HOME AND FARM.

Top-Dressing Wheat in Spring—Millet and Hungarian Grass—Dairy Interests—Early Lambs—Bee Culture—Farm Notes.

There is a time when it is safe to prune most varieties of deciduous fruit trees, and that time is when the wood is ripe and while the tree is in a dormant condition.

In removing crops from the soil we take away plant food. This is the chief cause of soil exhaustion. Lack of fertility is commonly due in a large part or entirely to lack of plant food.

Cotton-seed meal will not do for hog feed, as the lint balls in the stomach, and cannot be voided. This objection to cotton-seed meal is not applicable to domestic animals other than the hog.

Bread for Soup: Cut slices of stale bread into small squares, throw in boiling lard and fry till brown. Skim out, drain, and put in soup tureen before serving the soup. For oyster soup, crackers crisped in the oven are nice.

If the space between rows of grapevines is occupied by strawberry plants, currant bushes or weeds, do not wonder that the grapes do not ripen early. The sun's rays must reach the earth and keep it warm if early ripening is desired.

If beets or carrots are not up it may be that the ground was too cold when the seed was put in. It is better to replant than to lose the crop. They should be grown as stock food, and as a large yield can be secured they will pay well.

Old ewes may be sold if the lambs are weaned. Only strong, vigorous ewes should be retained. Select those that yielded plenty of milk for the lambs for breeding purposes, and sell off the rams in order to infuse new blood in the flock.

If you dissolve bones by boiling them in a strong potash lye and then use dry earth or leneed ashes as an absorbent, you get a fertilizer or compost, rich in both phosphoric acid and potash. It will contain also most of the nitrogen which was in the bones.

The liquid manure is more valuable than the solids, and a liberal use of absorbent material will aid in arresting its loss. It should be saved carefully, and a drain at the rear of the stalls should conduct it to some kind of a receptacle from which it may be pumped over the manure heap.

The early lambs are now in demand. Feed those that are not up to weight well and push them into market as soon as possible. A daily ration of two parts ground oats, one part corn meal, and a small proportion of linseed meal will be excellent for them. They should have a good pasture.

There is as much art in the work of improving the drones of a hive as to endeavor to secure better queens. Some swarms of bees are too inbred to endure hard winters. In the natural condition bees are hardy, but when their care is in the hands of the bee-keeper his judgment is important, and he can do much to add vigor to the swarms.

Chocolate Meringue Pudding: Boil one pint of rich milk, and a half teaspoonful of butter, one teaspoonful of sugar and three ounces of grated chocolate; let it boil and when cool add the whites of four eggs; pour this in a pudding dish lined with slices of sponge cake and bake; cover with meringue and let it brown. Eat with lemon sauce.

The dairy interests of the United States represent more than $3,000,000,000. The number of milk cows is estimated at 24,000,000, which give an aggregate milk production of 7,350,000,000 gallons. Four billion gallons are used for butter; 700,000,000 for cheese and the balance for various purposes. The annual production of butter 1,350,000,000 pounds, and 6,500,000 pounds of cheese. This immense dairy herd requires 100,000,000 acres of pasture land to support it.

Top-Dressing Wheat in Spring: It is sometimes a good plan to top-dress winter wheat in the spring. It is better still doubtless to do the work in the fall, but manure is not then to be had, and if the wheat is all there after its winter's exposure it will pay to give it a further lift. Choose a time when the ground is either frozen or has thoroughly dried so it will not poach. Then draw the manure in a wagon provided with wide tires. If the surface is dry the wheels will not sink in to hurt. The manure will greatly help the clover as well as the wheat. We have known farmers to find a profit in drilling in 150 pounds of superphosphate on the wheat in spring. The drill was driven so that its teeth cut the ridges between the rows made in drilling the seed the previous fall. In this case probably breaking the surface of the soil did nearly as much good as the fertilizer, as is proven by the benefit often received from dragging wheat fields in the spring.

If sheep are folded, and given attention, a crop of millet or Hungarian grass will be invaluable to them. Mr. Stewart, the well known authority on sheep, states that when the crop is eight inches high sheep may be allowed to eat off four or five inches. Hurdles should be used, and moved daily in order to avoid having the sheep eat too close to the roots. In this way it will grow anew, and cover the ground more completely than before. It is estimated that a good crop will produce about ten tons of green fodder per acre, and pasture fifty sheep from one to two months. It is advisable, for sheep pasture, to use Hungarian grass, and to hurdle the sheep in blocks of about twenty-five. Cows and horses are also fond of green food, and as the final cutting may be made late, a succession is had during the entire summer. It is not advisable to grow these crops where clover and other grasses are more suitable, but the advantage they possess is that of being sown late and growing rapidly, making their crops in a single season and during the warmest period of the summer as they delight in warmth and endure drought well.

PORTLAND MARKET.

PROSPECTS NOT SO ASSURING AS A MONTH AGO.

Provisions Firm—Fruits of all kind are Plentiful and Very Cheap—Very Little Doing in Dried Fruit—Fresh Meats Higher.

It is currently reported that in several sections east of the Cascades the excessive heat has severely injured the crops, and that prospects of another bountiful harvest are not so reassuring as a month ago. The Columbia river salmon pack down to June 1 is given at 22,000 cases less than last year; the run of salmon on the Sacramento has also been short, so that Alaska cannerymen stand a good chance of making handsome profits. In the local merchandise markets business generally continues satisfactory, although in the midst of the usual summer lull. All kinds of fresh fruit are now to be found in the market at cheap prices. Eastern meats have a stiffer tendency, and provisions are firm. The local wheat market is very dull and inactive.
