

BROWNSVILLE.

A Western Manufacturing City.

One of the Most Prosperous Towns in Oregon.

Its Progress and Growth—Its Advantages and Surroundings—Its Industries and Business Houses.

Brownsville is in Linn county, and is about six miles east of Halsey, twenty-two miles south of Albany, and sixteen miles from Lebanon. It was laid out as a town in 1850, since which time it has increased in size, the various improvements consisting of mills and manufactories, becoming the nucleus of one of the liveliest towns in the State. It has a population of 750, representing mercantile interests, professions and trades, all of which are well established.

We give the names of some of the brave and noble men who had the courage to face the dangers and privations of the plains and came out to this untrodden valley to seek homes and fortunes. Posterity should never let the names of these noble pioneers die. The men and women who first invaded this valley and planted the standard of Christian civilization, deserve more honor and credit than the crowned heroes of many battles. We are sorry we cannot give a complete list, and we hope that those who may be left out will remember that our acquaintance is limited and therefore opportunity is not first class.

The Calapooia river passes in close proximity to the town, furnishing an immense water power, which is utilized by the Brownsville Woolen Mills Company, Brownsville flouring mill, Moyer Brothers' saw mill, sash and door factory, tannery, and Rockwell's furniture manufactory.

Situated in the valley at the foot of the Cascade mountains, whose heights and heavily-timbered sides offer protection from wind and storm, its picturesque dwellings, neatly-arranged grounds, in cool shade of innumerable trees, present a picture of comfort and prosperity, giving evidence of growth and business energy.

In the near streams are innumerable trout. The woods abound in pheasant, grouse and quail, while for the more venturesome hunter, farther back in the dense growth of fir and pine are found bear, deer and the more formidable cougar. The last, however, have given way to the advance of civilization and only exist in the more remote and inaccessible parts.

Stretching away to the west and south are the fertile plains of the Willamette valley, carpeted with numberless fields of golden grain, dotted with farm houses and settlements, showing a prosperous and successful people.

The moral and religious tone of the town is above average, crime being a rarity, and even the more petty offenses are almost unknown. Enjoying the advantages of educational and religious training, its streets present a picture of moral quiet.

Brownsville is accessible from Portland and way stations via the Oregonian Railway, and also has connection with Halsey by daily stage line, mails and passengers being forwarded to Crawfordville, situated six miles to the west, by the regular hack line.

The soil of the surrounding country is fertile in the extreme, producing a luxuriant growth of grain, fruit and vegetables, and good pasturage is afforded stock. The Calapooia bottom lands are noted for the richness of the soil, hop vines making a rank growth and bearing full crops.

Property is held at reasonable figures, and good homes may be secured at moderate and easy terms, while stretching to the south and east are acres of hill and wood land of easy access as yet unoccupied.

Oregonian Railway (limited) makes daily connection with Portland and way stations. Trains depart north at 6:55 A. M.; arrive at 6:55 P. M.

PERCIVAL & RIGGS, STAGE. The stage line of the above firm makes daily trips to and from Halsey, making close connection with the O. & C. R. R.

CRAWFORDVILLE STAGE. M. Shackelford has the contract for carrying the U. S. mail, and makes daily trips, carrying passengers to and from Crawfordville.

CHURCHES. M. E. church—Organized in 1851. Rev. H. B. Ellworthy is its present pastor. First Baptist church—Organized November 16, 1853. First pastor, Rev. Wm. Sperry; present pastor, Rev. Carpus Sperry.

First Presbyterian church—Organized in 1882 by Rev. Robe, who is still its pastor. Cumberland Presbyterian church—Organized in 1875 by Rev. E. J. Bishop, the first pastor. Present pastor, Rev. J. R. Kirkpatrick.

SOCIETIES. A. F. & A. M.—Brownsville lodge, No. 36, meets monthly at Masonic Temple. K. of P.—Dowdall lodge, No. 16, meets every Thursday night at Castle hall. R. A. M.—Linn chapter, No. 19, meets monthly.

I. O. O. F.—Calapooia lodge, No. 43, meets at Odd Fellows' hall every Saturday night. Rebekah degree—Rachel lodge, No. 9, meets the first and third Tuesdays at Odd Fellows' hall.

