

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

M. G. W. Rice, Fine Milliner. J.A. Beard has the best selection of books.

A nice photograph album go to J. Beard. The new M. E. church will be dedicated Dec. 30.

A fine display of Christmas cards at Miller's drug store. Mr. Morrow made a business trip to Salem last Friday.

Work has been entirely suspended in the Santiam mines. M. A. Miller will sell you holiday goods at your own price.

Drawford dancing class every Wednesday eve at Union hall. Travel still continues over the mountains, there now being no snow.

Sardines in mustard at W. B. Donnan & Co.'s, only 15 cents per box. Braden and Underwood have continued their big debate at Eugene.

Books for boys and girls at the City drug store. M. A. MILLER, Prop. Carnool roast coffee at W. B. Donnan & Co.'s. Something good. Try it.

Go to W. B. Donnan & Co.'s and try some of their prepared mince meat, 11 per bucket. The subject of Rev. G. W. Giboney's discourse next Sabbath morning will be, "Religion in the Home."

Mrs. Jas. Davidson, Miss Montague and Mr. Chas. Montague paid a visit to Albany on Wednesday. Mr. J. E. Farmer, of Wolf Creek, was visiting in town this week. He was a guest of Dr. Courtney.

A. Stinif, the notorious real estate agent, honored (?) our town with his presence a few days this week. Mr. W. O. Trine left last Wednesday morning for California, where he will remain the greater part of the winter.

Don't move in with your wife's people for the winter, but buy yourself a new stove. They are down to bed-rock at Swan Bros. Dr. C. N. Boatman, specialist of the Van Moniescar Dispensary, will be at the St. Charles hotel in Lebanon, Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 8-9.

Rev. Joel Sherfy leaves this morning for the Southern States. He will visit relatives in Louisiana and Florida, and will make his home in Tennessee. A cow belonging to Rev. J. R. Kirkpatrick died on Tuesday, and one belonging to W. C. Peterson died on Wednesday. They were both foundered.

The Supreme Court has decided that the claim of the Methodist Church South to the agricultural college is not to be put aside as the lower court affirmed. Remember that I. R. Borum, the barber, will pay close attention to men, women and children; and don't forget that he knows how to sharpen a razor.

For novelties in dressing cases, albums, picture frames and toys, optical goods, etc., for the holidays, call on Owen Osburn, druggist, Brownsville, Oregon. W. H. Watkins came up again last Wednesday, and went immediately to the coal mine to commence work. We wish the company success in this undertaking.

Mr. M. B. Ballard, president of the Seattle Hardware Company, visited relatives in Lebanon last Tuesday. He was on his way home from a visit to San Francisco. Mr. Alvin Foley, of Pineville, Mo., arrived here last Tuesday. He is a brother of Dr. Foley, of this place, and they had not seen each other for over thirty years.

Mr. C. Cochran, of Brownsville, was in town on Wednesday after Rev. J. R. Kirkpatrick to preach the funeral of Mrs. Hunter, who died at that place Tuesday at 10 P. M. At the Dalles they have a well-decided company of young ladies called the Zouaves. They wear pretty uniforms and execute military maneuvers with charming precision.

Mr. Hart's little son was running on the sidewalk yesterday, and was turning a corner, when he slipped and fell and broke his arm. Dr. Foley set the arm and says it will be all right. "The maid expects Her lean to-night, And fills the stove With anthracite, Because the air Is raw and damp, But quite forgets To fill the lamp."

Rev. Walton Skipworth preached the funeral of James Ridgway at the C. P. church last Sunday, to a large congregation. No service was held at the First Presbyterian and M. E. churches. Large quantities of potatoes are being shipped from the valley to San Francisco. The price here is 20 to 25 cents, there 90 to 75 cents; but it takes about 40 cents to get them there; there's the rub.

The sociable at the residence of Mr. C. B. Montague last evening was a very pleasant affair. The programme was splendid, and all who took part acquitted themselves in a creditable manner. The receipts were $13. The election at Seio Monday was very exciting. Issue, high or low license. Hon. Wm. Cyrus, high license, was elected mayor over Al Johnson by 1. E. Goin and H. Shelton, low license, were elected councilmen, and Jack Bilyeu, low license, marshal.

Don't fail to attend the auction sale in Albany. M. J. Montell is auctioneer every afternoon in the store-room formerly occupied by S. E. Young. Everything will be sold to the highest bidder. Don't miss this chance to get dry goods, etc., at your own price. Capt. N. B. Humphrey, of Albany, the old Republican war horse, is prominently spoken of for the appointment to the position of U. S. Marshal. Capt. Humphrey has many friends throughout Oregon who would be pleased to see him secure the appointment.

