KILLED IN A SALOON ROW.

The Burns, Grant county, Herald, contains the following account of the murder of W. H. Brown, a former resident of this county and a brother of Gen. Mart V. Brown, deceased, former editor of the Democrat: About 8 o'clock Saturday evening, Sept. 8, in the course of an altercation between two residents of Harney Valley, Wm. Page and Wm. H. Brown, in C. M. Caldwell's saloon in Burns, the latter was shot dead in the presence of witnesses. Page was arrested on a charge of murder by W. W. Johnson, deputy sheriff, though he had acknowledged himself the doer of the deed a few minutes before by giving himself in custody of a bystander, Joe Woolley, J. C. Woolley, a witness to the crime, testified as follows, which shows how the murder happened: "I was present at Caldwell's saloon when the shooting commenced. Heard there was a fuss between Brown and Page. Brown came to me by Byrd's stable and said that Bill Page was going to lick him. I told him I guess not, that he (Brown) was too old a man to fight. I asked him what the trouble was. He said, nothing much, but Bill Page thinks he can run a bluff on me. He (Brown) pulled out a knife and said, 'I'll stick that into Page before sun-up in the morning.' I went into Caldwell's saloon to play billiards with Mr. Armer. Page says to Brown, 'come and take a drink.' Clark says to Page, 'I'm waiting for you to go home.' Brown says to Page, 'I can lick you from Dan to Beersheba.' Page says 'there is no use for us to fuss, for there is nothing between us, or something to that effect. Brown says, by G— I will lick you, and struck Page. Page fell, and while on his back, with his left hand under him, he shot. Brown was going toward him and in about five feet of him, and I ran across to the southeast part of the building and didn't see any more. Went out the first time I had a chance."

Examination of the body revealed one bullet hole in the head, two in the breast and one in the back. Measurement showed him six feet high, forty inches around the chest, muscular development unusually fine and striking.

A Mystery.

Advices from Grant county report that Lake Malheur, a body of water that covers more than 75 miles, and has been without outlet, is rushing through a subterranean passage with a great roar. The noise is so loud and the shrinkage of water so great as to attract much attention. It is said that miles of formerly submerged land is now visible. The lake receives the waters of the Blitzen river and never overflows. It is situated on a rich, level plain with low shores. It is connected with Lake Harney by a shallow channel 60 feet wide and 600 feet long. If the subsidence prove permanent it may throw the Oregon Pacific survey some miles further south.

Smallpox at McMinnville.

A number of new cases of smallpox have been reported at McMinnville. The town is nearly depopulated, dozens of families having left, and many business houses are closed. The greatest care is being exercised to prevent a further spread. A post house has been built out of town, the three patients have been placed therein, and exposed parties are kept under strict surveillance. Circuit court was to have convened at Lafayette next Monday, but at the request of attorneys and officers of the court, and the mayor of Lafayette, Judge Boise has adjourned the court until sometime next December. The smallpox epidemic at McMinnville and Dayton prairie is the reason.

A Young Mother's Suicide.

Monday afternoon, at her home in Canby, Clackamas county, Mrs. "Doe" Barlow shot herself in the head with a shotgun, causing instant death. She was aged about 25, and left four little children, the youngest about five weeks old. The deed was committed in the presence of the little ones. It is not known that the suicide had any trouble of any kind, and the causes that led to the "mad" act are a mystery. "Doe" Barlow, the husband, is a respectable farmer, and so far as known his relations with his wife were not such as to give any reason for the deed.

James Hayden, foreman of the carpenters working on the Oregonian railway, on the afternoon of Monday received some severe injuries by being struck by a falling "sway brace," a long and heavy timber which the workmen piled from the south end of the bridge crossing the Calapoopa river. As the timber fell it struck Mr. Hayden upon the head and shoulder, throwing him forward in such a manner that his head came in contact with the teeth of a cross-cut saw, and inflicting some painful and jagged wounds. IN MEMORY OF MINNIE KAY.