SCHOOLS. The North Brownsville school has been successfully conducted for many years past and is in a good condition, the average yearly attendance being about 100 pupils. W. W. Hall is principal, assisted by Miss Hattie Long, who during the last month has entered upon her third year's tuition. The classes are graded, and general satisfaction has been given by the management of the school. The school house is situated upon the hill top north and east of the town proper, in a healthy location, and from its elevation commands an extensive view of the surrounding country; the play ground in winter being dry and free from mud or a standing water. The subject of a new school house has been agitated, and probably before a great length of time the proposed new building will be constructed.

The South Brownsville school has been in successful operation ever since the organization of the town, and it is now in a very prosperous condition. School commenced here last Monday under the efficient management of Prof. I. D. Boyer, principal, and Miss Hattie Archibald, assistant, there being about 40 pupils present. The great number of former pupils of this school who are now successful men and women in the business walks of life is a sufficient recommendation of the school, and a guaranty of its continued usefulness.

BROWNSVILLE WOOLEN MILLS CO. The Brownsville woolen mills are situated on Mill street, and consist of the factory proper, a large and commodious building, three stories in height, fully equipped for the manufacture of all grades of woolen goods, blankets, flannels, cachemeres, tweeds, and also lap and buggy robes. Surrounding and attached to the main building is the engine house, from which steam is conducted to the dry house, also so arranged that in case of fire the power can be applied for throwing water upon all surroundings, the dye house, two large warehouses for the storage of wool, and the general office building, the front rooms being used as a packing department, and the rear building stocked with a complete line of samples of the company's goods, which have gained a world-wide reputation for excellence of material and manufacture. The flannels and blankets are worthy of extra notice, having been awarded a gold medal at the World's Fair at New Orleans. There are employed in the various departments over seventy hands, the annual payroll for the operatives amounting to over $24,000. This is irrespective of monies and salaries paid outside of Brownsville. An immense water power is derived from the Calapooia river, across which a dam has been built, turning almost the entire river into a race and conducting the water to the mill, giving an inexhaustible supply. Surrounding and in near proximity to the mill are the dwellings of the operatives, and the observer will be struck with the general air of neatness and comfort pervading this section of the city, most of the houses being well built and surrounded by orchards and gardens, affording a high yield. Large quantities of wool are purchased yearly, giving the surrounding farmers and wool growers a home market and encouraging this industry. Thousands of cords of wood are also purchased to feed the engines, generating heat and steam for the cleansing, bleaching, scouring and dye departments. In conclusion, it may be said that years of energy and mechanical application, in connection with a liberal capital on the part of the management, have brought this industry to a perfected system and financial success.

Under the management of D. Dalgleish at Portland the company have a retail and also a wholesale store, shipments of goods from the mill being made daily to supply these depots. The officers are: J. M. Moyer, president and treasurer; Thos. Kay, Sr., superintendent; O. P. Coshow, Jr., secretary; D. Dalgleish, agent at Portland.

BROWNSVILLE SAW AND PLANING MILLS. The saw and planing mills of Moyer Brothers is situated on Main street, in the southern portion of town, and covers with the building and lumber yards over seven acres of ground. The mill and door factory was originally erected in the year 1865, since which time it has been increased in size and received additions of the latest and most improved wood-working machinery. In 1883 Moyer Brothers purchased from E. Clifka the adjoining saw mill, which was moved from its original site and attached to the planing mill; dry houses were built, and by the addition of a forty-horse-power engine the sawing capacity was increased to 15,000 feet per day. This firm yearly handles over 1,000,000 feet of saws, and manufactures not only rough and dressed lumber of every description, but also doors, sash, mouldings, blinds and all kinds of scroll and turned work; have constantly on hand seasoned flooring, ceiling, casing, door and window frames, and are prepared to fill specified lumber bills at short notice.

WATERS & MORELOCK. The Brownsville flouring mills were built in the year 1861 with a grinding capacity of sixty barrels per day. In 1877 the property was purchased by J. M. Waters and J. B. Morelock, who have since thoroughly remodelled the property, adding the new roller process and increasing the daily grinding capacity to from 75 to 100 barrels. During the past year a new granary has been built with a capacity of 20,000 bushels, which is at the present time filled with this year's wheat. The firm also does a general mercantile business. It manufactures three grades of flour, and has attained a great notoriety for the fineness and general excellence of its flour. The local and export trade is thoroughly established and of considerable extent. Albany prices are paid for grain, and the flour being financially "solid," the vendor has no difficulty in obtaining cash for grain.