OBITUARY.

James Ridgway was born January 16, 1812, in Lincoln county, Kentucky; died at his home near Lebanon, Oregon, Nov. 30, 1888. When a youth of 17 years Mr. Ridgway removed from Kentucky to Illinois, where at the age of 20 he made a profession of the religion of Christ and united with the Methodist Episcopal church, in which church he lived a faithful member until his death. He came to Oregon in 1832 and resided here his remaining days. During the thirty-six years of his residence in the State he had but one home—his donation claim about one mile east of this town. So then he was truly a citizen of Linn county, and was one of her good and honorable citizens. Though very plain and unpretentious, he was a man of sterling integrity, and interested himself in the development and advancement of his community and surrounding country. He loved "whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure—whatsoever things are of good report," and did what he could to build up that which would benefit and bless humanity around him. He was one of the founders of Santiam Academy, located here in his neighborhood. He hauled nearly, if not quite all, the lumber which composes the building, and he was one of the school's long and honored trustees. In his death a good and useful citizen is taken from our midst, but there are works of his and an influence which survive and remain with us. These are such that none need be ashamed. An aged wife, five children and many friends mourn the loss they sustain in his departure.

WALTON SKIPWORTH.

Eclipse of the Sun. A special feature in the celebration of the New Year's day approaching will be an eclipse of the sun, gotten up especially for the occasion. The eclipse will be total over a strip 120 miles wide, running through California, Dakota and Montana, nearly to Hudson Bay. California comes in for the lion's share, as usual, as the shadow comes ashore about the location of the Lick observatory, where very elaborate preparations have been made for observing the eclipse. Harvard University will send a party out to California to observe the eclipse, and savants from Eastern institutions will also visit this coast for the same purpose. The eclipse will be only partial in Oregon, beginning at Portland at 12:00 and ending at 12:51 P. M. It will hardly be worth while to prepare any smoked glass through which to view it, as such preparations are likely to be rendered futile by clouds, mist or rain.

Grangers to the Front.

We are glad to note the elegant Grange hall on Sand ridge. When finished it will be a credit to the order, and we hope the Patrons of Husbandry, in that community will not stop until the building is finished. Merchants have their boards of trade (and this is all right, for they need them); mechanics and tradesmen have their various unions, and it is nothing but right that farmers should have their granges, their halls and places of meeting. We bid them God-speed in all their laudable and honest efforts to elevate their profession, and to protect themselves against the greed and oppression of monopolists.

The Planting Mill.

We are informed that Klepper & Amble have purchased the machinery of Mr. Adams, and will go on with the business as at first arranged. They have the frame of the building up, and are progressing finely. This is a much-needed improvement, and we commend the firm for their enterprise. Let others come; there is room for all. Manufacturing is the life of any town, and all legitimate enterprises should be encouraged.

Incorporated.

Articles have been filed in the office of the Secretary of State by the following: The Brownsville Woolen Manufacturing company; incorporators, J. M. Meyer, J. P. Galbraith, F. F. Croft. Capital stock, $25,000, divided into fifty shares of 500 each. Object, manufacture of woolen goods at the factory formerly owned by the Brownsville Woolen Mills Company at North Brownsville, Linn county, Oregon.

An ex-change tells of a young lady who met with a most curious accident. She fell into a wash tub and was nearly drowned in her hurry to get out. Some enterprising young girls will never learn that a tub full of water, soft soap and other dangerous bric-a-brac can only be safely approached by a mother to whom years have brought discretion and experience. Now a piano or organ never rears up in that way and sends a giddy young girl to a foreign shore, with her bangs dripping with soap suds and her sea-shell ears full of wooden socks and safety pins.

The mite sociable given at Santiam Academy last Friday evening was well attended, and enjoyed by all present. A very interesting and entertaining programme was rendered, consisting of recitations and vocal and instrumental music, after which the ladies served an excellent lunch. We have not learned how much the proceeds were, but understand the ladies were well pleased with the returns.

Why is a newspaper like a pretty girl? To be perfect it must be the embodiment of many types; its form is made up; it is chased, though giddy; it enjoys a good press, the more rapid the better; it has a weakness for gossip; takes a good deal; can stand praise, and is awful proud of a new dress. It cannot be kept in a good humor without cash. See?—Exchange.

