rome, and will present thrilling and realistic duplications of the exciting pastimes of that classic period. The fresh faces of many equestrians—equestrians and gymnasts who have won renown at home and abroad—will be seen in the circus rings, and numberless new acts that are astounding will be presented. These animals in the zoological department which from being annually exhibited for a number of years are no longer attractive have been displaced by new and rare accessions. The pair of gigantic living hippopotami, the only pair exhibited in the world, outside of one or two zoological gardens in Europe, have been retained. The show will exhibit at Albany, Monday, Aug. 27.

Accidentally Shot and Killed.
Horace Hawley, son of Hon. J. H. Hawley of Polk county, was accidentally shot and killed at McCoy Tuesday. He was standing on the edge of a porch, holding a gun with the muzzle pointing upwards, when the gun slipped from his hands, the hammer striking on the edge of the porch floor and exploding both barrels. The charges entered the groin, leaving a terrible hole. He was carried to his home and died after three hours' intense suffering. He was 23 years old and leaves a wife and one child.