BANK OF BROWNSVILLE. The Bank of Brownsville, Peter Hime, cashier, was founded during the past year, and transacts a general banking, collecting and loan business, issues drafts and checks, receives deposits, negotiates paper, and is an institution the need of which has long been felt by the business portion of our community. It is well finished in the interior, having a large fire-proof vault containing a fire and burglar-proof safe. It does a fair business and enjoys the confidence of the general public.

COSHOW & CABLE. In 1884 O. P. Coshow and C. H. Cable formed a partnership under the name of Cable firm, since which time they have done a prosperous business in the general merchandise line. They occupy a building situated on Main street at the west terminus and directly fronting Mill street. The main store building is 70 feet in depth and 20 feet wide, with adjoining ware rooms for the heavier and more rough grade goods. They have also within the last year built a roomy two-story building on the east side of Main street, the upper portion being occupied by Dr. I. W. Starr for office and operating rooms, and the entire lower floor being devoted to the storage of agricultural implements, also hardware, of which this house carries a large and complete line. In the main store there is carried in stock a line of general merchandise, comprising dry goods, staple and fancy groceries, a well assorted stock of boots and shoes, men's and women's furnishing goods, underwear, hosiery, all grades of cotton, linen or silk fabrics, also a full and carefully selected assortment of paints, oils, glass, putty, varnishes, etc. Messrs. Coshow & Cable are both well known to the public as men of strict business integrity, and have during their sojourn in our midst established a first class and commendable reputation.

THOMPSON & WATERS. R. N. Thompson and J. M. Waters are proprietors of the general merchandise store centrally situated on the southwest corner of Mill and Washington streets, which is known as the "old stand," the business having been established in the year 1880, since which time it has been most successfully conducted, both as a financial success to the partners and also to the public who have dealt where reasonable prices are charged and first-class goods are sold on easy and satisfactory terms. The building covers an area of 150 by 40 feet, consisting of two main stories with additional outbuildings for the storage of salted meats, hams, shoulders, lard and the heavier grade of groceries, also paints, oils, crockery and hardware, complete lines of which are carried in full stock. A visit to the store will reveal the fact that the shelves are heavily stocked with a most complete line of dry goods, embracing all qualities from Kentucky jeans to the most expensive silk and satin fabrics, gentlemen's furnishing goods in all grades and at all prices, ladies' cloaks of the latest and most approved fall and winter patterns, hats, caps, boots and shoes for men, women and children in all styles and at all prices, staple and fancy groceries, a stock from which any desired article may be obtained at prices within the means of all, and representing not less than $18,000 in value. Space will not permit a description of this prosperous and extensive concern, and we will only add that from the clerks and members of the firm the customer, for a trivial purchase or a large bill of goods, will receive alike courteous, fair and equal treatment, in accordance with the motto of the house, which is "One price and honorable dealing." Great care has been exercised to secure the best goods, which are bought in the East for cash, thus giving the purchaser the benefit of an indirect cash discount.

ARLINGTON HOTEL. Formerly known as the Wilson hotel, is a large and commodious building situated on the corner of Main and Mill streets, and was erected by Samuel Wilson, for some years deceased, in the year 1875. With exception of a short time the house has been managed by Mrs. Wilson, and has won for itself a reputation second to no other valley hotel. The accommodations are ample, the cuisine department is under the supervision of able culinary managers, the charges are reasonable, and all that can be desired is done for the comfort of the traveling public.

GEORGE C. STANARD. Mr. Starnard is proprietor of the drug store located on Main street, one block north of the City Hall, in which location the business was originally founded by the firm of Starr & Starnard in the year 1883. In the year 1887 Dr. I. W. Starr retired from the business, and since then has been successfully conducted by Mr. Starnard. The store is a very elegant one for a country town, and as regards its furniture and the stock it carries. There is scarcely an article in the line of drugs, chemicals, druggists' fancy goods, toilet articles, which can be wanted but may be obtained at this establishment. A fine line of all standard patent medicines are kept on hand, and prescriptions are carefully compounded at any time of the day or night.

T. S. PILLSBURY. Practical watchmaker and jeweler, is located at the store of G. C. Starnard, at which place he established business in the year 1881, since which time he has successfully carried on the jewelry business, keeping in stock a well assorted line of jewelry, silverware, optical goods and all articles to be found in a well-regulated store of this description. Watches, clocks and jewelry are repaired in a first-class manner, all goods sold are guaranteed to be as represented, and all work is warranted.