Died, Sept. 16, 1888, at the residence of her parents, one mile north of Brownsville, Minnie, aged 11 years, daughter of Ann and Thomas Kay, Sr.

Like some sweet flower of early Spring,
That blossoms in the month of May,
With rosy lips and dewy fringe,
So was the life of Minnie Kay.

As lily fair in garden rare,
At opening of the early day,
Its sweetest fragrance then to bear,
So was the life of Minnie Kay.

As tender flowers are gathered in
From frosty winds and winter's spray,
So ere the storms of life began
The angels came for Minnie Kay.

The angels whispered as they came,
"Oh do not let her spirit stay,
For Heaven is waiting now to claim
The love-wrapped form of Minnie Kay."

"Friends and kindred, parents, all,"
Seems not her spirit now to stay,
"Let not a tear of sorrow fall
Upon the grave of Minnie Kay."

"For angels bright and heavenly light
Are shining all my grief away;
There is no blight, there is no night
Shadows the home of Minnie Kay."

A FRIEND.

What the Matter Was.

They were walking in the cool of the day—Frank and Angie. Frank was gazing down at his new shoes and suffered himself to be led past the corner where he intended turning. It was too late now. He saw the sign of the ice cream saloon making itself unnecessarily prominent, and remembered the 15 cents in his inside pocket. "It's strange how qualmish I feel, Angie," he said; "I am afraid I have eaten something that has disagreed with me."

"Indeed! Frank, dear, I am afraid we are walking too far for you. See, here we may rest awhile." "One dish of ice cream," he said faintly to the waiter, and while she waits he looks at the spoon he wenders will she ask for lemonade. Happy thought! He will pay for the ice cream and excuse himself on the plea of needing the fresh air. When Angie comes out she says: "Frank, dear, I perfectly understand the cause of your sudden indisposition and am sorry for you, but if you will buy your shoes of high-priced houses, instead of buying of Andrews & Hackleman, where I trade, you must expect to get left on change occasionally. Some girls would think you were mean, but I know you are only foolish. But really, Frank, if you wish to keep your position, you must be more considerate of my feelings during this hot weather." "Angie," he whispered, "you are a sensible girl and a regular brick. I will try Andrews & Hackleman for shoes hereafter and save money." One price for all at Andrews & Hackleman's.

Notice.

All persons knowing themselves owing us will please make arrangements to settle, as we need the money in our business. Yours truly,

ANDREWS & HACKLEMAN.

I was a great sufferer from Dyspepsia and Constipation. I had no appetite, and my food digested very slowly, and I was afflicted with Headache and Dizziness. I consulted our family doctor, who prescribed for me, at various times, with digestive organs, more than temporary relief. I finally commenced taking Ayer's Pills. In a short time my digestion and appetite my bowels were regulated, and, by the time I finished two boxes of these Pills my tendency to headaches had disappeared, and I became strong and well.—Darius M. Logan, Wilmington, Del.

I was troubled, for over a year, with Loss of Appetite, and General Debility. I commenced taking Ayer's Pills, and, before finishing half a box of this medicine, my appetite and strength were restored.—C. O. Clark, Danbury, Conn.

Ayer's Pills are the best medicine known to me for regulating the bowels, and for all diseases caused by a disordered Stomach and Liver. I suffered for over three years with Headache, Indigestion, and Constipation. I had no appetite, and was weak and nervous most of the time.

BY USING

three boxes of Ayer's Pills, and at the same time dieting myself, I was completely cured, my food digested very now in good order, and I am in perfect health.—P. Lockwood, Groesbeek, Kans.

Ayer's Pills have benefited me wonderfully. For months I suffered from Indigestion and Headache, was restless at night, and had a bad taste in my mouth every morning. After taking one box of Ayer's Pills, all these troubles disappeared, my food digested well, and my sleep was refreshing.—Henry C. Hemmenway, Rockport, Mass.

I was cured of the Piles by the use of Ayer's Pills. They not only relieved me of that painful disorder, but gave me increased vigor, and restored me to health.—John Searns, St. John, N. H.