At a meeting of the board of trustees of Santiam Academy, held last Wednesday evening, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, C. H. Ralston; vice president, D. Andrews; secretary, A. E. Cyrus; treasurer, G. H. Bland; directors, J. G. Eaton, Jos. Elkins and W. E. Yates.

The free suspension bridge at Oregon City was thrown open to the public last Tuesday.

CAPTAIN WM. VAUGHAN.

Capt. Wm. Vaughan crossed over the river on the 18th of last month. At the time of his death he was living some eighteen miles southeast of Brownsville. We learn the following facts in the history of this remarkable and useful man from Mrs. Luther White. He was born Oct. 16, 1807, in Virginia, and about the year 1840 moved to Missouri. In 1845 he came to this valley prospecting for a home, went back to Missouri the next year, and in 1849 raised a large colony and crossed the plains with ox teams, having in all about seventy wagons. He settled on the Calapooia east of Brownsville, where he raised a family of twelve children, all of whom married and settled in Oregon. Capt. Vaughan brought the first sheep that were ever brought to this valley, and was the first man to engage in that industry in all this valley.

He was "honest to the core," and was noted for his great probity of character, and his hand was ever open to help the poor and needy. Hundreds of immigrants remember his many acts of kindness to the settler. It is impossible to calculate the benefit of such a life and character of such a man to this country. He deserves a monument "more lasting than marble and more durable than brass."

ACADEMY NOTES.

One of our students, Miss Lizzie McKinney, was married Wednesday, Nov. 28th.

Mr. W. O. Trine, a former student of Santiam Academy, has gone to Sacramento, Cal., to spend the winter.

The Professor thinks there are too many sociables for the students, although he thinks a great deal of sociability.

The question for debate at the literary society next Monday evening is, "Resolved, that prohibition will succeed by having a distinct platform instead of uniting with other parties."

Miss Edwards has been sick two days the past week, and Miss Lizzie Reed has taken her place in the primary department. We are glad to see Miss Edwards back again; also are glad to have Miss Reed back in her own room.

Fatherless.

No institution in Oregon has quite as much fun poked at it as the narrow gauge railroad. The following is from an Astoria paper: "They've got a little fatherless and motherless concern up the country called a railroad. It is a narrow gauge, and trips that they undertake are attended with misfortune; when the cars don't upset or jump the track they get through with about as much certainty and promptness as does the mail to this city, brought down on the 'Black Mariah.'"

HOW DOCTORS CONQUER DEATH.

Doctor Walter K. Hammond says: "After a long experience I have come to the conclusion that two-thirds of all deaths from coughs, pneumonia and consumption, might be avoided if Dr. Acker's English Remedy for Consumption were only as fully used in time." This wonderful Remedy is sold under a positive guarantee by Beard & Yates.

Card of Thanks.

We desire to return our heartfelt thanks to our friends for their many acts of kindness and sympathy tendered us during the recent illness and death of our husband and father. May they in their hour of trouble and sorrow be surrounded by as kind and true friends as have been vouchsafed to us.

MRS. D. P. RIDGWAY AND CHILDREN.

DO NOT SUFFER ANY LONGER.

Knowing that a cough can be checked in a day, and the first stages of consumption broken in a week, we hereby guarantee Dr. Acker's English Remedy for Consumption, and will refund the money to all who buy, take it as per directions, and do not find our statement correct. BEARD & YATES.

Notice.

The W. R. C. will meet at their hall Wednesday, Dec. 12, at 3 o'clock sharp. A full attendance is desired. Important business. By order of the President. Mrs. M. M. CYRUS, Sec.

The immense sale of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been produced, to a great extent, by people who have been cured by it telling their friends and neighbors of its good qualities and urging them to try it. The most severe cold will soon yield to its soothing effects. For sale by M. A. Miller.

A SAD STORY.

The child coughed. The mother ran. No remedy was near. Before morning the poor little sufferer was dead. Moral: Always keep Dr. Acker's English Remedy at hand. Sold by Beard & Yates.

Chamberlain's Eye and Skin Ointment is unequalled for old chronic sores. Many cases have been permanently cured by it. For sale by M. A. Miller.

WHY IS IT

—THAT—

THIRD.

Because he buys and ships more Dried Fruit, Chickens, Turkeys, Geese, Ducks, Dry and Green Hides, Sheep Pelts, Deer Skins, Furs, Lard and Butter than any other merchant on this coast.