J. M. HOWE. The harness and saddlery business in Brownsville has been conducted by Mr. Howe for the past ten years, during which time an enviable reputation has been established by the gentlemanly proprietor for good work, first-class stock and square dealing, which is attested by the success with which the business has been conducted. At this store can be found a complete assortment of harness, saddles, robes, whips, spurs and all articles in this line in demand by farmers, stockmen or owners and drivers of the horse.

G. A. DYSON. The property of G. A. Dyson consists of one-half of the block extending from the county road on the west to Lane street on the east side, and has a frontage of two hundred feet facing Main street, on the central portion of which is located a store well stocked with everything pertaining to the tinware, stove and hardware line. Mr. Dyson has been in business for four years, and has a good reputation as a fine mechanic, and is up in all the most approved styles of plumbing or manufacturing of tinware. Aside from the business success of Mr. Dyson, he has been extensively engaged in mining matters at Wood River, Idaho, having during the past year disposed of stock in that locality at a very gratifying margin. He is one of the original locators of the "Lucky Boy" claim on the Calapooia divide, the prospects of which give evidence of rich deposits of precious metal.

F. F. CROFT. Mr. Croft's general merchandise store is at the corner of Main and Oak streets, occupying the lower floor of the Odd Fellows' Temple. He has in stock an excellent selection of the best goods usually kept in a general store, and they are offered at a very low price, as Mr. Croft is about to retire from the mercantile business and turn his attention to the improvement of extensive farm property situated about one mile north of town. Mr. Croft, who has been actively engaged in the mercantile business for the past eleven years, has made a financial success for himself, and established an A 1 reputation for square dealing with the public.

OWEN OSBURN. Within the past two years Mr. Osburn purchased from J. F. Venner the property consisting of dwelling house, drug store and content stores, which time he has carried on business at the old stand, corner of Mill and Washington streets. The store is neatly fitted up and well supplied with all the necessary fixtures and show cases, and has a complete stock of drugs and medicines, also a fine line of stationery, notions, picture frames and druggists' sundries.

JAY A. BISHOP. The blacksmith shop of Mr. Bishop is situated at the southwest corner of Main and Scott streets, at which place a general jobbing and repair business in iron is carried on. Horse shoeing is made a specialty, the proprietor having worked in the best known establishments of Portland and acquired great proficiency in this department. Particular attention is given to all repairs on wagons, hacks, buggies and agricultural machinery, plow shares shaped and tempered, wagon tires set, and all work in the blacksmithing line done at reasonable rates and satisfaction guaranteed.

PERCIVAL & RIGGS. The Brownsville livery and feed stable is under the management of S. Percival and J. Riggs, who have a stable well stocked and equipped with buggies, hacks or buckboards for road use. They also carry "traveling men" to any desired point, do a general drayage business, and run a daily hack to and from Halsey, connecting with the incoming and outgoing trains on the O. & C. R. R. Particular attention is paid to regular or transient stock boarded by the day or week.

S. P. BARGER. At the store of Mr. Barger can be found a full and complete line of furniture, consisting of bed room, parlor, kitchen and dining room sets, varying in price from the more substantial to the finer finished and marble-topped sets; also brass and iron bedsteads, most numerous articles that constitute a complete stock of furniture and wood furnishing goods. Mr. Barger keeps constantly on hand sewing machines, oils and attachments, needles, etc., of the best and most celebrated makes, and all goods are sold on liberal terms at prices to suit the times.

M. RAE & CO. Findley McRae and J. Sawyer are the proprietors of the Brownsville meat market, and represent the only business in this line in town. Their stand is at all times supplied with the choicest variety of fresh, salt or smoked meats. Fish and game are also kept in season, and the epicure can at this establishment obtain the finest and most juicy cuts for steak or roast. The well-known reputation of the proprietors is a sufficient guarantee for the excellence of all stock handled; the motto under which they do business is "good weight, fair prices, courtesy and accommodation to all."

A. C. HAUSMAN. Wagon-maker and repairer, is located on Main street one door south of the blacksmith shop of A. J. Bishop. Mr. Hausman is the pioneer wagon-maker of the town, having established business in the year 1864, since which time he has successfully gained a well-known reputation for good work and moderate prices. All wood material for the manufacture and repairing of wagons, buggies or farm machinery is kept in stock, including hickory, oak and ash of Eastern growth.

J. A. WINTER. Photographic artist, is located on Main street, one door south of Coshow & Cable's agricultural depot. Every kind of photograph work is executed here, including cards, cabinets, panels, stereoscopic or out-door views. Mr. Winter is an artist ranking second to none; he is an affable gentleman, and enjoys a well-earned reputation for promptness and general satisfaction given to his patrons. On exhibition in his gallery are some beautiful and finely-executed "photos," remarkable for their clear, sharp outlines, softened to life-like beauty by a lately-discovered process of retouching. All work is entrusted to Mr. Winter will be executed in the best manner and at reasonable prices.

R. H. CURT. Dr. R. H. Curt has erected on Mill street a two-story building, upon which he has not spared expense, the upper rooms being handsomely furnished and occupied by the doctor for the practice of dentistry, in which Dr. Curt is proficient, having at his command all the latest and most improved mechanical instruments for the cleaning, filling and extracting of teeth, also for the manufacture of rubber, celluloid, silver or gold plates, full or partial sets of false teeth, and has made a success of his business. Hyponitrous oxide (laughing gas) is administered by the doctor while extracting teeth.

I. W. STARR, M. D. Who is a graduate of the medical department of the Willamette University and ranks high in his profession as a regular physician and surgeon, has been for the past ten years actively employed in his professional practice in Brownsville and vicinity.

C. E. STANARD. The "Postoffice store," so named from the fact that the Brownsville postoffice is in charge of the proprietor, who has filled the position with credit to himself and the satisfaction of the general public, is situated on Main street, directly opposite and facing Mill street. He carries in stock one of the finest and best assortments of staple and fancy family groceries, including home and foreign productions in canned or preserved fruits and delicacies; only the best brands of cigars and tobacco are handled; the lover of the "weed" can here obtain genuine Havana cigars of the most popular brands; also stationery, books by the best authors, school books, notions, sundries and a miscellaneous assortment of staple and fancy goods, of the best quality, at reasonable prices.

C. E. ROCKWELL. In 1870 Mr. Rockwell opened a store in Brownsville, since which time he has carried on the business of cabinet and furniture manufacturing. At the present time he is located at the south end of Main street near the Calapooia bridge, where he occupies a building which he has lately built and furnished with all necessary machinery for wood-working purposes, deriving ample water power from the "mead," which runs beneath the factory. A short distance south is situated his residence, attached to which is a sun room, where can be seen elegant and substantial furniture, made from native Oregon wood—chairs, side boards, woven-wire mattresses, and a choice collection of house-furnishing goods.

G. C. THOMPSON. Occupying the entire upper story of the Hume building, centrally located on Mill street, are the rooms occupied by Mr. Thompson as a carriage and sign painting shop, where fancy and ornamental painting is executed. Mr. Thompson also does house painting in all its branches, has on hand a large and varied stock of medium and high-priced wall paper for ordinary work, also the finest grades of paper for ornamental and overhead ceiling treatment. Having been many years in this line of business, Mr. Thompson is thoroughly proficient in the execution of all contracts that he may undertake.

MRS. R. H. CURT. During the past years the millinery store of Mrs. Curt has grown steadily in favor with the Brownsville ladies. Being centrally located on Mill street, it is easy of access and enjoys for itself the reputation of keeping the latest and most fashionable styles in ladies' head-wear. The stock of hats, plumes, ribbons, and also ladies' and children's under-wear, is well selected with a view to comfort and economy. Mrs. Curt keeps pace with the improvements of each year, buys from the leading manufacturers, and handles only first-class goods.

JOHN STENGER. Is successfully carrying on the "Bakery and Lunch Rooms," and doing a lively business in bread, cake, pies, etc., in the manufacture of which he excels, being a practical workman and thoroughly versed in the mysteries of frosted cakes, confectionery and "sweet meats." In connection with the bakery Mr. Stenger carries a fine assortment of confectionery, nuts, fruits, canned goods, chewing gum, soda water, and can accommodate the hungry or thirsty public with a fine lunch at all hours.

O. B. REESE, M. D. Late of Yamhill county, Or., formerly of Jefferson county, Tenn., practices in connection with I. W. Starr, M. D., at whose office he can be found.

R. M. MOXLEY. Confectionery, fruits, canned goods, cigars, tobacco, toys and notions are kept in stock by Mr. Moxley, who also makes a specialty of green fruits, vegetables and Oregon and California productions, in season. Mr. Moxley, who was so unfortunate as to be struck by a falling timber, is suffering from partial paralysis of the right arm, and was obliged to give up the more laborious work of farming and turn his attention to a lighter employment.

TATE & IRWIN. Misses Tate and Irwin have lately opened, adjoining the Brownsville Bank, dressmaking rooms, which have been furnished for the comfort and convenience of ladies desiring clothing fitted or cut or made in the latest and most approved styles of the present day. All suits for ladies or children are cut and made from exact measure, insuring a perfect and graceful fit, and overcoming all deficiencies of form. Prices are reasonable and good and satisfactory work is done.

ROBT. PUTMAN. The tonsorial rooms of Mr. Putman are located one door south of the store of Coshow & Cable, and are neatly furnished and well patronized by those desiring a comfortable shave or a neat and "nobby" hair cut. By his accommodating manner and good work, Mr. Putman is building up a first-class business and securing his share of the public patronage. All those desiring satisfactory work in this line should give "Bob" a call. Dyeing the hair or beard a specialty, and satisfaction guaranteed.

R. A. SANDERS. The Royal saloon, under the management of Mr. Sanders, is fitted up with an unusual display of good taste, and keeps for its patrons only the best and purest brands of imported and domestic liquors; the bar is supplied with approved brands of cigars, and beer from well-known and celebrated breweries. All arrangements are made for those who desire a quiet game of billiards; the business is conducted in an orderly manner, and no minors are allowed about the premises.

MINOR JACKSON. Has built and occupies a very substantial building on Mill street, where for many years he has carried on the business of barber, and enjoys a liberal amount of public patronage. The shop is well supplied with fixtures pertaining to the craft, is large and roomy, and offers all accommodations to those desiring the services of "Minor." The rear portion of the building is occupied as a dwelling by the proprietor and his family, who are very comfortably situated.

CHARLEY YUM YUM. An almond-eyed Celestial representative of the flowery kingdom of China, occupies a slightly-dilapidated and weather-worn building situated on the suburban side of town, where he does "washie" for "Melian man" at "$1.50 per dozen." Charley is well up in the manipulations of soiled linen, and puts a polish on shirt or collar that outshines any celluloid production in the market.

C. B. OSBURN, M. D. Dr. Osburn, formerly of Eugene City, who has been practicing in Brownsville for the past two years, is a graduate of Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia.

BROWNSVILLE TANNERY. The Brownsville tannery, under the management of Adams & Co., has become one of the solid institutions of the town. They manufacture a large quantity of good leather for harness making and other purposes, furnishing a home market for hides and pelts. This is an industry that should be encouraged.

JOHN SENGER. Occupies the lower or street floor of Julius Ziner's building, where he follows the occupation of boot and shoemaker, manufacturing to order all styles of men's, women's and children's shoes, and keeps in stock boots, shoes and all the general findings attached to this business. Mr. Senger gives general satisfaction in his repair department, and has the reputation of turning out honest and reliable goods.

South Brownsville. COOLEY & WASHBURN. Carry a heavy stock of general merchandise, and are the only general merchants in South Brownsville. They commenced business in October, 1887, and have since continued uninterrupted to enjoy the confidence and trade of a large community. The estimation in which the firm is held may be judged by the common expression, "As honest as George Cooley." Mr. Cooley has been in business where he now is for thirty-four years. The present firm is competent and willing to accommodate all their customers on the best of terms. "Honesty and fair dealing is their motto."

R. H. CRAWFORD, M. D. Is one of the oldest and perhaps best known physicians in Linn county. For nearly forty years he has enjoyed the uninterrupted confidence and patronage of numerous friends. He is a Christian gentleman of the very highest type, "full of years and honor" in the evening of life with no blot on his name.

J. F. HENRY, M. D. Is a regular practicing physician who enjoys the confidence of a large circle of friends and patrons. He attends to all calls promptly, day or night.

N. R. STANDISH. Blacksmith and horseshoer, has erected a very large and commodious building, in the lower portion of which a general blacksmithing business is carried on. All descriptions of repairing is done in a first-class manner. Repairing and duplicating parts of agricultural machinery a specialty. The upper portion of the building is fitted up as a public hall and used for roller skating, dances, etc.

B. C. WINDHAM. Wagon and carriage shop, is prepared to do all wood work and repairing on wagons, buggies, or farm implements. Mr. Windham keeps on hand a full stock of native and imported wood material, hubs, felloes and spokes; also makes to order buggies, road carts, wagons, etc.

Notice. Having sold a half interest in my grocery business to Mr. Geo. Bull, I desire to square up my books, and ask all those indebted to me to come forward and settle as soon as possible, as I want to square up my books.

T. C. PEEBLER. Fruit Trees. Call on A. R. Cyrus & Co., agents for J. H. Settemier's nursery, for all kinds of fruit and ornamental trees.
